

IKE CALLS FOR ENERGETIC CAMPAIGN

IT'S STILL THERE — As members of Dunn High's Class of '31 gathered at the high school for their 25th anniversary, Dunn Insurance man L. C. Dupree, Jr., pointed out to Margaret Smith Knight, now of Raleigh, that her name is still on a cup in the trophy case. Twenty-five years ago, she was named best-all-around student — for scholarship, athletic prowess and leadership. Another photo on Page 5 — Story on back page.

These Little Things

DOT LIKES TONY; OPEN AIR PEACHES AND OTHER NOTES

Mrs. Lula Buchanan had quite a surprise this week. The 74-year-old Lillington resident became ill and the doctor's verdict was mumps. Mrs. Buchanan had just returned from a visit with relatives in Alabama and children in the home where she visited had the childhood disease. She resides with her daughter, Miss Kate Buchanan, an employee of the county ASC office. Joe Currin of Angier, the newly-elected county commissioner, is an exceptionally popular fellow and Saturday's election proved it. Joe did no campaigning — didn't ask a single person to vote for him — and still ended up with the biggest majority of any candidate in Harnett. He defeated Commissioner R. Glenn Johnson by a vote of 715 to 400. Mrs. Robert Strickland says she's looking forward to the Tony Pastor dance here Tuesday week. Dot, a very lively little lady, points out that Tony Pastor is one of her favorites and she also likes Lawrence Welk. "Actually," said Dot, "Lawrence Welk's arrangements are very similar to those of Guy Lombardo and I like him, too." Carl Lucas is offering some really sensational bargains this week at Erwin Super Market in Erwin. For instance, Carl is selling Swift Alasweet margarine for only five cents a stick and four pounds of pure pork sausage and a pound of all-meat franks for only a buck. Erwin's new super market is proving very popular and a big success. Carl is a very smart merchant. Make no mistake about that. Lillington high school seniors were among the favored ones this week. Buddy Gregory of B and J Jewelers presented each girl grad.

WARREN TO GET SECOND TERM

Graham Says Racial Problem Is Local

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham told some 10,000 delegates to the Southern Baptist Convention last night that racial integration should be handled on the local level.

Today the convention was scheduled to re-elect Dr. Casper C. Warren of Charlotte, N. C., to a second term as president. Nominations were to be made from the floor, but it is customary for the president to hold two consecutive terms. Also scheduled for re-election were secretaries James W. Merritt of Gainesville, Ga., and Joe W. Burton, Nashville, Tenn., along with executive secretary-treasurer Dr. Porter W. Routh of Nashville. Only two positions were expected to be filled by new officers, those of first and second vice president.

John H. Haldeman of Miami, has served as first vice president, while Kyle M. Yates of Houston, Tex., has been second vice president.

Graham said the race question could best be handled on the local level. But he said it would "take courage, prayer, humility, love and above all patience" to solve the problem.

He said the Christian church was in the midst "of the greatest

Abney To Build Big Warehouse

GREENWOOD, S. C. (AP) — Abney Mills will build a 150,000 square foot warehouse here for the storage of cotton and rayon, it was announced today. Officials said storage capacity of the new warehouse would be 35,000 to 40,000 bales of cotton or rayon. Daniel Construction Co., of Greenville, will build the warehouse, which is scheduled for completion by September.

Son Of FDR Ike Again Is Backing

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Roosevelt, son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, shared a political platform with President Eisenhower today.

Young Roosevelt, who supported Eisenhower in 1952, spoke on "why Democrats should vote for Eisenhower" at a meeting of the recently-organized Citizens for Eisenhower. He said the Eisenhower administration has destroyed the Democrats' 1952 campaign slogan, "Don't let 'em take it away." "The only thing that has been taken away is the mess that we found here in January of 1953," Roosevelt said.

Youth Entrain For Montreal, Then Europe

Montreal, Canada, is the first leg on a trip to Europe for a dozen young Tar Heels who boarded a train here today at 3:25.

Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Lineberger are accompanying this "Methodist Youth Caravan." At Montreal, Saturday, the group will board a boat and be off for Europe.

A conservation service was scheduled for today at four o'clock for the members of the caravan. They come from various towns in North Carolina. None are from Harnett. The caravan is sponsored by the Board of Missions of the North Carolina Methodist conference. Several months will be spent traveling in Europe and working with church groups on the continent.

Pierce, Bass Fined $50 Each For Trespass

Bobby B. Pearce and Bobby J. Bass of Dunn, Route 5, both pled guilty to forcible trespass in Dunn Recorder's Court this morning and were given 90 days on the roads suspended on payment of $50 fine each plus court costs.

Judge H. Paul Strickland accepted a plea to this reduced charge on recommendation of Solicitor J. Shephard Bryan. The original charge was larceny and receiving.

They were accused of stealing a radio and door from a 1950 Ford parked at Henry's Body Shop on S. Clinton Avenue. Rudolph Gilbert, indicted on a similar charge, pled not guilty and was found not guilty by the court.

Besides the fine levied on Bass, Judge Strickland made his suspended sentence conditional on payment of $25 for a car door.

Two residents of East Vance St. in Dunn, Rachel McMillion and Maggie Manning, were in Recorder's Court on complaint of Virginia and Willis Smith.

Rachel McMillion, charged with assault and disorderly conduct, "by throwing glass bottles and sticks," pled not guilty but was convicted and sentenced to 30 days in jail suspended on payment of court costs.

Maggie Manning, accused of damaging property by breaking a window and of using boisterous and profane language, pled not guilty, was also convicted and given 30 days in jail suspended on payment of court costs.

Most serious of several traffic violations cases was the trial of Edwards Adams Smith for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol and driving at 60 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone. Smith pled guilty to the first count only and the plea was accepted by the court on re-

10 YEARS AFTER NEAR-FATAL MISHAP

Out Of The Skin Grafts Came A Strikeout King

By TED CRAIL
Record Staff Writer

Once, in the middle of an operation, Jimmie Wilson came wide awake. This remains in his memory as the "worst part" of that strange nightmare which began when he was walking to school with some other kids, and a truck ran over him.

It was not pain, exactly, that he felt when he awoke there on the operating table. Fright and confusion were intermixed. He heard someone screaming, but he couldn't be sure that it was himself. Before he dropped off to sleep again, some force inside him caused him to strike out, and he hit one of the nurses.

Jimmie feels pretty lucky that the nurse didn't get after him later for whacking her like that. But it couldn't have been much of a hit. He was only seven years old, and had been sick so long that most of

Open House 'Til Nine At Dunn's New Florist's

Carnations and refreshments were being served at Aman's Florist in the Cottondale Hotel today. The open house will continue at Dunn's newest flower shop until 9 o'clock tonight.

Thomas Aman, an experienced florist, actually opened for business two weeks ago. He owns the shop in partnership with W. P. Williford Dry Goods Co.

Aman, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edie Aman of Route 1, Dunn, has worked as a florist for several years; he studied at Harper's in Atlanta, Georgia, before opening the shop in downtown Dunn.

ALL SORTS OF HONORS — A number of honors have come the way of Cadet "Staff Sergeant" James Vance Wilson, 14. This trophy for best pitcher is only one of them. He also took a medal for scholarship (making the honor roll every month), and a monogrammed letter for prowess in sports generally. But then the real story of Jimmie is the story of what he has overcome. (Daily Record Photo by Ted Crail.)

Death Penalty OK'd For Dope Peddlers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today approved a tough narcotics control bill calling for death penalties to help stamp out illicit drug peddling.

The measure would let juries in federal courts hand down a death sentence for a third conviction for the sale or smuggling of narcotics. It also would permit juries to mete out the supreme penalty for sale of narcotics to persons under 18.

Before approving the bill the Senate rejected, by voice vote, an amendment by Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) to delete the death penalty provision.

But the Senate did delete a provision which would have permitted federal courts to authorize the use of wire-tapping to secure evidence for use in federal narcotics cases. It substituted a compromise provision which would put still penalties on the use of the telephone, mails, or any other communications facilities to violate the narcotics laws.

At the morning session, Mrs. Dorothy D. Houghton of Red Oak, Ia., co-chairman of the organization, predicted that 75 per cent of the women who vote in November will cast GOP ballots. She said women in 1952 made the difference between a "slender margin" and a "landslide" victory for the President. But she warned against slipping into the "fatal complacency" in November.

Erwin Graduation Exercises Held

D. T. Stutts, principal for 28 years at Erwin, presided Monday night as final commencement exercises for the "Class of '56" were held with Dr. W. Amos Abrams, editor of "North Carolina Education" as chief speaker.

It was a milestone for Principal Stutts as well as the graduating seniors for he has announced his retirement, effective with the end of school, and plans to move to Durham during the summer. Among student speakers, specially honored during the commencement exercises were Carl Leslie Byrd, Jr., and Margie Eanes, named "best all-around." The award from the Grace Post Book Club was presented to Byrd by Mrs. D. T. Stutts, while Mrs. J. V. Fowler made an award from the Women's Club to Margie Eanes.

Other students honored: Thomas Byron Stephens, Jr., presented with the Barrett Science award by Z. E. Matthews. Jean Weaver (high school), and Linda Autry (grammar school) received "Miss Bruton's Award for Most Progress in Music." The program (Continued On Page Two)

New Bathing Suits Force The Gals To Be Honest

NEW YORK (AP) — Plenty of ordinarily calm wives and mothers, and a few daughters, show signs of nervous insecurity at this season.

Catch them unawares and you'll see them back up to the full length mirror, swivel their heads around, take a long look and emit a deep sigh. They show no enthusiasm for the bright sunshine and even less for the first family trip to the beach.

They simply are trying to assemble courage to squeeze into bathing suits and march out to meet well formed competition from long-legged lovelies. It's too late to streamline curves so the only hope is to bolster the nerves. Any pale, paunchy and sloped-shouldered man who ever found himself standing next to a bronzed lifeguard at the beach understands the feeling.

COCKTAIL PARTY

There are certain things we imperfect figures of American womanhood could do to enhance our appearance at the beach, a Frenchman who designs bathing suits suggested cautiously during a recent visit here.
