Judge Orders New Capias For Arrest Of Former Banker

Superior Court Judge W. Reed Thompson today ordered a new capias issued for the arrest of C. G. Fields, former Angier banker, vice chairman of the Harnett County Board of Commissioners and one-time prominent political leader.

Fields, who served a term in Federal prison for embezzlement of funds from the Angier branch of the First Citizens Bank and Trust Company while serving as its cashier, was scheduled to appear in Harnett Superior Court today for failure to comply with a court order to pay off a $5,500 worthless check issued to his bonding company.

Under terms of his court sentence, Fields was to pay into the court $600 a year until the $5500 was paid off. A balance of approximately $1500 still remains.

It was the second term of court at which Fields failed to appear and when District Solicitor Archie Taylor, Sheriff Wade Stewart informed the court that efforts to locate Fields had been unsuccessful.

He said at last reports Fields was employed in the shipyards at Norfolk but has now left there without leaving a forwarding address behind him.

Judge Thompson ordered a new capias issued for Fields arrest and instructed officers to continue their diligent search and bring him into court.

Fields had served several terms as a county commissioner, was vice chairman at the time of his indictment, and was also a member of the county welfare board. He was treasurer of the Harnett Democratic Executive Committee and a leader in other Harnett affairs.

Ike Spending Day On White House Routine

(UPI) White House Reporter LONDON (UPI) — President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan agreed to disagree on an East-West summit conference, it was reported on the highest authority today.

But the U. S. and British leaders, the sources said, would up their cold war talks here hopefully—though not necessarily confident—that Eisenhower's talks with Russia's Premier Nikita Khrushchev ultimately may lead to a summit conference.

The President interrupted his cold war peace mission to devote himself to an accumulation of White House business. He spent most of the day working at his desk at Winfield House, official residence of U. S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney.

Company for Tea However, in the afternoon he was host to India's high commissioner in London, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, sister of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, and a number of other guests at tea.

He also spent some time knocking a golf ball around the spacious grounds of Winfield House.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President also signed 27 congressional bills.

Hagerty said the President probably will spend a few days at Culzean Castle in Scotland after his trip to Paris this week. The President probably will fly direct. (Continued On Page Five)

Escaped On Shoots Divorcee To Death

Children See Mother Slain

CHARLOTTE (UPI) — A young escaped convict was recaptured in a hotel room here early today and charged with shooting a 32-year-old divorcee to death before the eyes of her four young daughters.

Authorities said Emmett Jefford 24, killed a woman identified as Mrs. Marcellene Hathcock with a 22-caliber pistol during a scuffle with another man at the victim's home in Kannapolis.

The woman was shot through the temple. She was rushed to a Charlotte hospital, where she died about two hours after the shooting.

Officers said Jefford, an escaper from the Alleghany Prison Camp at Sparta, fled to Charlotte in a cab after stopping off at the home of another woman following the shooting. Rowan County deputies said the arrest was made. (Continued On Page Five)

Dollar Hill Costly To Motorists

The Dollar Hill, gaining a reputation for causing another wreck in every heavy rain, had another victim Saturday night.

A car driven by Lawrence Odell Parks, 27-year-old colored resident of Bunnlevel, went out of control on the hill, hit the embankment and turned end over end.

Edward McDougal, 22, a passenger, received a head gash that required six stitches.

Highway Patrolman Herman Ward said the driver told him that he had run out of gas as he went into the downhill curve a mile north of Bunnlevel on U.S. 401.

"The car apparently lost traction because of the wetness and began to skid," said Ward. No charges have been preferred.

Ike Given Rave Notice In London

LONDON (UPI) —British television critics gave President Eisenhower rave notices today but Prime Minister Harold Macmillan did not come off so well.

The critics agreed the President stole the show from Macmillan in their 20-minute chat Monday night.

The Daily Telegraph columnist wondered how many viewers "shared my impression of the outstanding sweetness of disposition in Mr. Eisenhower."

"The man glowed with a simple sincerity which his occasional verbal hesitations enhanced rather than diminished," he said.

The Daily Herald said the President gave the British public a picture of "an honest, earnest, dedicated man of peace. He's a great guy."

The Herald and some other papers said Macmillan used the broadcast for unwarranted electioneering for his Conservative Party.

In Paternity Case Blood Test Raises Problem

A paternity suit scheduled for trial in Harnett Superior Court has been delayed because, it's hard to get blood from a baby.

Counsel for Charles Butler, a young printer and racing driver accused of fathering a child by Anne MacDonald, moved for a continuance because a blood test has not been made.

Solicitor Archie Taylor then described to the court the difficulties discovered in trying to get blood from the baby.

After several unsuccessful attempts, Taylor said, the child was taken to a Fayetteville specialist who said blood could only be taken from its jugular vein — a rather serious procedure.

Stogsdill Resigning As Dunn Policeman

Paul Stogsdill, a member of the Dunn police force for the past five and a half years, will resign to devote full-time to an already thriving business.

For the past several months, Stogsdill has spent off-hours at Jerry's Drive-In, the combination drive-in and restaurant in the Quinn Shopping Center.

There has been a quick surge in business since the Stogsdill's took over and Paul is inclined to credit his wife, Jerry, for that.

He said he would miss police work but thinks it's time he began to devote full-time to the restaurant.

A one-time lab technician at Erwin Mills, Stogsdill left that to become an insurance agent and later joined the Dunn police force.

The full 11-man Interstate Commerce Commission Monday affirmed the action last week of a three-member sub-group which voted not to block the rate increases.

Railway Express said the higher rates would bring in about 16 million dollars additional revenue annually.

The youngsters had a big day at Lake Chesterfield—great crowd of them present for the event—and wound it up with a picnic supper at the Angier school cafeteria.

A baseball game with their pops had been tentatively scheduled but it was rained out.

'Man Could Get Shot Very Easy'

Harnett's sheriff and rural policemen agreed that this is a season for caution.

The possibility of tobacco thefts have put many farmers on edge although only one report of 700 pounds stolen has come in so far.

Sheriff Wade Stewart said, "I wouldn't want to go near a man's barns just now unless he knew I was there."

Said a rural policeman, "A man could get shot very easy now. These people are laying with it."

Tobacco rustlers carried off considerable leaf last year, coming down on it just before the grower had carried it off to market.

There have been reports both this year and last that some farmers have taken to watching their leaf through the night with shotguns at the ready.

Tilghman Advises: Pick Cotton Dry

Farmers who pick cotton early, clean, and dry will get the top support price for it," is the comment of Myers Tilghman of Dunn, cotton grower and ginner.

Mr. Tilghman is a member of the Quality Improvement Committee of the North Carolina Cotton Promotion Association. He spearheaded the successful campaign of this Committee in 1958 to improve the farmers income by urging quality harvesting of cotton in North Carolina.

Pointing out that "a bale of one-inch white middling cotton brings $39.50 more in the 1959 support rate than a gray bale," Mr. Tilghman urged farmers to plan their cotton harvesting carefully. He went on to say:

"The additional money is important, and so is the production. (Continued On Page Six)
