ologists show that men understand women better than women understand men and married women are both emotionally and intellectually inferior to single girls. For the survey, doctors gave the California Test to couples who had been married for at least a year and a half. All took the test twice, the first time answering for themselves, the second time trying to predict their spouse's answers. The results: In general, the males were far superior to the females in their ability to predict and they showed greater insight than the females. The conductor of the survey, Richard C. Cowden, admits he was surprised himself. Floyd M. Martinson of Gustavus Adolphus College in Minnesota nailed down the natural inferiority of married women as compared with single ones. The single girls reported better health adjustment, were more aggressive socially and were better adjusted emotionally. Further, he found that single girls were more self-reliant, had a greater sense of personal freedom and were less likely to have anti-social tendencies. (We're still quoting.)

But after all, don't the married dolls have a perfect right to blame whatever is wrong with them on their husbands? Women—al. surveys to the contrary—are still pretty wonderful creatures. Bless 'em. You'll find sensational bargains at Wilbour's in Dunn and Lillington during the Mighty May Sale now underway at both stores. Johnnie has really cut prices.

BIRTHDAYS: Today is the birthday of Mrs. Locke M. Muse, Eli Baer, Kenneth Parker McCandless, Geraldine Glover, and Mrs. Lorraine Dupree.

THINGAMAJIGS: Wilbert and Lettie Lee had a wedding anniversary on May 2. Dwight and Jo Maltox on May 3 and Al and Frances Wullenwaber on May 5. If you're among the poor social outcasts who are being snooted by your snooty ex-friends just because they own a station wagon, then dash around to Auto Sales and Service Co. and see Henry Samlin. He can solve your problem. Henry is offering a big deal on those pretty Ford V-8 Ranch Wagons. You can own one of these stunning Thunderbird-styled beauties for the budget price of only $46 a month—a two-tone black and white job with white sidewall tires and all the other features you love. And, says Henry, "You can double your fun with a Ford ranch wagon." And by owning a station wagon you can become a member of the Upper Crust Society. Jackie Bennett and his whole Boy Scout troop were guests of Dunn Rotarians Friday night. Contrary to rumors, there won't be any square dancing at the Tony Pastor dance in Dunn on June 12th. There will be no hillbilly music at all on the program. Jim Thornton, one of the dance promoters, will be on hand, of course, and will sing a couple of popular numbers. Jim is a talented fellow who can sing popular numbers equally as well as hillbilly pieces. How the rumor got started that hillbilly music and square dancing would be mixed with Tony Pastor's famous music isn't known. In fact, the contract wouldn't allow it. When a famous maestro like Tony Pastor steps up on the band platform, he's the sole boss of the program and you can expect a top-notch program at this dance. Among the 15 musicians with Pastor's orchestra are some of the nation's top band entertainers and there'll be plenty of novelty and specialty numbers. Nobody tells a famous band leader how to run his program—make no mistake about that. You ought to read one of those contracts, which have to be approved by the orchestra leader, his agent and attorneys; the booking agency and their attorneys, the Musicians' Protection Union and their attorneys and ASCAP lawyers. Local promoters are even instructed as to the size type to be used for the band leader's name on a poster, and are furnished a detailed diagram of the bandstand arrangement, showing the location of each microphone, floodlights, spotlights and the exact location of each musician's chair, even the location of each A. C. outlet. It also says the piano must be tuned to 442. Neary everybody, it seems, is planning to attend the Pastor dance here. It'll be a great night. And don't forget, there'll be another gala Broadlab Drag and other Maytag appliances got their sea legs during the trip east from the Newton, Iowa plants of the Maytag company. During the trip appliance-packed freight cars made a six-hour crossing of Lake Michigan between Milwaukee and Ludington, Michigan. It was the largest single shipment of merchandise ever to cross the lake by train-ferry, requiring two of the giant Chesapeake & Ohio ships, part of their seven-ship fleet of train-ferries crossing the lake between Wisconsin and Michigan. Mr. Black and other members of his staff extend to the public a cordial invitation to visit Star Furniture Company and see these seagoing Maytag washers. The event begins Thursday morning at 9 o'clock sharp.

RECORD TRAIN-FERRY SHIPMENT BRINGS WASHERS TO STAR FURNITURE CO. IN DUNN — The largest single shipment of merchandise ever carried by train-ferry — two shiploads of Maytag washers — recently made the six-hour crossing from Milwaukee to Ludington, Mich., across Lake Michigan on their way from Iowa to Maytag dealers in North Carolina and three other States. And part of them ended up at Ed Black's Star Furniture Company in Dunn. On Thursday, the local concern will begin a "Mad Maytag Marathon" designed to place the Maytags in homes throughout this area. This picture was taken from the bridge of the S. S. Spartan as she passed her sister ship, the S. S. Badger, waiting to be loaded with the rest of the shipment not carried in the cavernous train deck of the Spartan. The shipment originated at the Maytag plants in Newton, Iowa. The marathon begins at Star Furniture Company Thursday morning and ends Saturday night.

attractions here. "We naturally can't do all these things at one time," pointed out Chairman Black today, citing the fact that most of the fair profits go for such worthy Legion and community projects as child welfare, the Legion's baseball program, etc. During the past year, the post donated a huge operating room light at a cost of approximately $1500 to the Dunn Hospital. Black and Rumley said the exhibit list is being increased and expanded again this year to attract still more agricultural exhibits from the large four-county area. The largest exhibit of swine and cattle in the history of the fair is also expected. COMMERCIAL EXHIBITS Mr. Norris, who is in charge of booking, building and arranging the commercial exhibits, said today that most of the commercial exhibit space has already been reserved by business firms of the area, along with several large out-of-town, commercial exhibitors. Only a few choice spaces are left, said Mr. Norris, who has established offices in the Hotel Cotton Dale here. "The Legion's Four-County Fair has long been noted for its outstanding commercial displays. Mr. Norris is a professional at the business and promised today that this year's exhibits would be the biggest, most dazzling, most beautiful ever.
