

BULLETINS

WASHINGTON — North Carolina's delegation to the three-day White House conference on education faced the opening session with an "open mind," State Superintendent of Public Instruction Charles F. Carroll said.

GREENSBORO — Fifteen-year-old Mack M. Warren of High Point will face trial on murder charges for allegedly stabbing his stepfather to death with a hunting knife October 19.

CHICAGO — Phyllis Corbett of Fountain, N. C., was named as one of six national winners in the 4-H Club record award program.

ASHEVILLE — Mrs. Epsie Dean, 17, has been indicted for murder in the brutal slaying of her young son October 22. A Buncombe County grand jury returned an indictment against the woman yesterday. She probably will be tried at the time of superior court opening December 12.

RICHMOND, Va. — The Southern Conference Sportswriters Association has voted Bruce Bosley, West Virginia's tremendous 220-pound tackle, as Southern Conference player of the year. Bosley, a three-time selection on the all-conference team, is the first tackle to win the award since it was set up in 1948. His teammate, quarterback Freddy Wyant, received the honor last year.

GETTYSBURG — President Eisenhower designated Ross Rizley to continue serving as chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board during 1956.

HONG KONG — The British embassy in Peiping has informed the United States government that turncoat war prisoner Richard R. Tenneson, 22, of Aiden, Minn., will be released by the Communist Chinese.

PHILADELPHIA — The individual passing and rushing races remained unchanged after the 10th round of play in the National Football League but the pass reception championship is a wide open scramble. Rookie Alan Ameche of Baltimore clung to the rushing lead today with 867 yard in 185 carries, a total of 99 yards more than second place Howie Ferguson of Green Bay.

MANNING, S. C. — A Negro undertaker active in the school integration movement blamed the Ku Klux Klan today for shooting up his funeral parlor-residence with buckshot. William Fleming, 33, a nephew of the Rev. J. A. DeLaine, Negro minister wanted by state authorities in connection with another race shooting incident, said someone fired three shotgun blasts Monday night.

a revival in Fayetteville a few years ago. Mr. Underwood, one of the best known ministers of his denomination in the South, was largely responsible for persuading Roberts to return to North Carolina for a meeting. It will be held in the same location as before, on Highway 301 just north of Fayetteville. Before returning for the April meeting, Roberts will preach in the Far East and then stage a tremendous campaign in New York's Madison Square Garden. Incidentally, the Scott's Guards, who will appear in Raleigh Friday night of this week, are booked for Madison Square Garden on Sunday night, December 11th just before sailing for home. The best seats in New York will cost six bucks. You can see and hear the Guards for much less in Raleigh Friday night.

BIRTHDAYS: Today is the birthday of Louisa Martin, Ermon Godwin, Jr., Bennie Burton Wood and Mrs. David Graham.

THINGAMAJIGS: Local theatre-goers are still talking about those torrid, torrid love scenes in "The View From Pompey's Head," playing the last times tonight at Stewart Theatre. The censors must have been doing a little nodding on that one. At one point, lovely lovely Dana Wynter wearing an expression that says, "I could eat you with a spoon" looks up into the eyes of big, husky he-man Richard Egan and asks, purringly, "Do you think I came walking out here on the beach with you just for exercise?" And then the scene changed. Brother! If you're lonesome, or if you have high blood, you'd best pass this movie up for something a little tamer. The world premiere of the movie version of "Kismet" will be held December 8th at Radio City Music Hall in New York. Along with it will open the Music Hall's traditional "Nativity" Christmas show. The latter alone is worth a trip to New York. Fort Bragg is imposing a 11 o'clock curfew for enlisted men beginning December 15, which means the boys have to quit romancing and hit the sack not later than that hour. What's the Army coming to. Only married soldiers are exempt from the new order. It wasn't that bad in wartime. Dennis Strickland reports that new State license tags will go on sale at Dennis Cadillac-Olds, which also serves as local license bureau, on January 3. You have until February 15th to buy and display the new tags. Don't forget, you can save money by subscribing or renewing your subscription to The Daily Record before Dec. 15. A $2-a-year increase goes into effect that date. The price for carrier service won't be affected.

NEVER USED RIFLES
Mrs. Crommett was found dead yesterday on the motel room floor, clad in a nightgown. Two bullet holes from a 30-30 deer rifle were in the ceiling. Another bullet had hit the floor near her body. A fourth penetrated her heart. Pierce and Mrs. Crommett had checked into the motel Tuesday as Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pierce, police said. Pierce told police that he and the woman had been friends for years, and had often spent days at the motel and elsewhere. "We always took hunting rifles, but we never hunted and never went home with a deer," Pierce said. "We took the rifles to keep our families from knowing what we did." Pierce said he told Mrs. Crommett yesterday morning that he was definitely returning to his family. He said he went out for breakfast alone and found Mrs. Crommett dead when he returned. Mrs. Crommett had two teenage daughters, Pierce, financial secretary and business representative of the AFL Building Service Employees Union, Local 28, lives with his wife and two daughters.

voices of the messenger who transported mail between the Dunn Post Office and the train about a half block away. This was given by the Department as one reason for eliminating the late-night mail pickup and delivery service. Postmaster Ralph Wade said these changes had upset the schedules of his staff as well as the schedules and convenience of the public and that he has been beset with protests from local citizens.

CALLS IT "RIDICULOUS"
Congressman Carlyle, describing the reduction in service as "absolutely ridiculous and uncalled for," today dispatched an urgent "immediate action" telegram to the Postmaster General in Washington asking that immediate steps be taken "and without further delay" to restore the service discontinued and, if possible, to increase and improve mail service to and from the Town of Dunn.

"If this telegram doesn't get some prompt attention," Mr. Carlyle said, "I am ready to make a special trip back to Washington to take whatever steps necessary to see that it is done." He is now at his congressional office in Lumberton.

RECEIPTS HERE GROWING
In his message to the Postmaster General, Congressman Carlyle pointed out that Dunn has a Class A Post Office that serves a large and fast-growing area of approximately 30,000 citizens and pointed out the fact that receipts at the Dunn office have shown a rapid and steady gain every single year for the past two decades.

SERVES OTHER OFFICES
Congressman Carlyle also pointed out that the Dunn Post Office, largest in a three-county area, also receives and dispatches mail to smaller post offices throughout the county and area and that the reduction in service also affects these other offices.

"I believe in economy," said Mr. Carlyle, "and my record in Washington bears this out. I believe that the Post Office Department has made some wise moves in the in-

Wife Is Slain; Her Lover Held

ORR, Minn. — A St. Paul union official told police today that the attractive blonde married woman found dead in their motel room threatened to kill herself if he left her.

Thomas Pierce, 49, was held with-out charge pending a coroner's inquest into the shooting of Mrs. Myrl Crommett, 38, wife of a prominent St. Paul architect. R. S. McDermott, St. Louis County deputy sheriff, called the death "almost definitely a suicide."

Mrs. Crommett was found dead yesterday on the motel room floor, clad in a nightgown. Two bullet holes from a 30-30 deer rifle were in the ceiling. Another bullet had hit the floor near her body. A fourth penetrated her heart. Pierce and Mrs. Crommett had checked into the motel Tuesday as Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pierce, police said. Pierce told police that he and

Angier Club Plans Project

Mrs. M. B. Pleasant Jr. has been appointed Chairman of the Junior Women's Club's Children Closet project to be conducted at Angier this year, according to Mrs. Miriam Wicker, president of the club.

"With her background of community service and her special interest in the welfare of children, I am sure that Mrs. Pleasant will make the drive to obtain clothes for needy children a success," Mrs. Wicker said.

The purpose of the drive, which begins this week and continues through January 16th, is to collect used clothes in good condition or money to buy new clothes and make them available to children whose need is known to the county welfare department. There were 12,000 N. C. children aided through the clothing closet last year. Any type of clothing in good condition, mended with buttons, belts freshly washed, and ironed or dry cleaned, can be given.

Any one having clothes to be collected is asked to call the club member living nearest to them. Persons wishing to deliver the clothes may take them to the home of Mrs. M. B. Pleasant Jr., Lillingston St., Angier or phone 4184.

Gloria Traveling Fast, Furiously

By GLORIA SWANSON

ROME — If I were on a witness stand and asked where I was in the night of the 16th of May, June, July, August, September or October, would make a very bad travelling fast and furiously the last seven months.

I have had only brief visits in Naples, Florence, Venice, Turin and Milan, making Rome my headquarters. However, I did have a month in London and two in Paris, with a weekend in Amsterdam.

Loathing to live in hotels, I had a darling house while in London and two apartments in Paris. In a few days I hope to be tucked away in a beautiful apartment overlooking one of the oldest churches in Rome, which is just below the hill on which Rome was first founded by Romulus and Remus in 753 B.C.

GOING HOME TO ROME
Although I have never lived in anything but a hotel in Rome, I had the feeling of going "home" from the moment I boarded the train in Paris.

A discussion arose at luncheon the second day here about what makes one city more desirable than another. An Italian wanted to know why I preferred Rome to Paris.

PARIS IS TIRED
In the case of Paris—I had always known it as a gay city because its people had a genuine gaiety. It now seemed to have the personality of a "morning after" grouch—no longer the look of the gay mistress of the world. Now it has a sad look.

Of course, I never knew Rome before the war as I did Paris so I don't know what changes have been made here. But today the two places have much in common—such as two prices for everything. You can find your money disappearing just as fast here. And a direct answer to a direct question is not possible. Both "yes" and "no" usually mean "maybe."

The reason I feel more at home here is that, like all Americans, I have a crazy sense of humor. If I'm going to be "had," I like it done with a smile.

Campbell Choir To Give "Messiah"

The Campbell College Choir of 75 voices under the direction of Charles Horton, head of the college music department, will present Handel's "The Messiah" on Sunday afternoon, December 4, in the D. Rich Memorial Auditorium at 4 p. m. This great oratorio is perhaps the most famous and most frequently sung of all choral works in the world.

The chorus will be assisted by Nina Wheeler, pianist, and Mrs. Charles Horton, organist. Miss Wheeler is a music major at Campbell and Mrs. Horton is organ instructor at the college.

Play Charlotte Junior College at 8 o'clock at Carter Gym. This is the second conference game of the season for the Campbell College boys. So far the boys team has played and won four games.

Soloists for this performance will include Nellie Kemp, soprano, Phyllis Stephenson, voice instructor at the college; Dr. Elwood Kiser, tenor, and head of the voice department at East Carolina College; Ann Wilson, contralto, and Lloyd Federgraft, bass.

Mr. Horton directed and conducted the choir of Rocky Mount in annual performances of "The Messiah" for three years. This Christmas event became one of the outstanding concerts of the year in that city.

There will be no admission charge for this concert and the public is invited to attend.
