ELABORATE RECITAL AT COATS

From Great Mozart To Hamp, Porter

An elaborately programmed recital, directed by James Dwight Johnson, will be given at Coats High School tonight, 7:30, by music students. Beginning with a Sonata by Clementi, the recital will range from the classical to the real gone.

Mozart's Sonata V is balanced by Lionel Hampton and Curly Hamner's "Hey Ba-Ba Re Pop." This is the program in full:

Part One—Sonatina, Clementi; Janice Barnes; Gavotte in B-Flat, Handel; Norma Lee Johnson; Contentment, Fredrick Bried, Marjorie Byrd; Waves of the Danube, Ivanovic, Marjorie Byrd; Wunderbar, a vocal duet by Cole Porter arranged by Stokides, Pat Stewart; Poem, Gardner Read, Pattie McLamb; The Beautitudes, Allison G. Y. Brown, Patsy Byrd; At Dawn, Bernice Frost, Lea Joy Johnson; Music I Heard With You, Conrad Aiken; Pat Stewart; Lindy Lou; Barbara Stewart; Melody of the second ballet from Orpheus, a duo by Sue Ennis and James D. Johnson.

Part Two—My Heart Cries For You, Carl Sigman and Percy Faith; Patsy Byrd; Wake the Town and Tell the People, Gallup-Lindisjohn; Linda Byrd; The Oxy; Billy Reid; Patricia McGee; Autumn Leaves, Kosma; Barbara Stewart; Hey Ba-Ba Re Pop, Lionel Hampton; Curly Hamner; Patricia McGee.

Part Three—Norse Song, Schumann, Linda Byrd; The Faust Waltz, Gounod-Lange; Janice Barnes; When Love is Kind, old English air; Ann Beasley; Waltz; Chopin, Sue Ennis; Valse in D-Minor, Chopin, Norma Lee Johnson; Hungarian Rhapsody, Liszt, Sybil Beasley and James D. Johnson.

Part Four—My Task, E. L. Ashford; Mrs. T. H. Penny; Contentment, Fredrick Bried, Marjorie Byrd; Waves of the Danube, Ivanovic, Marjorie Byrd; Wunderbar, a vocal duet by Cole Porter arranged by Stokides, Pat Stewart; Poem, Gardner Read, Pattie McLamb; The Beautitudes, Allison G. Y. Brown, Patsy Byrd; At Dawn, Bernice Frost, Lea Joy Johnson; Music I Heard With You, Conrad Aiken; Pat Stewart; Lindy Lou; Barbara Stewart; Melody of the second ballet from Orpheus, a duo by Sue Ennis and James D. Johnson.

Part Five—My Heart Cries For You, Carl Sigman and Percy Faith; Patsy Byrd; Wake the Town and Tell the People, Gallup-Lindisjohn; Linda Byrd; The Oxy; Billy Reid; Patricia McGee; Autumn Leaves, Kosma; Barbara Stewart; Hey Ba-Ba Re Pop, Lionel Hampton; Curly Hamner; Patricia McGee.

months ago to help ordain Earl Farthing into the ministry and he looked unusually energetic for a man 89 years young.

BIRTHDAYS: Today is the birthday of Mrs. L. J. Best and Earl Jones. Celebrating Saturday will be C. B. Kelley, Wayne Justesen, Jr., Pat Wooten, Richard Sorrell and Douglas Godwin. Sunday will be the birthday of Mrs. J. H. Williams, Mrs. Keith Finch and A. S. Sutton.

LITTLE NOTES: Renee, the teenage evangelist, is packing 'em in at Kinston, where she's appearing under auspices of the Baptist Church. Alfred (Pop) Blalock, a man with plenty of the long green stuff, is among the latest to join the swank station wagon set in Dunn. Pop acquired a pretty new $3,600 Ford station wagon the other day and is tickled pink with it. Says it drives and rides like a charm. Pop retired at the age of 40 with enough cash in the bank that he has been able to live without ever spending a penny of the principal. He lives luxuriously just on the interest. That's quite an enviable record. The fact remains, you're a nobody—in fact, you ain't anybody, in Dunn unless you own a station wagon. Now, they're even calling 'em "prestige wagons." Paul (Perry's Tire Service) Perry says there's another name for them, too. Just in case you're interested, and we doubt it, it was 2,000 years ago this month that Julius Caesar was assassinated. Dunn Jaycees are thinking about inviting Mrs. Luther Hodges, the State's first lady, to serve as one of the judges at the "Miss Dunn" pageant next month. Harriet Pressly of WPTF, Faye (Miss N. C.) Arnold and Lawrence Wofford, a photographer for the News and Observer, will be among the other judges. Hubert Peay is the pageant chairman. Howcum the gals around here are so slow entering? Look at Pat Cowden, current "Maid of Cotton" who will earn 50 thousand smackers this year, along with fame and glory and travel all over the world. And Pat told us she started not to bother about entering the contest and once decided definitely against it. Incidentally, Pat's father was a visitor at The Record office one day last week. He wanted copies of The Record containing publicity about his famous daughter. This Daily Record gets around, it does. The Carnation Milk Company liked Locke Muse's ad announcing the grand opening of Muse Super Market so well that they bought dozens of extra copies and sent them all over the country. One copy was used as a model at a regional sales meeting held in Los Angeles, California last week. Take a bow, Locke! Lois Jernigan of Raleigh told us that some of the employees of the Raleigh Post Office like The Record so much that, at their request, she saves each copy for them after she finishes reading it. How about selling 'em a subscription, pal, and a liberal commission you will get. Incidentally, we have openings for several subscriptions agents. If you're interested, contact Grace Moore at The Record office. You won't get rich, but you can make some fast and easy money—much easier than the way we have to make a living. Joe (Vogue Cleaners) Wilson says people jump at conclusions mighty fast. Since it was reported in this column several days ago that Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were planning a vacation to Miami, the word got around that they were selling their business here. At first, Joe found it amusing but says now that so many people have asked him about it that the question is getting a little boring. As a matter of fact, business is good and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson really need to get away for a rest. "But it looks now like we'll have to give up the vacation and stay here just to convince our friends and customers that we're still in business and have no intention of selling," he said today.

SCOUT BIRTHDAY — Girls Scouts around the nation were all dressed up as brightly as Ann Tart, 13, this week as they celebrated the 44th anniversary of their organization's founding. Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Shell, 210 West Divine Street, Dunn.

Spring will arrive this year, according to astronomers at New York's Hayden Planetarium "at exactly 10:20 next Tuesday morning. That's the time they set for the vernal equinox, when the sun crosses the equator on its journey northward. Horrors! That means summer is close at hand. Just the thought of hot weather makes us miserable. Dunn's four city mail carriers will soon be wearing those bright new green uniforms. J. W. Core, Jr., Dallas Matthews, William D. Blake and Mack Barefoot went to Durham Wednesday to get fitted. They're sharp! One of the oddest revelations at the Red probe in Charlotte was the fact that several of the accused Communists have high college degrees yet are employed in such jobs, respectively, as a sheet metal worker, a fish scaler and a meat cutter. Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, the sex expert, reportedly is getting ready to send an American research team of six experts to Europe to gather material on a new book, to be entitled, "Are Europeans Sexier than We?" The sex-professor wants to find out if European girls are really sexier than their American sisters. To us, that seems like an awful waste of time and money. All he needs to do to get the answer to that question is to ask any American service man who traveled that well-known and somewhat crowded route from London's Piccadilly to Paris' Pigalle (Pig Alley). They know more about that subject than Kinsey's researchers could find out via the question-and-answer method in a hundred years. Doc Kinsey might be shocked at some of the answers. As a matter of fact, he'd also be shocked if he knew some of the things that go on right here in Dunn, or possibly in his own hometown. County Commissioner Rob Pace of Erwin, who is in Florida regarding his health, won't be a candidate for re-election. His doctors have advised against it. Friends are trying to get Leonidas Jackson into the race. So far, Coy Lucas is the only contender. Dunn ministers will soon announce plans for Pre-Easter services.

not pressed. He had been charged with stealing auto tires and tools from Carl Hood.

John Henry McCormick 27-year-old Negro of Broadway, Route One, drew six to eight months on the roads for failure to support his two children, six and seven years of age.

Johnnie Brewington Lillington, found guilty of abandonment and non support of the two minor children of Eula Mae McKay of Lillington, Route 3 also drew 12 to 15 months on the roads. Later in the day Judge M. O. Lee suspended sentence on posting of a bond to assure compliance with court-orders. Solicitor Neil Ross prosecuted the docket.

TUESDAY'S COURT

Failure of more than a dozen traffic violators to answer when called Tuesday prompted acting solicitor J. T. Lamm to request cautions issued for defendants to appear next Tuesday. Judge Lee also ordered a bond of $100 to be furnished by each missing defendant. Cash bonds were ordered forfeited in all cases where such cash had been posted.

In one contested case, arising out of an automobile collision on the Johnsonville Road, near Lillington, Marcelle Brown, 33 of Lillington, Route 3 was acquitted by Judge Lee of failure to stop for a stop sign. The car driven by Brown, while traveling from direction of Flat Branch to Marners at the intersection of the Johnsonville Road, collided with another driven by Jimmy Wimberly who was riding in the direction of Lillington. Wimberly and several of his children were hurt in the accident.

State witnesses were R. B. Leonard, the investigating officer, and Mrs. Jimmy Wimberly who contended Brown came out of a side road and failed to yield the right of way. Taylor and Morgan appeared as private prosecutors in the case.

Charles F. Gold, John M. Frederick, David W. Lee (R).

Commissioner of Labor: Frank Crane, H. D. Lambeth Jr., James R. Farlow, J. M. Stancil (R).

One of the major surprises was Debnam's decision to run for Congress against Cooley. Debnam issued no statement, but was expected to attack Cooley for failing to sign the Southern manifesto.

Debnam is credited by many with originating the plan of interposition by Southern states to thwart the Supreme Court decision on school segregation. Debnam says the idea of interposition was expounded in his recent book, "My Old Kentucky Home, Goodbye."

Commissioner of Agriculture: L. Y. Ballentine, Kermit U. Gray, Fred R. Keith (R).

Commissioner of Insurance: Charles F. Carroll, T. E. Story (R).
