IKE OPPOSES BIRTH CONTROL AID

THEY SCORED ON SMITHFIELD — These front-office employees of Carolina Telephone and Telegraph scored what division headquarters described as an 18-0 win over Smithfield. They made their yardage by outselling the Smithfield phone force on various "extra services." Mañager Henry Bridges had his not-too-brawny winning team suited up to commemorate the occasion today. Left to right are Mrs. Betty Lou Caldwell, Mrs. Mae Parkers, Mrs. Madeline Stanley and Mrs. Geraldine Byrd. (Record Photo.)

Other Towns Have Exceeded Goal Quotas

By J. SHEPARD BRYAN
Publicity Chairman
There are a lot of "reasons" stated for the failure of the Community of Dunn to meet its United Fund requirements, but the sad fact remains that other communities of our size and financial standing have raised their quota—and have done so 30 days ago.
It might be interesting to know that the following named towns had raised more than 100% of their United Fund quota by November 6, 1959: Wilmington, Burlington, Clemson, S. C., Asheboro, Rocky Mount, High Point, Hickory, Raleigh, Reidsville, Salisbury, and by this time dozens of other towns have gone over the top 100%.
Major Blalock, Campaign Chairman, prophesied that the United Fund would be abandoned in favor of multiple drives if this 1959 year did not meet with success. That abandonment of the United Fund would not look so bad if it were not true that failure of United Fund this year would cause industries seeking progressive towns in which to locate their factories to pass by Dunn in favor of the community of town which did

Says It Would Be Morally Disastrous

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower today firmly opposed involving the federal government in any way with assisting other nations with birth control advice.
Eisenhower told his news conference he could not imagine a subject more improper as a matter of government responsibility or function than birth control.
Furthermore, Eisenhower said that as long as he is president the United States government will have absolutely nothing to do with advising other nations on their birth control problems. If another country wants birth control advice, he said it could seek professional information.
The birth control controversy flared anew after the Roman Catholic bishops of the United States charged last week that a "propaganda campaign" was being waged to pave the way for U. S. support of "artificial birth prevention" programs in underdeveloped countries which are experiencing population pressures.
Declaring that this would be a

Girl Kisses Stranger Wins $618

CHICAGO (UPI) — A farm girl kissed a stranger Monday and won $618 for her fiancé.
As a result of that kiss, Black Jewel, the grand champion steer of the International Live Stock Exposition, sold for $22,356 and its owner, Roy Maass, 21, of Remsen, Iowa, will plow a few extra acres next spring.
The kiss climaxed the bidding on Black Jewel, a 1,050-pound Aberdeen Angus, at the exposition auction. The top price of $22,356, or $21.60 a pound, was paid by the Howard Johnson restaurant chain.
The bidding had reached nearly $20 a pound when Ellard Pfaltzer, representing the Johnson chain, pointed to Maass's fiancée, Darlene Hansen, 21, and announced:
"If this little girl will kiss me I'll raise it a dollar."
Darlene, a pretty, auburn-haired farm girl obliged happily, and the bidding continued until Black Jewel was knocked down to

Santa Comes For Xmas Parade

Beauty Queens and an Infant Clown
A 10-month-old clown, a roller-skater in his sixties, that fountain of youth, Captain Five, and ageless, matchless old Saint Nick himself will all be in the Dunn Christmas parade which starts at 5 p.m. on Friday.
It was a harried Wesley Coates, general chairman of the parade, who raced about town today, putting a final touch on arrangements.
This year's big Christmas jump

$15,000 Cotton Load Stolen, Then Found

Truck-Thief Not Apprehended
A stolen truck loaded with 50 bales of cotton and valued at $15,000 was recovered this morning on a curve of the river road near Erwin.
"Nothing had been touched," said Police Sergeant K. M. Fail of Dunn. "The key was in the truck. Apparently somebody just went for a ride."
The truck and its valuable load were sneaked off last night while Webster Baldwin of Fairmont, N. C., stopped to grab some supper at a Negro restaurant on East Carr Street. The restaurant is known as the "Old Hotel."
When Barfield finished his supper, he discovered the truck, parked on a side-street, was missing. Dunn police issued an alert and the abandoned vehicle was found this morning by Highway Patrolman W. C. Grady.
Sergeant Fail said it would have been almost impossible to market the cotton without a marketing card and the thief presumably did not have it in mind to convert the pay-load into cash. The truck was owned by Barfield Trucking Lines of Nichols, S.C.

Col. Bill Terrall Retires From Army

Honored At Review
FORT BENNING, Ga. — Fort Benning's Chapel Field was the scene this morning (Nov. 30) of a review honoring Lt. Col. William S. Terrall of Dunn, N. C., and Major George A. Worth of Jacksonville, Fla., as they retired from active duty, each with more than 20 years of service.
Mrs. Terrall is the former Miss Margaret Johnson of Dunn.
Music for the parade was furnished by the U.S. Army Infantry Center Band. An honor guard, commanded by Capt. Raymond P. Singer of Chicago, Ill., was formed by Company C, First Battle Group, 29th Infantry.
Brig. Gen. Chester A. Dahlen, assistant commandant of the U.S. Army Infantry School, was re-

These Little Things

By HOOVER ADAMS
KNOW ANYONE WHO HAS A PICTURE OF THESE?
Herman P. Green, who recently wrote a very excellent history of the 107-year-old Dunn Masonic Lodge, has made remarkable progress on a project that seemed next to impossible.
A few years ago, the Dunn lodge decided to hang large portraits of each past master on the wall of the lodge hall. Easier said than done, when you stop to think that the organization dates back to 1852.
Most of the past masters are deceased, of course, and in some cases it has been difficult to even locate their families or anyone who knew them.
But Herman, the live-wire manager of Dunn Production Credit Association, is not a fellow who lets a tough job stop him. He got to work on the project about a year ago and since has written dozens and dozens of letters, made innumerable phone calls and personal visits in search of the "missing mugs."
He reported today that of the 56 men who headed the lodge, he has secured portraits of all but six of them. Getting blow-ups was another problem. In one case, a small newspaper photo had to be enlarged.
Pictures are still needed of Anson Parker, who served the lodge as master for 12 years, from 1860 to 1871; Isaac Taylor, master in

Dunn Firemen Stop Broom-Straw Fire

Homes on North King Threatened
A broom-straw fire that raged through two huge vacant lots and threatened an entire line of houses along North King Avenue was brought under control short of the houses yesterday afternoon.
Firemen used water and big flat fire-brooms to cut it off while it was still several yards from the nearest home.
Howard M. Lee, secretary-treasurer of the Dunn fire department, said only prompt action can keep the fire, of unknown origin, from having extremely serious consequences.
Four trucks and 11 men fought the fire which raged through the ten and 1100 blocks on North King. The property belonged to Miss Lily Hodges of Dunn. The fire-brooms used to stamp out the flames have large rubber flaps on them.
Firemen were called out at 2:10 p.m. and had the blaze under control in less than 20 minutes.

Sandburg Likes Windy City Best

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chicago still has it all over Los Angeles or New York, according to poet Carl Sandburg, who once immortalized the Windy City as the "city of big shoulders."
"New York — why, it's tired," Sandburg told newsmen. "And Los Angeles — why, traffic is so bad out there the mayor won't let the city buy any more Cadillacs because other cars aren't as long and don't take up so much room on the streets."

Jim's Wife Charging Adultery

Jim Thornton, hillbilly band leader of Garner, is being sued for divorce on grounds of adultery and extreme cruelty, according to court papers filed in Jacksonville, Fla.
Thornton as of yesterday had not filed an answer to the complaint. Today is the deadline for the defendant to file, the Jacksonville court clerk said.
Mrs. Wadeline Thornton filed the action last October 30 and alleged in the complaint that her husband has an annual income of $75,000. Court officials said she charged Thornton with "commitment."

$100,000 Suit Being Tried

FAYETTEVILLE — A $100,000 damage suit against a Harnett County Marine entered its second day in Superior Court this morning and court officers said the case may not end until sometime Thursday.
The parents of a four-year-old girl, seriously injured in a two-car collision in front of her home near Lillington in October, 1956, are seeking to collect damages from 22-year-old Rex Bell Johnson.
The youngster, Damon Lynn Mason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bradley Mason, suffering a severe head injury when the cars collided at the intersection of Highway 27 and Spring Hill Rd.,

He Wins Again At 9, A Baffling Marksman

It's hard for turkey shoot men to understand — especially those who never did manage to draw a perfect bead on their bird.
Taylor Stephens, a 9-year-old who last year outshot a dozen adult marksmen to win himself a fine fat turkey, has done it again.
He placed a shot dead center, against another bird of twelve, at the Godwin Bros. Friday night shoot at A. J. Bros. store.
Another close beaten: his daddy.

Dear Santa...

The turkey skeleton had hardly been picked clean when the first Santa letters arrived at the Daily Record office.
As local youngsters know, the Record is glad to see that their communications to St. Nick reach him in time.
And each letter received here at the newspaper office is printed (just the way it's received, incidentally, and without those annoying changes in punctuation and spelling which the sender has a right to resent).
Here are 1959's first Letters to Santa:
Dear Santa Claus,
I want a cow boy suit.
I want a set of maverick guns.
Would you dear Santa, please bring this to me.
From Junior Jernigan
Dear Santa Claus,
I want a tiny tear doll, a carriage, clothes, crinolin, basketball.
From Mary Jernigan.

Dr. Gayle Johnson Heads Medical Staff

Dr. Gale D. Johnson, surgeon son of the founder of Betsy Johnson Memorial Hospital and grandson of its namesake, today was named president of the institution's medical staff.
At the regular monthly meeting of the staff this morning, he was named to succeed the outgoing president, Dr. J. R. Johnson.
Hospital administrator Hoyie Green announced that Dr. M. B. Poole was named vice-president, Dr. W. H. Lilly, secretary-treasurer and Dr. Charles W. Byrd, chief of staff.
Dr. Lilly, it will be a consecutive term as secretary-treasurer. During the past year he has also held the post of chief of staff. Dr. Poole succeeds Dr. C. L. Corbett as vice-president.

Joseph New Master Of Masonic Lodge

Nick Joseph became the master of Palmyra Lodge here last night. He succeeded druggist W. W. Carroll, Sr., to the top Masonic post.
A jeweler who moved to Dunn a decade ago and has been a Mason here for a half dozen years, Joseph is currently associated with B & J Jewelers in Lillington. He continues to make his home here.
H. A. Westbrook succeeded Joseph as senior warden last night and Curtis Ennis is the new junior warden.
Re-elected were R. L. Cromartie, Jr., treasurer, and Ralph Wade, secretary. Howard Johnson
