U. S. TO FIRE MISSILES IN DECEMBER

ANY ANGLE, ANYTIME, ANYWHERE. AVA'S ADORABLE—Pictured here in several interesting poses is movie actress Ava Gardner of adjoining Johnston County, now of Spain, Paris, Hollywood and the world at large. Ava returned to Paris Sunday night from Rome with actor Walter Chiari, thus burying deeper rumors she had a spat with her most constant boy friend. Anyway, getting back to the pictures, Ava looks good in any pose or from any angle.

McElroy Says U.S. May Speed Missile Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy said today the United States is considering a speedup in its ballistic missile programs. Four hours after succeeding Charles E. Wilson, and taking office as the nation's sixth defense secretary, the former Cincinnati soap manufacturer, told newsmen, "Russian missile programs have made it seem not important to us to end bottlenecks" in the American projects. The new secretary said the speedup would probably take the form of increased testing, more overtime work at missile centers, and more rapid evaluation of missile data. President Eisenhower attended the oath-taking ceremony in which McElroy became the sixth defense secretary since the department was established in 1947.

Ike Hopes Troops Can Soon Be Withdrawn

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he is very hopeful that federal troops can be withdrawn from Little Rock's Central High School soon. He made the statement at his news conference when asked if he agreed with Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) that the time was "rapidly approaching" when the situation would calm down enough for local officials to handle. Eisenhower said he certainly was very hopeful that that would be the case. As soon as local officials say that they have the thing right in their hands, he said, the federal government would have no other function at the school.

Gerald Beasley Shot In Foot South Erwin Men Charged In Assault

Two South Erwin men have been charged with assault with a deadly weapon following a fracas around 5 p. m., Monday in the yard of Joe Moore. Moore, 38, was charged with shooting Gerald Beasley in the foot. Rural policeman C.E. Moore, who investigated, said a bullet from a .32 caliber pistol slithered past the ball of Beasley's foot, bringing a blood blister but otherwise not harming the man. Meantime, Moore had shot a hole in the windshield of Beasley's car, also with a .32 caliber pistol. Officer Moore said he took pistols away from both men. Both had been drinking the officer said. At the time of the shooting Joe Moore was in his own yard. Beasley was in the yard of Robert Porter's house. "Something that happened last week" was the reason given the officer by Moore for the shooting. Both Joe Moore and Beasley are bonded to appear in Harnett Recorder's Court on Thursday. The shooting followed less than two and a half hours the appearance of a delegation from Erwin before the county commissioners asking for more police protection to put an end to lawlessness in the community.

Manager Casey Stengel called on Bob Turley, a fireballing right-hander, to keep the New York Yankees 'alive' in the 1957 World Series. Trailing the Milwaukee Braves three games to two, the Yankees again were handicapped by the absence of center fielder Mickey Martz, their leading offensive weapon. ## County To Be Host To 7-County Group

John W. Spears, vice-president of the Capital Area Development Association, said today that the date for the next seven-county meeting has been changed from October 16 to October 30. Harnett County will be host to business, farm and community leaders interested in new farm practices and new industrial development. A tour is planned of interesting new developments in Harnett County. Buckhorn Township, where a local community development plan has flourished, will be one of the places visited. Chartered buses will be engaged to transport visitors as well as Harnett community leaders, to various places of interest in this county. Visitors are expected from Wake, Granville, Vance, Franklin, Warren and Johnston Counties. So far this year, meetings have been held in each of the counties banded together in a self-improvement plan, with the exception of Wake and Harnett. The final meeting of the year with the presentation of awards and prizes is slated for December in Wake. Harnett's tour will be the last before the final program marking the first year of a long range plan to improve the economic and cultural life of the region, Spears said he was particularly interested in making Harnett's program one of the most attractive of the year. Details will be announced later. Chief characteristic of the development program is that people learn from their neighbors and receive inspiration to improve their local communities.

Faubus To Blame

The president indicated belief that there would have been no trouble in integrating the school if Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas had not called out the National Guard to prevent it. When asked if he believed that was the case, Eisenhower first said he was being asked to speculate. But he added that integration had started peacefully at other Arkansas schools and said he didn't know of any particular reason why it would have been different at Little Rock if Faubus hadn't intervened. All but about five minutes of the 33-minute news conference was devoted to the satellite and missile programs of Russia and the United States. Zhukox Not Invited The President denied that Russia had made any formal request that Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov visit this country. Asked if he felt a visit by Zhukov (Continued on Page Eight)

They're Real Fancy Pants, Too

NEW YORK (UP)—Today's woman wears the pants at home, even if hubby bosses the household. This fall, the top fashions for heartside are fancy trousers and skirts, or the two in combination and many of them so elaborate you'd think the wearer was headed for a ball. "It's about time glamor at home caught on," said young Tom Brigrance, an old hand at creating leisure wear NOT meant for bending over a hot cook stove. "I've always opposed that jeans-at-home business," said Brigrance. "Jeans aren't feminine.... they're too workmanlike." Brigrance advocates an at-home wardrobe, and if you're not constructed for those skinny trousers

He May Be Boss, She Wears The Pants

There are plenty of skirts—some street length, some sweeping the floor. One of the most striking costumes in his collection is black taffeta combined with yellow satin. Others Doing Same The taffeta is used for a coat, and on the lines of a man's shirt, but with eyelet cutout around the hem to help display the yellow trousers. Brigrance is just one of numerous designers lending oomph to the heartside. Leo Ritter, a furrier, made mink jackets to top lounging pajamas. (Continued on Page Eight)

Spring Branch Set For Big Homecoming

On Sunday, October 13th at eleven o'clock, historic Spring Branch Church will observe another annual homecoming and harvest day. This occasion will mark the 162nd anniversary of the church. The present building dates back to 1905. Originally the church was called Mingo (from 1795 to 1832) until the congregation "split" over the subject of missions. The "missionary group" outnumbering the "anti-missionary," organized a new church located near a small branch known as Spring Branch, hence the name "Spring Branch Church" came into being. Old Mingo Church was in the Neuse Association from 1795 to about 1840 when it transferred to the Raleigh association, remaining in it until 1858, at which time it withdrew to help form the Cedar Creek Association. It was at Spring Branch when the Raleigh Association met there Oct. 10, 1846 that the association accepted Matthew T. Yates as their missionary to China. Mr. Yates was present, and often referred to the occasion in his writings. (Continued On Page Eight)

Burney issued a statement Tuesday night saying tests by the U. S. Public Health Service and state and city laboratories reveal "no significant difference between domestic and foreign toys in the matter of lead content of paint." The statement was made in reply to reports that paint used on Japanese toys sold in retail stores in the United States could give children lead poisoning. Burney said Public Health Service study was made with the aid of a group of consultants "who are experts in lead poisoning."

Reiterates Soldiers Invading Girls' Privacy

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., (UP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus claimed today he has names, addresses and telephone numbers of persons who can support his charge that soldiers enforcing integration at Central High School invaded the privacy of the girls' dressing rooms. He indicated that his informants included students, teachers and possibly members of the military itself. "I do not choose to release the names of the students at this time because they probably would be expelled," Faubus told a news conference. "If I named a teacher or teachers they probably would be fired. If I named a soldier or soldiers they would probably be court-martialed." Proof of Wrong He said this was "further proof" that military enforcement of integration and the presence of troops at the school is "impracticable." He noted there had been "frantic denials" in Washington of his charge, originally made Monday to Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, federal trooper commander here, that soldiers had accompanied Negro girl students into dressing rooms. The White House, on the same day the charge was made public, denounced them as "completely untrue and completely vulgar." Nine Negro students arrived as usual today in an Army station wagon escorted by National Guardsmen in two jeeps. White students were clustered about the entrance, but ignored what has become a familiar scene. Pictures of Brass Faubus exhibited two pictures (Continued On Page Two)

He said the current sum allotted to the United States satellite program was 110 million dollars and that this figure might have to be increased.
