

Here's A Scientific Viewpoint On Sex

NEW YORK, (UP)—A scientific view on sex follows: "Sex is the overall state of body and mind by which the individual conforms to the male or the female standards of normality in the named sex — determining factors.

"It is an algebraic summation of these factors in which no one factor supersedes the others. In other words there is no single conclusive factor.

"Every individual we know is a mixture of characteristics of the male and female, and it is the algebraic sum or preponderance of all these factors that determines sex, and not any one of them."

The speaker was Dr. Joseph H. Kiefer of the University of Illinois, who was lecturing a medical audience.

NAMES SEX FACTORS

The "sex - determining factors" he named were: "First and most basic" is the pattern of the chromosomes in all body cells. These patterns are either "XX" and female or "XY" and male. It used to be thought that these patterns always were of the sex the individual appeared to be. Recently it has been shown that "this is not always so."

Next in importance is the nature of sexual glands. "For many years," continued Dr. Kiefer, "this was considered the best indicator of the true sex, but is now found unreliable."

Then come the chemical patterns of the hormones of the other glands of internal secretion. He pointed out that hormones from glands other than the sexual "can drastically alter the development of sex features."

Finally is the mind "pattern." This pattern "is influenced by the hormonal pattern as well as by the upbringing and experience of the individual, but is an uncertain guide as to true sex."

He was concerned for the few in whom, at birth, there was uncertainty. With the "inter-sexed," the determination of "true sex" "should be done as early in life as possible. This would seem auto-

Tom And The Bedbug Or--Huh?

The following cryptic message was handed in as a story to be printed by this newspaper. Readers are invited to decipher it if they can. It was entitled, "Little Thing Happening."

"Well its all night when tom stands over us with his bed-bug bite, he walks all night and he gets just about a hour sleep, when he is just like peeping tom, and the walking man without a head."

"He goes to the post-office to get his mail but looks like he gets bed-bug bite instead, and he started back home walking reid road and he look back and see nothing but bed bugs walking after him."

"I clean up my house about a week ago and just that night they were just as bad. I do believe that he carry thing around in his back pocket and where he go, they go, and where he stay, they stay."

"So this is not a joke its only the short story of my friend toms life. Without a name. Smile."

Billy Says Proud Hard To Convert

NEW YORK (UP)—Billy Graham said Wednesday night that he has found it "more difficult to bring a proud man to Christ than it is to win a drunkard, an adulterer or a narcotics addict."

The evangelist told a Madison Square Garden audience of 14,500 persons that "the sin of pride" afflicts thousands of Americans today and "we're proud and selfish as a people and as individuals."

"It is the sin of all of us," Gr-I ask you to come forward here's ham said, "the sin of ego. We have to make your decision for Christ-I trouble and it's not related to sight. We don't believe the truth, that pride is hateful to God. Yet God says no proud man shall enter the kingdom of heaven."

"You don't come to God in pride, but in humility—that's the reason brought that total to 37,811."

WELL, NOW, THIS ROAD—IF YOU CAN CALL IT A ROAD—GOES ABOUT A HALF A MILE STRAIGHT ON—THEN IT'S A PATH.

THE CONTRACTORS THAT BUILT THE BIG DAM LEFT A SHACK AROUND THAT FIRST MOUNTAIN. THAT'S WHERE CARDUEY LIVES.

CARDUEY WAS SO DIFFERENT FROM HER TWIN SISTER, BLOSSOM. SHE TRIED TO MAKE HER UNDERSTAND, SAYS MORIN PLENTY.

BUT I HOPE IN THE FIRST TO TELL HER ABOUT POOR LITTLE BLOSSOM. I'LL TRY TO MAKE HER UNDERSTAND, SAYS MORIN PLENTY.

NOTHING BUT RATS—THAT'S WHAT MEN ARE—JUST RATS.

I'M GOING DOWN TO VILLAGE AND GET A DOG—A REAL VIE WATCHDOG! TOMO! MAYBE.

BLOOD-THIRSTY OG—THAT'S WHAT INT—A KILLER.

D-N-N—IS THAT CARDUEY'S SHACK?

AND HAVE YOU HEARD WHAT THEY'RE SAYING ABOUT BAZOO?
