

GEORGE GETS FOREIGN POLICY POST

ANOTHER BREAK-IN — The Daily Record, which has hardly recovered from one break-in by robbers who took $400, suffered another the other night. A mama cat came in through a fan on the side of the building, found a likely spot — and in the morning the newspaper had kittens. Giving the tiny cats one of their first peeps at the world are Sylvia Slaughter, society editor, and Charles Butler, pressman. The kittens have been christened Slug, Em, Typo and Wrong Foot — all good printing terms. (Daily Record Photo by Ted Crail.)

Ike Wins Farm Vote In Indiana Primary

Five primaries gave President Eisenhower a "corn belt" vote of confidence in Indiana and produced some surprises in other states today.

The President, running against token Republican opposition, rolled to an easy "popularity" contest victory over Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) in Indiana's first presidential primary since 1928 Tuesday.

The other primaries in Florida, Ohio, West Virginia, and New Mexico, did not feature bona fide presidential races.

Florida Gov. Leroy Collins landslide re-election and Ohio Gov. Frank J. Lausche's difficulty in capturing all 58 Democratic presidential convention delegates.

Hoosier farmers stayed in the Republican ranks in the first farm belt primary since the President's controversial farm bill veto.

Kefauver, unopposed in the Democratic primary, had hoped to stir up a farm protest vote. But the President rolled up a vote edge of about 80,000 over the Tennesseean, whose strength was primarily concentrated in traditionally Democratic city areas.

Gets 32 First-Round Votes The primary gave the President 32 first-round Republican convention votes and Kefauver 28. Mr. Eisenhower also picked up 56 Ohio votes, although they are nominally pledged to favorite son Sen. John W. Bricker.

The other primaries at a glance: Florida — Collins became the first governor in Florida's history to succeed himself and the first to win the Democratic nomination, tantamount to election, without a runoff.

He rolled up a heavy margin over five candidates. The closest was Sumner Lowry, who campaigned on a pledge to block racial segregation while Collins took a more moderate stand. Former Gov. Fuller Warren (Continued On Page Six)

THIRD BROADSLAB DRAG FRIDAY NIGHT Dance, Show, Famed Singer On Program At Armory

Grand Ole Opry star Jim Eanes, whose recording of "Blue Suede Shoes" has convinced even the holdouts that rock and roll is here for a lengthy stay, will be at the Dunn Armory Friday night.

The wild-styled Eanes, one of the hottest personalities in popular music since "Shoe" began to stir, will be a featured performer at the third great "Broad Slab Drag." He'll share the spotlight with Jim Thornton and his TV gang, including Mozele.

These Country Style round and square dances threaten to become an institution in Dunn—mainly because of an unprecedented response that still has Big Jim shaking his head in wonder.

One of Thornton's aims at the Friday night funfest will be to stir up some fresh faces for his TV program on this or coming Saturdays. A talent show has been announced, and a revue of TV-hopefuls will be part of the stage show that accompanies the dancing.

Previous dances have attracted an audience from far beyond the immediate environs, though the night light goes on in plenty of homes in Harnett County as Dad, Mom, kids and baby all head for the Broadslab Dance. There's plenty of stillin' room in the Armory's balcony, and in some ways it's these quiet folk who have the best time of all.

Unsolicted talent in the form of exhibition dancers has turned up at every drag so far. Those who saw the "Rock and Roll" movie which just passed through town know that those movie cats are only a weak meow compared to some of the dancers turning up for Thornton's big country-shindig.

Friday night will offer the only chance to catch Eanes, the "Blue Suede Shoes" man, while he is on his current tour. This is his one and only appearance at this part (Continued On Page Two)

Veteran Georgia Senator Won't Ask Reelection

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Walter F. George, 78-year-old dean of the Senate and its most powerful figure in foreign relations, announced today he will not seek re-election.

President Eisenhower promptly offered him a post as his personal representative in NATO work, George indicated he would accept the job.

The veteran Georgia Democrat said he had told the President he "would not shirk my duty, or any responsibility that might be requested of me."

ATLANTA (UP) — Former Gov. Herman Talmadge is expected to announce before the day is out that he will be a candidate for the position of Sen. Walter F. George, who said today he is retiring in December.

George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said any position he may take in the future might start at the end of this session of Congress or might be delayed until January when his Senate term expires.

George's sudden and unexpected decision to retire from the Senate was made in this one-sentence announcement: "For good and sufficient reasons which I will not elaborate at this time, I will decline to offer again for the Senate after the present term."

MEDICAL ADVICE His physician gave one of the reasons. Dr. Worth H. Daniels said the decision was a "wise one" and that George has had a "mild difficulty with his heart and mild diabetes."

George also had faced one of the hardest political fights of his career in a contest for renomination against former Georgia Gov. Herman Talmadge.

CAPITOL STUNNED His decision not to make the race stunned the Capitol. "Until a few hours before he made his announcement, there had been no firm indication that he would step down. But from Georgia this morning came word that the patriarch of the Senate—he is serving his 34th year—had decided to quit." (Continued on Page Five)

Alfred Vanderbilt's Wedding Hits Rocks

NEW YORK (UP) — Alfred Gwynn Vanderbilt, millionaire turfman, has separated from his wife, the former Jeanne Murray, friends told United Press today.

The prominent young society couple signed a separation agreement about three months ago, according to their friends. Vanderbilt has moved from the apartment he shared with his wife on Fifth Avenue and is living in a Park Avenue apartment he recently purchased.

The legal separation agreement contains financial provisions for Mrs. Vanderbilt and the couple's two children, Heidi, 7, and Alfred Jr., 6, it was learned.

A close business associate of Vanderbilt confirmed that a separation agreement has been signed. The agreement was described as "amicable." The couple will share the custody of their children, the associate said.

A friend said Mrs. Vanderbilt does not wish a divorce because of her religious faith. She is a granddaughter of inventor Thomas E. Murray and member of a prominent New York and Southampton, Long Island Roman Catholic family.

Vanderbilt, who is reducing the size of his racing stable, has been seen about town specially alone since last Christmas. He attended the opening appearance of comic-dancer Paul Hartman at the Hotel Plaza last week. At that time he was accompanied by several eligible post-debutantes.

It was understood, according to friends, that the children will remain with their mother for the time being. Her son is the only male Vanderbilt of his generation in the entire Vanderbilt clan.

Vanderbilt was divorced by his first wife, Manuela Hudson Vanderbilt, in June 1942. He eloped to Philadelphia with the present Mrs. Vanderbilt in December 1945.

It's Costly Thing To Help A Friend

Buddy Coats, 17, is learning that if a feller helps a friend he may have to take the consequences.

Harnett's rural policemen, whose chief object in life is to round up all the bootleggers who infest the county, arrested Buddy on May 7 for transporting 14 gallons of whiskey.

Buddy allegedly had run to tell Ralph Godwin of Dunn, Route 4, that the rural policemen were on his property and was told by Godwin to move the latter's car.

The policemen stopped Buddy in Godwin's 1949 Chevrolet, found the whiskey in it, and arrested the teen-ager for possession and transportation.

Smith will face a charge of murder "at least in the second degree," according to Dunn police. Williams, a Sampson County negro, is 31 years old. He lives on a farm owned by Marshall Gilbert. The stabbing occurred on East Harnett Street in Dunn at approximately one a. m. Saturday morning.

Two witnesses to the stabbing have identified Smith as the assailant. Police Chief Alton J. Cobb and SSI Agent William O'Daniel reportedly have secured an oral confession from Smith though he claimed, when first picked up, no knowledge of the crime.

Negro Arrested In Stabbing

Twenty-two-year old David Smith, a Dunn negro who lives at 605 E. Harnett St., was picked up yesterday morning and charged with the near-fatal stabbing of O. J. Williams on Saturday night.

The victim, his lung pierced by a blade which entered the left chest near the heart, is still in critical condition at Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill. It is dies.

HUBBY FEELS NO GUILT — ACTRESS JEANNE CRAIN'S estranged husband, Paul Brinkman, has filed a demurrer to her pending divorce suit to force her to give details of her cruelty charges.

The 30-year-old actress has charged Brinkman, 37, with "inflicting physical injury and violence" upon her. Brinkman Tuesday told a superior court that Miss Crain's complaint filed March 29 was "uncertain, unintelligible and ambiguous."

WESTPORT, Conn. (UP) — Policeman Robert O'Shea said today if he could get a minute alone with his pretty wife he might be able to straighten out the marital mess that led her to sue television comedienne Martha Raye.

O'Shea, 27, said he has been unable to talk to his wife since she filed the alienation of affection suit against Miss Raye. Every time he tries to call her a member of his or her family answers the telephone and cuts him off, he said.

Once he succeeded in getting his wife, Barbara, 20, to the telephone, but she told him "The only way I'll talk to you is in my lawyer's office," he said.

In a letter to the Westport Board of Selectmen, which asked him to take a leave of absence from the police force until the whole thing blew over, O'Shea said he agreed to put his uniform in mothballs only because it seemed the best thing to do. He said he felt no

Defense Budget Will Provide Extra Bombers

WASHINGTON (UP) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said today that President Eisenhower's 1957 defense budget will give the Air Force 202 additional B52 hydrogen bombers, a dozen more than it originally asked for.

He also said it will provide them faster. Wilson's statement came as Mr. Eisenhower told a news conference it is not necessary for the United States to stay ahead of Russia in exact numbers of long-range bombers or any other particular weapon.

Quoting the old adage "Enough is certainly plenty," the President said his defense policy is based on providing adequate forces for the country's needs and not on a numbers race with another country.

Production Speeded — Wilson told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee the administration's budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 not only will give the Air Force more B52's than it asked for, but also will speed up production schedules four to five months.

The defense of the administration's military program by Wilson and Mr. Eisenhower came amid these other developments:

I. Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.), a senior member of the Appropriations subcommittee, made it clear he will not support a Democratic move to increase funds for the Air Force. He said he trusts Mr. Eisenhower on military affairs.

Welfare budget requests for 1956-57 presented by the county welfare board to the commissioners on Monday received quick approval. Figures are tentative and may be revised later.

Ted Malone of Coats, member of the welfare board, and Miss Davie Jo Lumsden, acting superintendent, presented figures to the commissioners, figures which already had won acceptance by the welfare board. J. E. Womble, who represents commissioners on the welfare board, also was present.

The budget request of $35,700, to be financed by the county poor fund, is more than ten thousand dollars in excess of the money allocated last year. Two reasons were given for the hike—the need for more personnel and more funds for hospitalization.

At present, the county welfare staff has three vacancies and there was an additional request for two case workers and one clerical assistant. In the administrative budget (not in the poor fund) total salaries of the department were fixed at $53,940, travel at $9,994, and board member expense at $300. Around forty percent of this will be met by state and federal funds.

HOSPITAL FUNDS GONE Miss Lumsden said that while the county set aside $7,330 last year for hospitalization of needy persons, already $10,000 has been spent, and the need has not been met. Two more months remain in this fiscal year.

She reported that notices have been received from Duke Hospital in Durham and Highsmith Hospital in Fayetteville that they will not take any more cases from the (Continued on Page Two)

Banishment Is Judge's Order

Fifty-year-old Doug Brady, convicted of one liquor charge too many, has been given 15 days to clear out of Lee, Chatham, Moore and Harnett Counties—and stay out for five years.

In Lee County Court, Judge S. Ray Byerly bore down hard on Brady, who has a long record of bootlegging activities. He fined him $1500 and costs, besides imposing the banishment order.

Actually, Brady con stick around if he wants to. The catch is that if he does he will face a two-year sentence on the roads.

The conviction on charges of speeding and transportation and possession of non-taxpaid liquor for the purpose of sale came on the result of an early-morning chase.

Reportedly, Brady led officers on quite a run through from Broadway into Chatham County across Avenue's Ferry Bridge on April 22. He was finally overtaken and forced to stop by Patrolman C. M. Cum (Continued on Page Six)

Daniel's Dad Tells About Wedding In Independence

RALEIGH, N. C. (UP) — "I never saw so many cameras in all my life as when my wife and I got off that plane."

E. C. Daniel of Sapulpa, N. C., who recently became a famous father-in-law, was back in Raleigh today telling his old friends about his trip to Independence, Mo., wedding of his son to Margaret Truman, daughter of the former President.

He was natty in a gray-blue suit and witty as the featured speaker at a breakfast given by the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Assn. meeting here.
