Her corporation will be called "Stars Incorporated," and investors would participate in up to 20 per cent of her earnings for possibly five years.

"I've heard this idea has been used by artists before, but I've never heard of an actress doing it," she said. If the plan works out, "stars incorporated" would pick up other aspiring actors.

Caroline said her first love was musical comedy and she terms herself a singing-comedienne who can act in stage plays as well as musicals.

Many Paris She has been on the stage professionally since 1949, appearing in "The Merry Widow."

In such plays and musicals as "The Happy Dollar," "Light Up the Sky," "The Golden Apple," and "The Merry Widow."

Caroline was once on the same footing with such stars as Grace Kelly and Nina Foch. She said she once worked in Albany, N. Y., in a play which followed one in which Miss Foch appeared and preceded one by Miss Kelly.

"I had just as much of a feature role as they did at that time," the confident actress said.

"Caroline described herself as a silver blonde. She is 5-foot 8 1/2 inches tall and weighs 130 pounds with big brown eyes and "long, skinny legs."

Her measurements from top to bottom are 39-26-27.

"I'm not skinny," she said. "I make a very imposing stage appearance."

Little Things

Cumberland. Correction: Jackie Bennett says we done him wrong and he's enraged. . . . Just because we recently referred to film actress Try Moore as the loveliest of all Mornin' beauties. . . . "It's a blasted outrage," stormed Jackie, breathing down our neck. . . . "OK, OK," we sez, "calm down, Sir, and tell us just who is the loveliest female among the Mormons." . . . "Why," he exclaimed, galling from ear to ear, "that's easy, Son — my little daughter, of course!" . . . And, we must confess, she is a lovely little lady.

BIRTHDAYS: Today is the birthday of Tommy Carr, Mrs. Annie Parker, Helen utt and Chuck Byrd.

THINGAMAJIGS: Clyde Moody, famed singing star of the Grand Ole Opry, was right among friends when he came to Dunn last night to appear on the program of the Broadslab Drag dance. . . . Curtis Amos, the talented manager of Leder Brothers Department Store, is also from Danville, Va. and he and Moody played in the same band together for years. . . . Mr. Amos is a great admirer of Moody and has many pictures of him. . . . And Glenn Foster, manager of the Hotel Cotton Dale and another Danville native, is also an old friend of Moody's. . . . The three of them had quite a reunion last night and Mr. Foster invited Moody and Jim Thornton to be his guests at the Hotel Cotton Dale. . . . Last night's dance was a tremendous success. . . . Jim said it was the largest crowd he had ever seen at a commercially-sponsored dance. . . . There were a few hundred more people at the first Broadslab Drag but that was free. . . . The huge turnout indicates the need for more dances and more entertainment here and more dances are coming up. . . . Others are already scheduled for four consecutive Friday nights, April 20th, 27th, May 4, 11th in the Dunn Armory. . . . These dances will become a regular Friday night event in Dunn if the crowds justify. . . . New and outstanding talent will be added to the program each week. . . . Local promoters have some ambitious plans for making Dunn sort of an entertainment center. . . . In addition to these dances, plans are being made to bring Grand Ole Opry stars and other of the nation's top entertainers to Dunn. . . . They're willing to bring any big entertainer or show to Dunn that the people want and are willing to turn out to see. . . . Interesting months are ahead. . . . City Policemen Falslow, Pope and Buddy Jackson both agreed that they'd never known a more orderly affair than last night's dance. . . . Not a bit of trouble anywhere. . . . The only discordant note was one fellow who left his wife at home and engaged up with two dates for the dance. . . . Sportsmanlike, he brought both of them to the dance, too. . . . And all three of them seemed to have a wonderful time. . . . Bobbie Jean had to leave the dance early. . . . Her husband came home unexpectedly and had only a few hours to stay. . . . After driving from Norfolk, Joe was too tired to dance.

MORE NOTES: Otis Warren, who founded and owns Warren's Rexall (Dunn Pharmacy) Drug Store in partnership with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fairley, has purchased the barber shop building next door. . . . He's a hustling, hard-working merchant and a good business man. . . . Once again, these stories about the popular gals at Easter-time are going the rounds. . . . One Dunn beauty reportedly received five regular orchids and two white orchids and a popular young married gal is still trying to explain to her husband where that extra orchid came from. . . . Mr. Anonymous, he thing help it if the Bunny Rabbit or the florist made a mistake and put her name on two of those pretty flower boxes? . . . But that's the way things go, isn't it? . . . Just one thing after another. . . . there was need frequently for care of up to ten children. Commissioners agreed to reject the state aid and support the school with county money.

However, on suggestion of State Superintendent of Welfare Dr. Ellen Winston steps will be taken to have the operators furnish a performance bond which will be paid for by the county.

Sheriff C. R. Moore appeared to report that a stack of non-support warrants were accumulating where fathers had left the state. He suggested that the cost of serving these papers was high and presented one bill from Dade County, Fla. for $19.00. Commissioners promptly ordered the bill paid. County Attorney W. A. Johnson indicated he "felt that it was the sole responsibility of the sheriff to see that every warrant, regardless of its type, was served. Solicitor Neil Ross also conferred with the commissioners about the same problem of responsibility—evading fathers. Ross arrived after the commissioners had adjourned to inspect the jail.

Failure to prosecute such cases commissioners said tends to load welfare rolls with support of the abandoned families.

JAIL NEEDS CITED

A letter from State Jail Inspector T. A. Early contained detailed suggestions for improvements to the jail which he warned should not be "too long" in being made. Guards for glass windows on first floor cell block, water-proofing exterior to prevent water seepage, and sanitary sterilization of dishes were among the musts.

Commissioners made a tour of the jail and indicated they may approve a new divided sink, guards for windows, but indicated they may leave any new painting up to county janitors, and bypass metal kitchen cabinets, recommended by the jail inspector. Sheriff Moore offered services of janitors for repairs.

The detailed complaints by the jail inspector just "underscore the need for a new courthouse," commented one commissioner, "and yet, we must keep on spending money on repairs."

Core Completes Course in Va.

Pvt. Willie E. Core, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Core, Coats, recently was graduated from the six-week surfacing machine operators course at The Engineer School, Fort Belvoir, Va.

The course offered training in the operation and maintenance of roads, and airstrip surfacing machines.

Core entered the Army last October and was last stationed at Fort Jackson, S. C., where he completed basic training.
