Highway Death Called Accident

An inquest jury put down as "an unavoidable accident" the death of George McNeil, 65-year-old colored man, who was struck on Monday and knocked from Lee into Harnett County.

Lee County had jurisdiction because the accident had taken place there. The coroner, Dr. J. H. Byerly, reported that Norman Lee Cour Olson, a Fort Bragg sergeant, was exonerated of blame in the accident which took McNeil's life.

The sergeant told the jury, said the coroner, that he was driving alone and it was very dark. The Negro man, he said, was wearing an old army jacket and had taken a sudden step into the road. When he saw him, it was too late to stop.

Two other persons testified said Dr. Byerly, that they had passed a Negro believed to be the same man some half an hour before the accident took place. They reported that he was standing in the middle of the road and they had to swerve to avoid hitting him.

Dr. Byerly said the dead man's wife said she hadn't known where he was, what he was doing or why he was.

Dunn Rotarians Tuesday night devoted their entire program to paying tribute to Earl McD. Westbrook, a man who hasn't missed attending a weekly Rotary meeting since he joined the Dunn club 31 years ago.

The club set aside the evening and called it "Earl Westbrook Night" in recognition of the remarkable—almost fantastic record of perfect and consecutive attendance.

Mr. Westbrook, who is one of Eastern Carolina's leading business men and the head of a dozen or more different far-flung business enterprises, is believed to hold an all-time record for Rotary attendance.

Dunn's mayor for four years and a city councilman for six years—and the only man in history to be named twice as Dunn's "Man of the Year," Westbrook has headed practically every civic organization in the town and a number of State organizations as well.

"The town, community and State have been blessed because Earl Westbrook has let some of the spirit and fellowship of Rotary rub off him onto his many

Ike Is Going To Top Level Talks In Paris

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower announced today he plans to go to Paris in December to join other heads of government at the annual meeting of the NATO Council.

The President said that before going to Paris he will confer with Republican and Democratic congressional leaders. The conferences, he said, would be designed to keep this country on a single track in its foreign relations.

While in Europe, the President said he also would like to visit London, but he did not know whether the London visit could be arranged because of the difficulties involved in his remaining out of the country for any length of time.

The President announced his Paris trip at a crowded news conference, his first in three weeks.

"Bill," unofficial town mascot, is sort of a character. He likes to land on women's heads and pull their hair, nip at toes of women wearing open-toed shoes, ride on hoods of cars and chase cats and dogs.

Joins Charles' 'Real Father' At Murder Trial

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—The stepfather of a 19-year-old youth accused of slaying his mother's fiance has joined the boy's real father as defense attorney in his murder trial.

John Angus, a retired Chicago attorney now living in Las Vegas, Nev., made a surprise appearance Tuesday as testimony began in the trial of Charles Lee Guy III, formerly of Dunn, N. C.

"I felt I should do what I could for boy," Angus said. Charles Lee Guy Jr., a recorder's court prosecutor at Dunn, already had received special permission to assist in the defense.

The youth is charged with the shotgun slaying last Aug. 15 of meat company executive Guy F. Roberts. Roberts was shot to death as he slept at a motel here. Mrs. Nina Angus, 36, told police she had planned to marry Roberts.

In an opening statement, prosecutor Dep. Dist. Atty. David N. Fitts told the 10-woman, two-man jury, completed earlier Tuesday that the shooting victim was "in a state of intoxication at the time of his death."

The court then heard the preliminary hearing testimony transcript of Santa Monica Police Officer Raleigh C. Wilkerson in which the officer stated he found a shirt and a tie and a loaded 16-gauge shotgun shell discarded

Goblin-Chasers Extra Police On Duty Halloween

Nearly every television musical show for the past week has been full of goblins, witches and Halloween horse-play so the big night itself—a glance at the calendar shows that it comes tomorrow evening—may be something of an anti-climax.

However, the town of Dunn is gearing up to protect itself from any rough stuff by the younger set. Empie Hall, publicity chairman for the Rotary Club, said that, as in past years, his organization is shelling out pay to put all available policemen to work that night.

Dr. Glenn Hooper, Sr., introduced this idea of hiring extra policemen to Rotary some years ago. It has worked, says Empie, very well. Last year, he reports, there was no vandalism to speak of, partly because the youngsters were well aware that a large staff of policemen were vigorously patrolling the streets.

"You know, you have to watch for the older ones, too," said Empie. "It's not just the kids who cause trouble on Halloween."

Several churches in town have joined in the attempt to siphon off youthful high spirits into good works. Thus, you can expect some of the bell-ringers tomorrow night to be tiny representatives of UNICEF, trick or treating not for themselves but for "the children of all the world."

The Presbyterian, Baptist, Christian and Methodist Churches are squandering these helpful trick and treaters and will give each one official name tags and identification to separate them from youngsters who are acting strictly on behalf of themselves.

"When these ghosts and goblins ring your doorbell," they suggest, "please have your pennies and

Sheriff Denies Authorship Of Court-Baiting Article

Sheriff Claude Moore, ed of the Supreme Court in an attempt at spoofing their attack on the South's separate but equal doctrine.

"Don't you say that I wrote that. I wouldn't have sense enough for one thing," said the sheriff.

The sheriff stated he had first seen the piece when a traveling salesman showed it to him. He agreed with the man that it was "right cute," the sheriff said, and the salesman had urged him to have his secretary make him his own copy, laying it on her desk.

Sheriff Moore said the editor of the Harnett County News, Frank

Steele, had apparently picked it up from there and concluded it was the sheriff's own words. This is the piece as printed by the Harnett weekly:

"Sheriff C. R. Moore is in a quandary about some things and he has written the following list of things he would like to know:

"Will you help me get the following information from the United States Supreme Court.

"Before I start my next year's crop, I would like to get things straight, since the Supreme Court has changed so many things that

This is the pack whose cubmaster was Skinny Ennis, Ennis, saddled with new duties as chairman of the Dunn recreation commission, had to give up the post this summer.
