Ervin To Offer Three More Amendments

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower today called the Senate's jury trial amendment to his civil rights bill "bitterly disappointing" and a threat to the entire federal judicial system.

In one of the strongest statements to come from the White House in this administration, Eisenhower said that rarely in the legislative history of the United States had so many extraneous issues been introduced in Senate debate "in order to confuse both legislators and the public."

The Senate late Thursday night passed by a vote of 51 to 42 an amendment guaranteeing jury trial in cases of criminal contempt of court, a provision opposed flatly by the President and Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland.

After discussing the senate action with his Cabinet this morning, the President said the interposition of a jury trial between a federal judge and his legal orders would "weaken our whole judicial system and particularly the prestige of the federal judiciary."

"In this case it will also make largely ineffective the basic purpose of the bill—that of protecting promptly and effectively every American in his right to vote," he said.

Killed Bill's Chances

House Republican leaders said Senate amendments probably have killed the chances for enactment of any civil rights law this year.

They said the House will not accept the jury trial amendment, especially when coupled with earlier Senate action to confine the bill to voting rights only.

At the same time, Sen. Sam J. Ervin, Jr. (D-N.C.) announced plans to offer three more amendments. (Continued On Page Four)

Dozen Teachers Still Sought For Harnett School System

Superintendent of Schools Glenn Proffit characterized the teacher shortage as potentially the worst problem in Harnett Schools and said getting teachers to fill vacancies has been more difficult this year than ever before.

"I guess it's just the old business of competition, supply and demand," he said. "We've lost one of our teachers to Phoenix, Arizona. A number have gone to California. School will start September 3 and we still have a dozen vacancies around the county."

However, Superintendent Proffit staff of teachers will be available stated that he is hopeful a full at all schools in the county by that time. Greatest difficulty, he said, lies in hiring capable instructors in mathematics and science. The pinch in these fields has also been felt nationally.

"There's just a very big demand for them," Proffit said. "A boy who has finished at state college in engineering can almost name his own salary."

Proffit expects enrollment this fall to parallel that of last year and said it will probably run about 13,000. The Dunn area and some other parts of the county, he said, have been gaining regularly in enrollment but rural areas have been dropping off.

He attributed this to cuts in tobacco acreage plus retirement of farmland into the Soil Bank. "So fewer children attending school from the rural areas. A lot of families are moving to industrial areas but how many of ours are doing that I don't know."

The total number of teachers in the county will be two more than last year. Number of persons on the faculty of various schools is established according to a fairly rigid formula, based on the approximation of 30 pupils to the teacher. (Continued On Page Four)

West Powers Would Swap Inspectors

LONDON (UP) — The Western powers offered today to open all of Europe and North America to Soviet air and ground inspectors if Russia will admit the West to all Soviet territory.

The sweeping plan, presented to the five-power U. S. disarmament conference by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, was the broadest challenge yet issued by the West in 11 years of stalemated arms cut talks.

The Western plan included a flexible clause offering smaller, compressed zones in Europe and North America if Russia balks at throwing open all its vast territory.

Dulles presented the plan on behalf of the United States, Britain, Canada and France with a plea that experts begin "at once" to draw up detailed blueprints.

He said Soviet acceptance of these sweeping safeguards against surprise attack would help create the kind of East-West confidence needed for further arms cuts and settlement of major international disputes.

The Dulles plan went much further than the original open skies plan first proposed by President Eisenhower at the Geneva summit conference July 21, 1955.

Big Concession

1. It includes all of Canada instead of just the United States and the Soviet Union—a big concession.

2. It also might include all of Europe from Ireland on the west to Russia's Ural Mountains in the East. This means the whole of Western Europe about 1,400,000 square miles in return for all of Eastern Europe and European Russia about 2,800,000 square miles.

It accepts Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's demand for ground inspection. International inspection posts would be set up at ports, railway centers, road junctions and air fields in all the zones covered by open skies.

But because Russia previously had objected to including all Soviet territory under open skies, the new plan provided an alternate.

For the U. S. — Canada-Russian zone, it would substitute the Arctic Circle, an area including sections of Canada, Alaska, Danish Greenland and northern Norway as well as Arctic Russia and all of Alaska, a border strip of Canada and Russia's Kamchatka Peninsula and Kurile Islands.

ANGIER KINDERGARTEN — The Happy Times Kindergarten in Angier, operated by Mrs. Nancy Dupree will open September 4th. The hours will be 9:00 a. m., until 1:00 p. m. Notify Mrs. Dupree if you wish to enter your child.

These Little Things

LITTLE NOTES ABOUT PEOPLE AND THINGS

Once again there is talk about the Town of Dunn sponsoring the North Carolina Maid of Cotton contest. President Earl McD. Westbrook has designated Myres W. (Mr. Cotton) Tlign, an to investigate the possibilities and to determine whether or not Dunn could be accredited as the sponsor of the State pageant in time for the national carnival and pageant at Memphis. It would give Dunn more of the same sort of fine publicity which Becky Lee is bringing to the town. Corbett Elmore is home from Iceland and says he doesn't mind the hot weather a bit. "After those months in the cold country, I won't complain," he said. Another fellow who isn't complaining about bad business is Uncle George Upchurch. "My business keeps growing," said Uncle George. And a farmer who isn't complaining about bad crops is Otis Warren, who runs some farms down in Sampson in addition to operating Warren's Rexall Drug Store here. Doc says he believes his crop is better than that of last year. Ermon Godwin has been trying out a Volkswagon. Says it takes six months on the waiting list to get one. Tonight's speedway race in Raleigh will be well attended by citizens of the Dunn area. Miss Peggy Alphin, who is handling arrangements for Jaycees as a service to local citizens, has issued a reminder that Monday at 4 p. m. is the deadline for reserving advance season tickets for the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City. After that date no seats will be reserved. Season tickets for all performances cost $12.50. (Continued On Page Three)

Sexy Screen Siren Rushed To Hospital

Marilyn Loses Her Baby In Miscarriage

NEW YORK (UP)—Actress Marilyn Monroe suffered a miscarriage today and lost her baby nearly eight months before its expected birth.

The 31-year-old actress, who is childless, was rushed 100 miles to Doctors Hospital here Thursday because of the threatened miscarriage. A hospital spokesman said Miss Monroe underwent surgery late Thursday night.

The spokesman said the film star was in great pain during the operation, but was in satisfactory condition. She was given a blood transfusion during the surgery, the spokesman said.

Due Last Of March

On her admittance to the hospital, Miss Monroe's doctor said she was "five or six weeks pregnant" and that her baby was expected "around the end of March."

With her playwright-husband Arthur Miller at her side, the curvaceous screen star was wheeled into the hospital on a stretcher. At the time, her doctor, Dr. Hilliard Dubrow, a gynecologist, said an operation was a "50-50" possibility.

Thursday evening, Dubrow reported that Miss Monroe was doing "as well as can be expected." The emergency surgery followed a short while later.

The blonde film beauty was expected to be able to leave the hospital in a few days, a hospital spokesman said today.

In Hollywood Thursday, a four-pound boy was born prematurely to stinger Rosemary Clooney, the wife of actor-director Joe Ferrer. Both mother and baby were reported in good condition.

N. C. Alerted For Fleeing Embezzler

ATLANTA (UP)—A suspected woman embezzler with cosmopolitan ways and expensive tastes changed cars during a strange flight from police and was believed to be somewhere in North Carolina the FBI reported today.

Mrs. Janet R. Gray, 40, accused of embezzling $100,000 from a medical clinic in the Atlanta suburb of Decatur, left Georgia two days ago in a pink air-conditioned Lincoln and two loaded moving vans. Her entourage included her 50 pedigreed cocker spaniels.

The FBI this morning alerted the North Carolina highway patrol to watch for Mrs. Gray in a two-tone yellow and cream 1957 Pontiac. Agents recovered the pink Lincoln and two moving vans on Thursday at a motel near Greenville, S. C.

The FBI said most of the cocker spaniels had been "taken to Connecticut," but J. H. Mumford agent in charge of the Atlanta office, said she may still have "two or three with her."

Traveling with Mrs. Gray, a free-kick-faced woman with what the FBI termed "cosmopolitan" ways, was her 16-year-old niece, Candice Candy Lane.

American Envoy May Be Ousted

HAVANA (UP) — Government anger rose today against U. S. Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith and there were reports he may be asked to leave the country because he visited rebel-held areas in eastern Cuba.

Total news censorship, imposed under a decree suspending civil rights for 45 days, vetted military developments in the area.

But in Havana, Smith became the target of an unprecedented campaign of attacks by government spokesmen because of his public comments Wednesday on police precautions in rebel-infested Santiago.

Informed circles said it was unlikely the administration would go so far as to throw him out of Cuba.

A Cuban "White House" spokesman announced, however, that Foreign Minister Gonzalo Guello has been instructed to get hold of Smith "for the purpose of discussing his unfortunate declarations in Santiago."

Tomorrow Night Is The Big Night

All Out For Becky

"Becky Day" is expected to take place on Saturday night as planned at the Wayne Avenue Cafeteria. Several of the town's clubs are participating in bringing this reception off.

Says the current Jaycee bulletin, "A grand array of all the town's big brass will be on hand to welcome her." Becky Lee, recently named Miss Virginia, now grooming herself for the Miss America contest at Atlantic City, is coming back from Roanoke to see the home folks.

Cafeteria reception is open to all her well-wishers, will get underway around eight tomorrow night. Reports that Dunn is throwing a parade to spotlight "Becky Day" are not true, but a festive spirit will accompany the event, anyway.

Clubs joining in sponsoring the reception include Rotarians, Lions, Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis and the Junior and Senior Women's Clubs.

Cakes, cookies and other refreshments will be served. Mayor Ralph Hanna and the heads of each civic group will have a public message for Becky. But it will be mostly an informal occasion.

On the Junior Chamber of Commerce committee planning reception are Hubert Peay, chairman, Ed Boyette, Gene Driver and George Mitchell.

Say Million New York Workers Robbed

Teamster Activity Hit By Unionists

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Association of Catholic Trade Unionists told Senate investigators today that teamster crown prince James R. Hoffa and "The Mob" of his friend Johnny Dio threaten to rob a million New York workers of honest unionism.

John McNiff, the Catholic association's executive secretary, told the Senate Rackets Committee of a "fantastic" exploitation of low-paid Negro and Puerto Rican workers by an alliance of crooked unions and crooked employers.

He said the alliance of Hoffa, Dio and narcotics racket leader Anthony (Tony Ducks) Corallo, paid Negro and Puerto Rican workers by an alliance of crooked unions and crooked employers. (Continued On Page Eight)

July Was A Busy Month At Erwin Park Center

During the month of July an average attendance of 75.

Soft-ball competition has been very keen, with five church-sponsored teams and one W. O. W. team participating. The regular season will end next week, at which time the tournament will begin. In the Junior League, games between the local team and teams from other towns has created quite a lot of interest and competition.

Swimming continues quite popular and, during the month of July, a total of 2200 took part, in spite of the fact that several swim periods had to be cancelled due to the usual low water pressure experienced each summer. Attendance at the good, and many of the small child-swimming classes has also been added. Only two teen-age dances have been held during July, with

Attendance at the recreation room is still good, with a total of 2046 participating during July. Various games still hold the attention of the teen-age group, and during the month new games have been added. Only two teen-age dances have been held during July, with

Celebration Big Success

Attendance was good at the annual Fourth of July celebration sponsored by the local firemen and it was, as usual, a complete success.

As a part of their Senior Service Program, the Senior Scouts are now giving their time in the recreation center and library. Eight girls are participating, and each girl will give thirty hours which will not only help our program but will also be splendid training for the Scouts.

Horse-shoes and basketball have proven quite popular with the younger boys during the morning recreation period, with 210 taking part in July.

Billy Tapped For Own Meeting

The evangelist told an overflow crowd of 19,000 persons that "the members of the crusade committee are getting that little worried look on their faces again so I'm going to ask you for money again."

He asked all persons in the audience who had checking accounts to raise their hands and keep them up. Hands shot up all around the huge oval-shaped Garden.

"Now," Graham grinned, "I want you ushers to hand all these people blank checks." The ushers did as they were told and everyone had a good laugh as they dutifully filled in the blank spaces on their checks. While Graham smiled his approval, an enterprising usher walked right up to the rostrum and handed the evangelist a check. And while everybody had another good laugh, Graham signed on the dotted line, too.

Costs $75,000 Weekly Graham explained that it costs the executive committee more than $75,000 weekly to run his New York crusade. By the time the crusade closes Aug. 10, it will have cost more than a million dollars.

Graham said in his sermon that Americans have "heard the voice of the diplomats, the historians and the philosophers long enough and it's high time we listened to God."

More people should read and study the Bible, the North Carolina Baptist minister said, because "today we hear the cry all over the Christian world, 'Back to Christ, back to Christ, but I want to know is what Christ are we going back to?'"

"Secret Christians," Graham said, let their neighbors see the outward side of their characters by going to church regularly "and letting your friends look at you, (Continued On Page Four)
