Rural Raiders Get 30 Stills In October

The month of October is distinguished for Harnett County rural policemen by the great raid on its thirteenth day when they captured a 20-still setup in Anderson Creek township.

Anybody manufacturing whisky on a bigger scale than that takes place in advertisements in Esquire. Otherwise, as the month-end still report shows, it was a fairly calm month only three other locations struck down by the county raiders.

On October 8, six drum stills and 30 gallons of whisky were captured of Neill's Creek township.

The raid on the 13th yielded, besides the 20 stills, 4800 gallons of beer, 40 cases of jars, 6 gas tanks, 8 condensers, and four burners.

Shortly before this raid they had seized a 1949 pickup which was hauling an enormous (300-gallon) load of whisky. The pickup was stopped during a search for the tobacco rustlers who stole hefty poundage here before farmers sitting up with shotguns discouraged them from further adventures.

On October 21, two vat stills. (Continued On Page Two)

It's The Night for Goblins, Ghosts And Witches

Trick Or Treat Tonite

United Press International The nation's sidewalks will be overrun with goblins and ghosts tonight while millions of youngsters make purposeful "trick or treat" Halloween calls on behalf of the world's hungry children.

Officials of various cities have mapped out campaigns to channel youthful energy into constructive outlets, such as supervised "vandalism" and collecting pennies for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (unicef). Some children, however, will go their own way.

First reports indicated that destructive vandalism would be down from preceding years, but Indianapolis police said stolen stop signs have already caused some accidents. There also were instances Thursday night of broken windows, flat tires and stolen auto appliances.

Trickster Wounded In Dicknell, Ind., a teacher, Miss Carla Harbaugh, shot and seriously wounded one of her grammar school students when the boy tried to scatter corn on her front porch. The boy, Earl Martin, 13, and some friends had been throwing corn while the rest of the town was at a Halloween parade. A bullet intended to pass over his head struck him in the throat.

On the bright side, many communities were proud of their tots' (Continued On Page Two)

Decade Of Improvements Recommended

RALEIGH (UPI) — The State Board of Education asked the Advisory Budget Commission today for $89,819,369 to be spent during the next 10 years for capital improvements for state-supported colleges and universities.

The state would not have to provide the full amount, however. The board figures that $11,825,000 would be returned to the state if dormitories were self-liquidated by one-half the total expenditure. That computation would leave the state with a total bill of $78,194,369 for the 1959-69 period.

That figure compares with about $100,000,000 spent during the 1947-57 years. But the board said it has "clear evidence of poor planning as regards locations of buildings and as regards the design of buildings for projected uses" during that earlier period.

The board based its request on enrollment "projections" which give a probable 70-75 minimum enrollment in the schools of 72,000 and a probable maximum of 90,000.

Bulk To UNC The bulk of the requested funds would go to the Consolidated University of North Carolina. The total for the Consolidated University for the 10-year period was set at $47,433,399 with $22,617,336 in 1959-61 and $24,826,063 for 1961-69.

The smaller schools and community colleges would, however, get the bulk of their funds in the second period from 1961-69. That allocation would mean that the total scheduled would spend $36,526,066 in the next two years and $53,293,063 in the last eight years.

Breakdown Broken down by schools, the schedule calls for: UNC, $16,847,399; Division of Health Affairs, $6,106,000; N. C. State, $18,164,000; Agricultural Experiment Station, $1,874,300; Woman's College, $4,451,100; East Carolina College, $6,991,300; A & T, $4,963,525; Western Carolina, $2,896,735; Appalachian, $5,255,900; Pembroke State, $1,355,000; Winston-Salem Teachers, $2,318,500; Elizabeth City Teachers, $1,454,000; Fayetteville Teachers, $2,017,850; N. Killer Leads Posse To Women's Bodies

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Confessed killer Harvey Morris Giaman, 30, early today led a posse of policemen through a barren desert area to the remains of two of his three women victims.

The remains found in the uninhabited earthquake valley section of Anza State Park about 80 miles northeast of here were those of attractive model Ruth Rita Mercado, 24, missing since last July, and Mrs. Shirley Ann Bridgeford, 24, mother of two children, missing since last March.

Avalanching Rollcall For Scout Dinner

Just one side of the county has already yielded more than 500 reservations for the District Annual Boy Scout Dinner.

"We don't know where we'll put everybody," said District Executive John Bush, "but we're glad so many will come."

This is the banquet where top adult leaders in scouting are recognized for their achievements. The outstanding scoutmaster, den mother, cub master and district scout leader will all be named for special awards.

New district officers will be installed by John Shutt, of Raleigh, executive of the Oconeechee Council. An award will be given to the scout unit with the best attendance and to the best scouting theme table decoration.

Training awards will go to unit leaders and den mothers who have completed scouting training and tenure. Scoutmasters go through 10 phases of training and serve three successive years as an active scout leader to receive this recognition.

Guest speaker at the banquet will be R. P. Woodson, treasurer of Occidental Life Insurance Company and an active Boy Scout enthusiast.

Reservations are now being taken for the November 18 banquet which will be held in the Campbell College dining hall and begin at 7:30 p.m. "The idea of the dinner," said Bush, "is to recognize unit leaders and scouting committeemen for work they have done during the year. This night is for parents only."

Sees Nixon A Shoo-In 'Last Campaign' For Malpass

Republican Congressional candidate C. Dana Malpass didn't hesitate to make county Democratic chairman D. K. Stewart part of his visiting list as he made the rounds in Harnett yesterday and today. "I wanted to tell him about the advantages of the two-party system," said Malpass. He admitted rather sadly that this will probably be his last campaign. Malpass says that in 1956 he "pulled the largest vote of any Republican candidate for Congress" (Continued On Page Two)

SHE'S DOMESTIC, TOO—Pretty Carolyn Gardner, "Miss Dunn of 1958-59" is a very busy young lady. In addition to being the town's reigning beauty queen, which requires constant personal appearances, she's an honor student at Campbell College. And she still finds time for cooking and assisting her mother with house-keeping. Here, Carolyn is shown on a shopping trip in Dunn's new Piggly Wiggly super market, stocking up for the weekend on super-nutritious Made-Rite bread. "We always prefer Made-Rite," said Carolyn. "All my family loves it." And such a statement from a lovely lady like Carolyn should make President E. T. Franklin of Made-Rite Bakeries in Goldsboro very happy. (Daily Record Photo.)

Helicopter Joins Hunt For Woman, 90

A helicopter from Fort Bragg today joined the search for a 90-year-old colored woman missing from her home in the Spring Lake section of Harnett County.

Sheriff Claude Moore reported that the woman, Cattie Barnes, was gone when her daughter returned yesterday from a trip to get a ton of wood.

Mrs. Barnes lived with two daughters on Spring Lake, Route 1. Neighbors joined in the search after a preliminary scouting of the community failed to turn her up. The sheriff and Rural Police- man Walker O'Quinn led a large band of the woman's friends as they tramped the woods for her last night.

This morning Moore contacted Fort Bragg and arranged to have the helicopter explore the area in combination with searchers on the ground.

DUNN LOSES

Halloween aside, this was Gloom Day in earnest at Dunn High School. Last night they were defeated for the division title by Massey Hill, losing 12-7 that knocks them out of any chance to advance in the state playoffs. See Sports Page for details.

Billy Goat Held For Chasing Girls

MORRISTOWN, Tenn. (UPI) — A gallivanting billy goat with a penchant for women was up for grabs today.

The billy goat, also known as the tiger of the Tigertown community, was arrested Thursday after several people complained that he was chasing women and children but leaving men alone.

The goats was first put in a cell at the county jail but the other prisoners objected. Deputy Johnny French tied him outside.

"He's just a lively fellow, but a fine goat," French said. "He's still not claimed and if the owner doesn't show up, anyone wanting him may have him."

Jealous Lover Kills His Rival

WHITEVILLE (UPI) — Floyd Kelly of Bolton was held without bond today in the fatal shooting of a love rival who was to have been deported today.

Columbus County Sheriff J. R. Pridden said Thursday that Kelly had admitted the lover's lane shotgun slaying Wednesday night of Francis Pepper, 26. Pepper, a British subject who had worked in a pulpwood mill at Acme, N. C. since 1948, had been ordered to leave the country because his visa had expired. He was to have left for England today.

Mary Benson of Acme told Deputy Sheriff T. B. Coie that Kelly followed her and Pepper Wednesday night when they drove to a lonely, rural lover's lane. She said Kelly ordered them out of the car and then shot Pepper.

LITTLE NOTES ABOUT PEOPLE AND THINGS

Dunn's American Legion post won't hold its traditional free feed this Armistice Day — or Veterans' Day, as it's now designated. "The post treasury just can't stand it," explained Major George Franklin Blalock. "Those fortunate enough to hear the Rev. Clarence Corbett, Jr. at Dunn's First Baptist Church last Sunday morning said Doc really did himself exceptionally fine sermon. This coming Sunday, the popular young Dunn minister is holding Homecoming Day at his Calvary Baptist Church, a few miles on the outskirts of Dunn. John Green, popular Dunn man who's well known in farm machinery circles, is now with McLamb Machinery, Inc. It's the quietest campaign year we've known in a long time. Most people don't even realize that a national election is to be held Tuesday. "What are we supposed to be voting on?" somebody asked this morning. C. Dana Malpass of Wilmington, a politician of the old school and the Republican opponent of Congressman Alton Lennon, was in the office today to remind everybody that there is an election Tuesday. A kindly old gentleman with a twinkle in his eye, Candidate Malpass lists his varied vocations as a minister, evangelist, laborer, farmer, editor, author, publisher, and former postal employee, salesman, soldier and teacher. At least, nobody can accuse him of being inexperienced. According to a report he gave us, running for office on the Republican ticket is pretty rugged in this staunch Democratic territory. It cost him $225 to file for the office, and as yet he hasn't been able to talk Republicans out of but $174 to reimbursement. "A millionaire" (Continued On Page Two)

Farmer Claims Land Neglect, Collects $5,000 Private wrath has cost John Sorrell Jr. of near Dunn five times as much as his public arrest for operating a liquor still. Sorrell and John E. West were sued in Chatham County Superior Court at Pittsboro by a landlord who claimed that they had neglected his land while running a booze mill there. Judge Susie Sharp awarded H. C. Sprinkle $5000 from the pair of defendants for allowing the farm land to deteriorate. Earlier this year Sorrell was convicted of manufacturing non-taxpaid whisky and was fined $500 in Pittsboro's Recorder's Court.

West (not charged in the criminal case) was held equally liable with Sorrell in the civil suit. Sprinkle accused the pair of being so busy making liquor they didn't keep up the farm land rented to them along the Chatham-Wake County line.
