It Took Two Weeks To Make Bomb

DENVER (P) — The confession of John Gilbert Graham revealed today he spent two weeks making the dynamite bomb that exploded in his mother's suitcase Nov. 1, killing her and 43 other persons aboard a United Air Lines plane.

Graham planted the bomb to collect $37,500 on an insurance policy which he had taken out in his mother's name. The policy was worthless because she had not countersigned it according to law.

Graham said he collected 25 sticks of dynamite, rigged them with a battery and placed them in his mother's suitcase shortly before she boarded the plane to visit her daughter Mrs. Helen Hablutzel in Anchorage, Alaska.

When news of the airliner crash broke Graham went home to his wife and children put his face in his hands and cried his neighbors said.

The FBI declined to reveal the details of how Graham got the dynamite bomb into his mother's luggage.

The Rocky Mountain News said Graham tied 25 sticks of dynamite together, removed some of his mother's things from a suitcase and replaced them with the explosive.

EXPLOSION TIME SET
The Scrips - Howard newspaper said Graham set the bomb to explode in 90 minutes bound his mother's suitcases with straps and carried it to Stapleton Air Field for his mother.

After my mother had finished checking her luggage my wife and I went with her to the passengers' gate where we told my mother goodbye and watched her board the plane with other passengers," Graham said, according to the News.

Graham said he took his wife to the airport coffee shop and as THINGAMAJIGS Somebody in the family of Mike Rose, Jr. must have money—and plenty of the long green stuff, too.

In addition to three high-priced defense lawyers, they have also hired the services of Dr. Leslie Hohman of Duke University, the world-famed psychiatrist.

He is probably the top psychiatrist in the world, holds more than a dozen degrees from big universities scattered around the globe.

Dr. Hohman has made a great contribution to the world in the field of child psychiatry. By coincidence he testified at a court trial in Harnett several years ago (the Tom Wood case) in his first appearance in the courtroom.

He said at that time he had never testified at a trial before. In the Tom Wood trial, Dr. Hohman found that the young man who plunged a knife into his wife's body 46 times was suffering from dementia praecox.

On Sunday, the celebrated psychiatrist visited the Harnett jail and examined Rose. His findings have not yet been disclosed.

we were leaving I heard the cashier say, "that there had been a wreck of an airplane."

Later on that evening after my wife and I had returned to our home, we heard over the radio, that all the passengers had been killed."

Graham, charged technically with a federal offense of sabotaging an airliner an airliner was held under heavy guard in Denver's county jail. His bail was set at $100,000.

U. S. Attorney Donald E. Kelley said the sabotage charge was hardly worth while.

STATE MURDER CHARGES
He asked the Justice Department for an opinion on whether Graham should be turned over to the state to face murder charges.

The maximum penalty for sabotage is 10 years. If he is charged and convicted of murder he could receive the death penalty under state laws.

Poet's Widow Defends Sex Life Of Hubby

CARMARTHEN, Wales (P) — Poet Dylas Thomas' widow said today she wouldn't deny that her husband had a riotous sex life in the United States, but it was unkind of an old friend to say so in a biography.

Mrs. Caitlin Thomas, Irish-born widow of the tousle-haired Welshman whose poems soared in popularity after his death in New York three years ago, said she had read fellow-poet John M. Brinnin's life of Thomas.

"I have not tried to suppress the book," she said. "I can't deny that it is probably all true. But whether it is true or not, it is inconsiderate to say so."

Brinnin, an American, was a long time friend of the Thomases and frequently stayed at their cottage here.

In his book to be published in the United States shortly, Brinnin said Thomas had three American mistresses and that girls in colleges where he was lecturing had to be warned to resist his advances.

Mrs. Thomas, who said she is writing her own book entitled "Life with Dylas" still lives in the little cottage where Brinnin was a frequent guest.

"Brinnin and Dylas were so friendly I cannot see what he hopes to achieve by these sensational stories," she said. "Brinnin seemed far too sensitive and charming a man to write about his old friend for money."

closed. State Hospital doctors said they found Rose mentally competent.

Dr. Hohman, who is in great demand and flies from one place to another each week, no doubt does a lot of free charity work.

According to reports, his usual fee is $500 per day, plus expenses. He picks his own cases, too.

Without a doubt he's one of the brainiest men we ever heard in the courtroom. Lawyers are practically helpless against him, find it almost impossible to trip him up.

Note to the ladies: A complete fashion collection from the salons of internationally-known designers will be shown Dec. 7 in the new David Owens Auditorium in Charlotte.

This is the very first time a collection of originals by name designers has invaded the South.

The showing contains more than 60 originals from the salons of Jean Desses, Patou, Hubert de Givenchy, Simonetta, Fath, Pierre Balmain, Dior, etc.

Title of the fashion extravaganza, appropriately enough, is "Symphony of Fashions" and proceeds will go to the Charlotte Symphony Orchestra.

Harnett's Baptist ministers are getting a lot of State-wide publicity for inaugurating the movement to secure enough petitioners to force a State-wide election on the liquor, wine and beer issue.
