Mamie Wrapping Yule Presents

WASHINGTON (P) — Mrs. Eisenhower spent a busy morning in the White House today wrapping Christmas presents.

The first lady motored down from Gettysburg, Pa. yesterday afternoon to get in some Christmas shopping while her husband was away at Camp David attending meetings of the National Security Council and the Cabinet.

Her unannounced visit caught Washington by surprise and allowed Mrs. Eisenhower to do her shopping at one of the town's largest department stores without attracting the usual crowd.

Today she planned to stay inside the White House, wrapping gifts and attending to other Christmas preparations until she drives back to the Gettysburg farm sometime this afternoon.

It was the first time Mrs. Eisenhower had left her husband's side since he was stricken with a heart

It's Adlai Against The Field

WASHINGTON (P) — It's Adlai E. Stevenson against the field now in a long, hard race.

The several Democrats who also aspire to the presidential nomination next year must either fold or stop him. The man whom President Eisenhower licked in 1952 by a score of 442 electoral votes to 89 is the acknowledged front runner among Democrats at this moment. But at this moment Stevenson is the only entry in the field.

Eight full months of political maneuvering lie ahead before the month of the major party nominating conventions. There are politicians who will concede readily that Stevenson has a long lead today but who predict trouble in the months to come if the other hopefuls join to stop him.

Stevenson's announcement in Chicago Tuesday that he would seek next year's Democratic presidential nomination long had been foreseen. Chief interest centered on the public reaction of key party figures to his open candidacy.

LEADERS DECLINE COMMENT

There was a remarkable lot of them who heard the news with friendly interest but without committing themselves to Stevenson's nomination. Former President Truman had no comment.

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, a dark horse, himself, jockeyed by Tammy boss Carmine DeSapio, said nothing which would prevent an all-out convention fight for his own nomination.

Tennessee's Sen. Estes Kefauver observed that Stevenson's "I-will" opened to him the opportunity to contest a lot of presidential primaries. Kefauver's own presidential announcement is expected in December.

Stevenson said nothing of primaries Tuesday. But Chicago writers report he will enter at least four—Pennsylvania, Minnesota, California and Florida. That excludes New Hampshire where Kefauver earned his giant-killer reputation in 1952 defeating Mr. Truman in a presidential preference vote. Kefauver is sure next year to go back to New Hampshire which holds the first of score of primaries. The date is March 13.

Big Delegate State
Kefauver split Pennsylvania with Stevenson in 1952 and divided Florida with Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia. He scared all real opposition out of California and won the big delegate state.

The Minnesota Democratic organization is now solidly pledged to Stevenson. But Kefauver will right decide to make it a contest in California on June 5. His primary achievements made Kefauver top man in the first two ballots of the 1952 convention which finally switched to Stevenson on the third.

Stevenson's over-all strategy is as evident as is his greatest problem. The strategy is to build up a quick, fire-ball pre-convention campaign calculated to bluff all other out of the contest.

His greatest problem is that of all who reach the top of a greased pole—which is, to stay there.

City Manager Gets Rejoinder

City Manager A. B. Uzzie has received from Ithaca, N. Y., a rather gloomy rejoinder to a letter he published in a municipal magazine citing Dunn's cemetery expenses.

Uzzie had written that the income from the two cemeteries here is around $2500 annually while the outgo was $11,000. What could Dunn do—and what were other towns doing—Uzzie queried, about such a situation.

Ithaca's answer, percentage-wise, they're much worse off than Dunn.

Outgo on the cemeteries, stated a letter from Public Utilities Superintendent F. J. Lwenty, was $9,270. Income: $288. Also — "Our cemetery is practically filled and we have little hope of breaking even."

Uzzie is hoping more letters will come in, giving a clue to what Dunn might do about its problem. attack in Denver three months ago.

EYE FOOLER—This maturing "woman" is Judi Jordan, who is only 15. She's landed a movie contract at MGM, and is most widely known as the gal who introduced comedian Jackie Gleason on his TV show with the words, "Starring Jackie Gleason." Judi, who resembles Oscar-winning Grace Kelly, looks and acts more like 25 than 15.

You Can Put Letters In Yule Parcels

WASHINGTON (P) — You can put letters in your Christmas packages this year without having to pay first-class postage on the whole parcel.

The Post Office department announced today a new "combination" mail service that makes it possible for the first time in history to include a letter, or message inside a fourth-class parcel post package or inside a copy of a publication mailed under second class mail entry.

The new service starts next Monday, Nov. 23 on a 60-day trial basis. All you have to do is indicate on the outside of the package that a letter is enclosed. Then you pay the regular rate for the parcel, plus an extra three cent stamp for the letter.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield said the new system should spell the end of the familiar phrase, "we are sending under separate cover."

Previously he said, Post Office patrons had "no practical way to send a letter with a gift or with laundry mailed back and forth to school except by paying first-class postage on the entire parcel or by pasting the envelope on the outside of the package."

Miss Swanson Tells Of Amsterdam Life

AMSTERDAM — On a quick trip through Amsterdam I learned many interesting things. There are 65 miles of canals and 460 bridges, twice as many as Venice. Two oars per week fall into canals because they park along the sides.

Flags on the flagpoles in every square are usually at half-mast, indicating there has been another fatal auto accident that day.

It is rare for married women to work, except in their own homes, which are kept immaculately clean. I'm sure they are the cleanest in the world. The stairs in all but the newest dwellings are almost like ladders.

I heard a great deal about the housing shortage but also heard that the Queen gives each child of a "salaried" papa 41 guilders quarterly, approximately $80 a year. For each additional child he gets a larger amount. One actor has nine children. He probably doesn't work all the time.

Dogs are taxed according to the amount of rent the owner pays.

The children of the Scapino Ballet, which I attended, had the youngest of the royal princesses in the audience. She gets no special attention and courtesies are out of

with the royal family.

I actually saw or I would not have believed it, a sidewalk cafe on Rembrandt Square which was lighted by sunlamps so the clientele could get a suntan while being kept warm! They looked mighty weird sitting there wearing plaid black sun glasses in the evening.

A boat ride of 45 minutes through the canals is fun. Our guide said: "On the right is a houseboat. They pay no taxes." As we passed it we read the sign on the side, "Bible Club Movement—Philadelphia."

Further on I noticed a three-story building about 16-feet wide with these words over the door, "Hotel New York."

"On the left," our guide went on, "is the smallest house in Amsterdam." It is two stories, has three rooms, only 32 inches wide, the width of an ordinary door. I was a fat man sitting in the upstairs window.

The most wonderful thing I heard in Amsterdam, or any country for that matter, was that children and young people under 21 are not allowed to sit on a street car or public conveyance. If an adult man or woman, is standing

Tenor's Love Song Has Encore; Sued

NEW YORK — The fateful Thanksgiving Day meeting of the touring tenor, who is a TV sensation today, and the trusting blue-eyed blonde model—with subsequent complications—was described in papers on file in Special Sessions Court.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Sidney B. Schatkin, in charge of the city's paternity proceedings, handles such fateful meetings, when they reach the complication stage.

According to the model, 22-year-old Carly Haering, she met the tenor, William Lewis, 24, now a singing star with Sid Casar's show, last Thanksgiving in a Chicago restaurant.

Got Marriage Impression

Later, she said, she got the impression "that we were going to be married," and about next Dec. 15, her complaint stated, she expects to bear a child by Lewis. Carly, "a junior fashion and photographic model," professionally known as Cy Carly, asked that Lewis be legally adjudged the father and assessed support commensurate with his earnings and the couple's special status.

Lewis, a tall, red-haired Oklahoman, who lives at 100 Central Park South, was touring with the New England Opera Company when he met Carly. Later, he was a Metropolitan Opera Auditions winner and joined Casar's show as "that exciting new tenor voice —William Lewis." He appeared on the show last Monday night.

Not Guilty, Says Tenor
In papers filed by his lawyer, Milton Mound, the tenor asserted: "I am not guilty of the condition complained of by the complainant and at an appropriate time I expect to prove such a fact to the complete satisfaction of the court."

At his request, the child will be subjected to a blood test before trial of the action, scheduled for Jan. 27.

On application of Carly's lawyer, David Schein, of 29 Broadway, Lewis filed $1,000 cash bond that he will appear then.
