of no reason why her husband should kill Godwin. Left to right are: Coroner Grover C. Henderson, Assistant District Attorney Glenn L. Hooper, Jr., Mrs. Robert Wood, a neighbor, Mrs. Keene, in striped dress; and Rural Policeman Clarence Moore. Heavily-Cut Foreign Aid Bill Passes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House overwhelmingly passed heavily-slashed $3,800,000,000 foreign aid bill today despite President Eisenhower's warning that it would "seriously impair" U.S. security.

The measure, which now goes to the Senate, was approved by a rollcall vote of 273 to 122. The House acted after rejecting, 147 to 52, an attempt by Rep. Lawrence H. Smith (R-W.Va.) to send the bill back to the House Foreign Affairs Committee for further study.

WAIT SENATE ACTION
The administration is counting on the Senate to restore at least part of the $1,100,000,000 slashed from Mr. Eisenhower's original $4,900,000,000 request by the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The House sustained the committee despite a series of warnings by Mr. Eisenhower and his top military and diplomatic advisers that such action would imperil the safety of the free world and the future of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

As passed by the House, the bill would authorize an expenditure of 2 billion dollars in military aid and almost 2 billion dollars in economic aid in the 1957 fiscal year to bolster 54 free nations in the world struggle against communism.

REJECT LONG-RANGE AID
Mr. Eisenhower had asked for $3,000,000,000 in military aid and $1,900,000,000 in economic aid.

The House also rejected Mr. Eisenhower's request for authority to make long-range foreign aid commitments. But it wrote into the bill a declaration that Congress intends to continue to help free nations as long as Russia threatens their independence.

HEART OK—President Eisenhower flashes his famous smile as he is photographed at the White House Photographers annual dinner in Washington. Some 10 hours later James Hagerly, White House press secretary, announced that Mr. Eisenhower is suffering from an "upset stomach and headache" and has canceled all appointments for the day. The announcement added that "nothing is wrong with his heart."

President Takes 40-Foot Stroll On Doctor's Arm

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower walked 40 feet in his hospital room today "and has resumed a light schedule of duties," press secretary James C. Hagerly announced.

Hagerly said the President conferred this morning with presidential assistant Sherman Adams for about 10 minutes and decided several matters.

He said the President, who walked 30 feet Sunday with two attendants supporting his elbows, walked 40 feet today. Dr. Isidor Ravdin, a member of the operating team who performed the operation Saturday morning, supported "just slightly."

He said the President experienced some pain during his walk but less than on his first attempt. After the walk, Hagerly said Adams arrived with other White House staff members. They conferred in the lounge of the presidential suite with Dr. Ravdin, Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, who performed the actual surgery and Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, the President's personal physician.

NIXON IN CHAIR

Adams, the staff and the doctors discussed what sort of program the President should follow. Then Adams entered the bedroom and was alone with the President for about 10 minutes.

Hagerly said the following decisions were reached "as a result of the governor's (Adams) discussion with the President."

1. To hold the regular weekly National Security Council meeting at the White House Thursday with Vice President Richard M. Nixon presiding. Nixon has presided on several occasions in the past.
2. To hold the conference on fitness of American youth at Annapolis, Md., as scheduled June 18-19, but to cancel the President's address. Nixon will preside, as he had been scheduled to do. Hagerly (Continued on Page Five)

Soviet Invitation Is Rejected By Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today rejected a tentative Soviet invitation for all the American military chiefs of staff to visit Russia this month. He left the door open for a possible later visit.

Press secretary James C. Hagerly told a news conference "the problem was discussed with the President" by Sherman Adams, his assistant, sometime after 10 a. m. today and the President himself made the decision.

Hagerly said the Soviet Union sought to learn the unofficial attitude of the United States toward a possible invitation for the other three chiefs of staff to join Air Chief Nathan F. Twining on a visit to Moscow on Soviet Aviation Day June 24.

The Soviet Union was told that this would be "impracticable now" but that a reply to a future invitation would depend on the circumstances and on Twining's report on his visit.

The reply, as relayed by Hagerly to newsmen, had two important conditions for any visit:

1. It was "not likely that more than two members" of the Joint Chief would visit Russia at any one time.
2. Any visit "would be with the understanding that their schedule within the Soviet Union would be so arranged as to permit maximum time outside Moscow for visit to those activities of special interest to their own services."
