Faubus Holds Out; Lawyers Walk Out

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., (UP)—All three of Gov. Orval Faubus' lawyers walked out of a federal courtroom today in the midst of a hearing on a petition to enjoin Faubus from preventing integration of Central High School.

U. S. District Judge Ronald N. Davies turned down every motion Faubus' attorneys entered. As he dismissed the petition for an injunction, attorney Tom Harper arose. Harper said he wanted to make a statement. He said he stood on the motions that had been denied and that in view of the denial, he and the other lawyers asked to be excused.

They were stopped outside the courtroom by newsmen and Harper said, in reply to a clamor of questions: "Let me make this clear. I do not ever comment on pending litigation. You are wasting my time and your time by asking questions."

They gave up trying to get into the elevator and walked down the stairs to the front door, through which they walked to the street.

Testimony Begins After they left, the court started taking testimony. The first witness was William T. Cooper, Jr., president of the Little Rock School Board, who said he knew nothing about any impending violence at Central High and neither did the school board.

Faubus has contended that he was not opposed to integration as such, but that he called the National Guard to Central High to prevent violence he knew integration would provoke.

Cooper said neither the school board nor other local authorities had asked that the militia be called out.

School Supt. Virgil Blossom, as the second witness, sketched in the background of the plan to integrate Central High. He explained how nine Negro students were carefully screened and transferred from their own schools to Central.

Blossom, who has been school superintendent five years, said: "No."

Adulterous Wife Blamed For Slaying

WASHINGTON, N. C. (UP)—A psychiatrist testified today that attorney J. D. June Grimes Jr. was "temporarily insane" when he killed tenant Haywood Paul after finding Paul and Mrs. Grimes almost nude and "very close together" under a tobacco shed.

Dr. Harry Brick, Richmond, Va., said the 42-year-old former county prosecutor had been awakened from a deep sleep and was in "a twilight state — half-awake and half-asleep" when he came upon the couple lying in intimate embrace.

"Though a person can hear, see, touch things, he does not know what he hears, sees, touches," Brick said.

Grimes, member of a prominent family, has pleaded not guilty by reason of temporary insanity in the slaying of the sharecropper.

Thinking Disturbed Grimes' thinking was so disturbed that he did not know what he was doing, or what was right or wrong, Brick said. His opinion was based upon six consultations with Grimes and Grimes' father since the Aug. 17 killing.

Brick was asked by the defense for his "expert opinion," with defense counsel first tracing the happy marriage to Lillie Grist Grimes.

The lengthy hypothetical question also went into the events on the night of the shooting when Grimes awakened and found his wife missing from the house, took a pistol and roamed over the grounds of his plantation looking for her.

Testimony Thursday featured Grimes' own story and introduction of a letter written almost a year ago by Paul's wife to Grimes' father, warning that her husband and Mrs. Grimes were having an affair. The letter said the affair had been going on since "early spring" of last year.

Grimes testified that he did not believe there was any truth to the letter, and said he "loved and trusted" his wife, mother of their five children, "implicitly."

Character Witnesses The defense also called character witnesses. Levi Stubbs, an overalled farm-

CLOTHING NEEDED—This scene can be duplicated almost daily at the county welfare office in Lillington as needy children apply for clothing and shoes. The crowded welfare building has no storage space so the Junior Woman's Club of Lillington, in cooperation with the State Federation of Women's Clubs and State welfare authorities, has set up a Clothing Closet. Space has been donated by D. P. Ray, Jr., in the old Lillington hotel. A drive for good, used clothing will be held on Oct. 1-2. (Daily Record Photo By Carroll Vaughn)

Russia Blames US For Syria Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., (UP)—Russia blamed the United States today for the crisis in Syria and the Middle East and disclaimed any intention by the Kremlin to meddle in internal affairs there.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, in a policy speech to the United Nations General Assembly, also:

Proposed a suspension of nuclear weapons tests for two to three years, proposed outlawing use of atomic and hydrogen arms for at least five years and called for a "peaceful coexistence" agreement among all countries.

Biggest Concession The new Russian proposal on nuclear weapons was the biggest Soviet disarmament concession since the Kremlin accepted in principal last November, President Eisenhower's open skies plan.

Gromyko, as grim and grumpy as when he won his diplomatic spurs as Russia's original "no man" in the U. N., fired back angrily at American demands that Russia cease meddling in the Middle East.

Soviet Security "The Soviet Union," Gromyko said, "cannot place itself in the position of an impassive observer while the Near and Middle East — an area close to the frontiers of the Soviet Union — is being turned into a permanent hotbed of military conflicts. Their organizers should recognize that the Soviet Union cannot watch impassively over a situation which bears on its own security."

As for those "spreading fables about Soviet intrigues" in the Middle East, Gromyko demanded: "Who is speaking to put his hands on the natural wealth of the Near and Middle East — is it the Soviet Union or the U. S. A.?" The answer is clear. It is the work of American monopolies, first of moving here. "I've had an awful lot of just pure joy at working with the people out at Grove Church," she said.

The Hunters came here partly at the instigation of Rev. Dick Gammon, former pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Dunn, and this was her husband's first pastoral assignment.

They were married ten years

Says He'll Run For Re-Election

Lennon Sees Farm Role As Vital

These Little Things

By HOOVER ADAMS

OUR READERS WIN OUT; EARL IS COMING BACK

One of the best ways to judge a newspaper feature and to test its popularity with readers is to drop it for a while and see how many people miss it.

That's what we did with the column written by Earl Wilson, the dapper expert on Broadway, show business, pretty women, cafe society and bosoms.

Only a few people complained at first. Others probably expected the column would be automatically resumed. But the requests to return Earl Wilson to this newspaper have been increasing now for weeks.

So our readers have won out. Earl Wilson's column will be back in The Daily Record, beginning on Monday.

BIRTHDAYS: Today is the birthday of Ina Kathryn Hamill, J. D. C. Godwin, Claude Martin, L. A. Gavin, Debra Lou Jones and A. B. Johnson... Saturday will be the birthday of Ralph Wade, Mrs. I. J. Williams and Eunice Wilson...

Congressman Alton Lennon made it plain to local officials and supporters who met him here yesterday that he considers his attitude toward farm problems the crucial role that he can play in the House of Representatives.

He also confirmed that he plans to run for re-election. "I've tried the best I know how," he said, "and if the people here think well about what I've done, I'd like for them to help me again."

Lennon said he has held many conferences with the appropriate government officials on tobacco growing and other agricultural interests which have been jeopardized for one cause or another during the past year.

Delivering hearty handshakes to all who came in contact with him, he visited the tobacco sales at both of Dunn's two big warehouses yesterday and in the afternoon met with others desiring his views on pending legislation. Last night at Camp Alice he was guest of honor at a chicken supper given by Louise Baer.

Solidly behind the price support program himself, he said that Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson would probably be in favor of dropping all supports if public opinion would let him.

Lennon emphasized that the programs he has supported is designed to take pressure off the smaller farmer without the help, he said, farmer. "The big fellow may get, but you have to offer something to take the pressure off the little

A communique said: "The palace of the Prince of Monaco announces that a happy event is expected by Their Most Serene Highness, the Sovereign Prince and Princess Grace, for the month of next March."

The announcement put an end to months of rumors that the former movie actress Grace Kelly and her prince would have another child.

Judge To Consider Union Rig Charge

WASHINGTON (UP)—A federal judge agreed today to consider a request for a court investigation of alleged "rigging" of the Teamsters Union's forthcoming election in favor of James R. Hoffa.

The unusual appeal for court intervention, which could delay the union's scheduled Sept. 30 election convention, was filed by 13 rank and file members.

Judge F. Dickinson Letts told attorneys for the group to draft, for his immediate consideration and possible issuance, and order calling on the Teamsters' leadership to appear Sept. 27 and show cause why the election should not be postponed.

Verdict Of $31,000 Given Defendants

Jurors early this afternoon started consideration of a personal injury suit for $125,000 as the two-week civil term of Harnett Superior Court drew rapidly to a close.

The late word from Lillington was a jury decision to award $6000 to plaintiff William J. Blackwell and $25,000 to Warren G. Tart in their injury suit. Defendants Howard Ray Lee and Bobby Glover were held equally at fault by the jury and they

Wendy Hunter Chamber Head

Perhaps conscious that other towns have done the same with success, the Dunn Chamber of Commerce has appointed a woman to be the executive secretary of its activities here.

Mrs. Wendy Hunter, wife of the pastor of Grove Presbyterian Church, has a ready smile and striking honey-blond hair. She says she understands her job to be "the promotion of Dunn in all its aspects."

Her official duties actually don't begin until Monday but she was at the office today to be interviewed by the press. Womanlike, she carried a large and well-filled pocket book of splashy design.

She said that she and her husband, Rev. George Hunter, had been exceptionally pleased since

Judge Morgan Vs Sen. Morgan In Harnett's County Court

It was Judge Robert Morgan vs. State Senator Robert Morgan in the county recorder's court in Lillington this week.

And it was enough to have any clerk of court's head swimming. The two county officials have the same name.

It seems that the foot of Harnett's popular State Senator got a little too heavy on the accelerator and a State highway patrolman cited him to court for speeding 69 miles an hour.

State Patrolman John Moore of Angier got the Senator enroute to Fuquay Springs.

"Good Things," He Says "I really think it was a good thing that they got me," smiled the official. "I'm afraid I've been driving too fast and this will certainly slow me down."

Cost Him $20.75

Judge Robert Morgan exercised leniency with Senator Robert Morgan (they are the best of friends but no kin) and let him off with a $5 fine and court costs. So Senator Morgan forked over a total of $20.75.

"I couldn't afford to hire a lawyer to defend me," quipped the Senator, who also happens to be one of the county's leading attorneys, "because all of them wanted pay in advance."

It just so happened that on the day before Senator Morgan got his ticket he was behind an automobile containing Grady Earp and H. M. Keith, two clients, following them to Fayetteville on a legal matter.

Earp's car crossed the whammy

Carnival Midway Open 6-12 p. m.

Stock Show And Fair Open Mon.

The big exhibit tent was on its way up this morning at the fairgrounds on the Jonesboro Road where, after a parched summer, kids and grownups can let off some steam at the Harnett County fair.

American Legion Commander Robert Lee Smith has been actively directing most of the preparations for the carnival and fair exhibition which is sponsored annually by his organization.

On Monday, the fair will open with Gold Medal Shows, setting up its Midway sometime on Sunday. General admission this year will be 60 cents for grownup and 25 cents for children. It will be an all-week stand for the carnival which boasts a tree high-wire act and free fireworks for four of the six nights that the Fair will be open.

Criticism about gambling at the fair last summer has caused Robert Smith to announce that serious gambling games will be absolutely barred from the Midway.

Attorney J. O. West was named chairman of the Fair by the American Legion and the co-chairmen are A. L. Poch and Lewis A. Gavin. Directors are Smith, J. B. Warren, Jr., Belyin Strickland, Edwin Boyette, Huey Bass, Chester Johnson and Ralph Wade.

The fairgrounds is located two miles east of city center, off the Jonesboro Road. The agricultural and livestock show opens at 6:30 Monday night and will close at midnight on Saturday. Gates will be open each evening from six to 12 p.m. Free parking is provided.

Gold Medal Shows will send up its high-wire act — the Aerial Winters — every night at 10 p.m. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday this will be followed at 10:30 p.m. by fireworks.

Exhibitors must place their entries on the grounds between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m. on Monday unless otherwise directed for a particular class or department. There will be cash prizes distributed.

Besides the livestock entries,
