Crack Musicians Perform Before Large Audience

HIGH SCHOOL MUSIC-MAKERS—This is a full-length portrait of Dunn High's big band which, like other music-making organizations, has been pressed hard by the holidays. Director Harvey Bosell, at center, spent long hours rehearsing his musicians in a complex Christmas concert recently given at the high school.

The band surprised parents with the zing of its presentations, offered a program that ranged from rousing tunes to the sacred Christmas hymns. The high school's large stage and auditorium make a fitting concert hall for band, which has steadily grown under the hands of Conductor Bosell. (Daily Record Photo.)

Talks Slated With Russians At Early Date

PARIS (UP)—The United States and its NATO allies agreed unanimously today to strengthen the Atlantic alliance's defensive shield with American missiles and nuclear stockpiles in Europe. At the same time, they agreed unanimously today to talks with the Russians.

Full agreement on the entire summit conference agenda was hammered out by the foreign and defense ministers of the 15 NATO countries at a meeting this morning. It was then submitted for final indorsement by the heads of government at their third working session, which began at 6:10 p. m.

U. S. delegation sources hastened to stress that no "deal" was involved. They said the United States did not agree to new East-West talks merely to win the European members' acceptance of American missiles in the NATO defense shield.

Two-Way Plan
The agreement still has to be spelled out in detail. But it constituted, in effect, a sweeping two-way plan for putting new vitality into the alliance. It will bolster the NATO group with every modern weapon in the West's arsenal while at the same time seeking new talks with Russia to end the nuclear arms race.

The agreement came as the NATO conference, spurred by the United States' successful launching of the Atlas missile, headed into the home stretch.

America's NATO allies accepted in principle the U. S. offer of nuclear stockpiles and missile bases in Europe. Decisions on just where these would be established were left for further review. In any case, the bases could not be ready for use for at least another 12 to 18 months.

All 15 countries approved in principle a British plan for a balanced NATO force to which each nation would contribute those arms it is best able to provide.

They agreed on further integration of NATO armed forces, establishment of an integrated NATO air defense system in Europe, tighter concentration of supply services and closer integration of navies.

Christmas Parties In Full Swing Here

Midnight Service On Christmas Eve

When the clock chimes twelve on Christmas Eve, Hood Memorial Christmas Church will hold its annual midnight service.

For an hour preceding midnight, soft organ music will fill the church and Mrs. Thomas Jackson will continue to provide an organ background during the actual service which will be done entirely to candlelight.

Those who attend are to enter and leave the sanctuary in complete silence.

Becky Jo Cannady will appear as Mary in a tableau of the Madonna.

Theme of the candlelight ceremony will be, "In the Stillness of the Night." Christmas Eve falls on Tuesday night.

The two speaking parts in the service will be taken by James Surles and Mrs. Mamie Clyde Jeffers.

Eugene Huggins, choir director, will sing "O Holy Night" and "In the Stillness of the Night." The tableau will be the center of worship.

Rev. Jack M. Daniell, pastor of the church, will pronounce the benediction. This is the fourth year that the midnight service has been conducted at the Dunn church.

LONDON (UP)—A Soviet scientist has predicted that flights to the moon will be possible within the next 10 years, Moscow Radio reported today.

TIMES ARE TOUGH AGAIN
NEW YORK (UP)—One subway rider must have been disappointed when the subway strike ended Monday. A letter to the New York Daily News read: "It has been a pleasure riding the jammed subways these past few days, and I trust the strike will continue for many weeks to come."
It was signed, "Ralph, the pick-pocket."

CARE TO TRAVEL?
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Actor Cornel Wilde has concocted a new cocktail which he calls "The Constellation." "Four of them and you join outer space."

SPINNER OF GIFTS—The almost-90-year-old hands of Mrs. P. H. Westbrook (above) made all the Christmas gifts in this colorfully wrapped boxful. A resident of the new Hinson Rest Home in Dunn, she made the gifts for relatives and for friends who work at the home. She will be 90 this coming Spring. (Daily Record photo by Ted Crall.)

Big Sing Coming On Xmas Eve

Everybody, including those with tonsillitis or a general monotone, is invited to the big sing around the town Christmas tree on the evening of December 24.

Spirit not voice quality will count at this big community sing.

Mrs. Wendy Hunter, manager of the local Chamber of Commerce, said the tree (located near the Catholic Church) should be brightening the avenues within another night or two.

Complete plans for the sing are to be announced later.

Dulles Warns Against Any Red Promises

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles tossed a new warning against Soviet promises today into the Allied debate in Paris over the advisability of East-West talks.

In an article in Life magazine appearing on newsstands today, Dulles said the Soviet Union is seeking the break-up of Western alliances and Western acceptance of expanded Communist world influence as the price of a cold war armistice.

A 24-year record of broken Russian promises shows that the free world can rely on no agreement with the Communists that it cannot enforce, Dulles wrote.

An unenforceable armistice agreement could imperil the anti-Communist world, Dulles indicated, if it lulled the West into letting down its guard.

Diplomats were surprised at the timing of Dulles' expression of views on the dangers of trying to do business with the Russians. The article, released simultaneously by the State Department and the magazine, appeared just a week after Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin called for new East-West talks.

The State Department said the article was written long before the receipt of Bulganin's messages to Western leaders, although the current NATO "summit" meeting had already been scheduled.

Benson Place Is Padlocked

Hudson's Place, a combination restaurant and hot dog stand operated by Arthur Hudson on the south side of Main Street in Benson, was padlocked late Friday afternoon under a temporary order signed by Judge Leo Carr of Burlington, who was presiding over Johnston Superior Court.

Hudson was ordered to appear before Judge Clawson L. Williams of Sanford in Lillington at 2:30 Monday afternoon, January 6, to "show cause, if any he has, why this order should not be made permanent until the hearing."

District Solicitor W. Jack Hooks in a civil complaint requested the padlocking order on the grounds that Hudson's Place was operated

Building Dedicated At Xmas Banquet

Rev. Andrew Stirling, state superintendent of Assemblies of God, was the speaker last night as members and wives of the Men's Fellowship gathered for a Christmas banquet.

The meeting-place was a recently completed building located on

C. A. Jernigan's pond which the men's fellowship has prepared for church and community activities.

The new building is 25 by 50 feet long. The formal dedication was held in conjunction with last night's party.

Denies Butler Had Small Boys In Car

A witness to the incidents on Highway 301, where highway patrolmen claim they picked up two drag-racers Saturday night, has objected to a statement in yesterday's Record that "small boys" were riding in the car of Charles Butler.

Butler, one of two youths held and charged with racing, claimed he was only out there to watch.

Princess Attends Naughty Stage Play

LONDON (UP)—Princess Margaret showed up unexpectedly Tuesday night at a play in which a nearly-nude actress portrays Britannia.

Margaret stared unblushingly at the beautiful showgirl posing 50 feet away from her in a scene in the play "The Entertainer" which stars Sir Laurence Olivier.

The princess went to the theater on a snap decision. Her appearance surprised officials, but they made no attempt to censor the scene.

The play was written by John Osborne, author of "Look Back in Anger" which is now running in a New York theater.

Court circles were surprised at Margaret's visit because Osborne recently made a bitter attack on royalty.

She Liked It
Friends said Margaret enjoyed the play.

Earlier Tuesday the Princess passed up an invitation to the wedding of another of her old escorts, handsome millionaire Christopher Loyd.

Billy Wallace, who has become

Directors Salute Dr. McQueen

Hutaff Takes Post On Hospital Board

Charles D. Hutaff, Sr., Dunn businessman, has been named to a life position on the board of directors of Betsy Johnson Memorial Hospital here.

He fills a vacancy created by the death of Dr. Angus McQueen, widely-known minister and educator who died at the hospital of which he was a director of December 7. Dr. McQueen was 81 years old.

Hutaff's appointment to the board was announced this morning by board chairman Myers Tilghman, following a regular meeting last night.

Others who serve on the board are Lofton Tart, Raymond Cromartie, Dr. C. L. Corbett, Dr. J. R. Johnson, J. R. Byrd, and Earl McD. Westbrook.

The board joined in adopting a resolution in tribute to Dr. McQueen. Hospital administrator Hoyle Green released the text of the resolution this morning. It read:

"... In the passing of Dr. Angus R. McQueen the board of trustees of the Betsy Johnson Memorial Hospital... has lost a loyal and faithful member... (who) served in this capacity with good judgment in all matters affecting the operation of the hospital."
