

+ WEATHER +

Fair and not as cool tonight, lowest 65-74. Friday variable cloudiness, warm and humid with scattered showers or thundershowers.

The Daily Record

VOLUME 10

TELEPHONE 3117 — 3118

DUNN, N. C., THURSDAY AFTERNOON, JUNE 16, 1960

FIVE CENTS PER COPY

NO. 139

JAPANESE CANCEL IKE'S VISIT

REVIEWS MODEL — Reverend Joseph Creech already knows what new North Clinton church will look like on completion. It will closely parallel this Mt. Elam church, shown in photo, built on the same plans. (Record Photo by Ted Crail.)

Start $31,000 Building Program

North Clinton Church Will Issue Bonds For Sanctuary

North Clinton Avenue Baptist Church expects to use "The Broadway Plan" of church finance to raise funds needed for a sanctuary which will rise on the church grounds.

The Reverend Joseph Creech, disclosing plans for the expansion program, said the Broadway Plan is a bond-issuing program which will make the financial load bearable for the church.

Last night, the mother church—Dunn's First Baptist Church on Broad Street—proposed to arrange title to the present building in which the North Clinton congregation has been meeting.

Mr. Ellis Godwin, is chairman of the building committee which will spearhead the campaign to raise a sanctuary. The sanctuary will adjoin the present building, which is the educational plant and will continue to house activities of the church.

Nearly $3000 has already been placed in the building fund by the North Clinton congregation. The

RECEIVES DEGREE

Walter H. Jernigan received his B. S. degree in business administration from the University of North Carolina last week. While at the University he was initiated into the scholastic fraternity of Phi Beta Kappa and the professional fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi.

These Little Things

By HOOVER ADAMS

ALL THOSE BEAUTIFUL DOLLS—AND JUST PASSING

Approximately 25 beauties from Europe and the Middle East will pass through Dunn (a low blow—why can't they stop overnight, anyway?) two weeks from today enroute to the Miss Universe beauty pageant in Miami. They'll be traveling via Greyhound bus and it's all part of a stunt to help promote and publicize Highway 301. The foreign beauties will fly to New York and the trip south starts there. They'll spend the first night in Washington, the second night in Rocky Mount and hit Dunn about 10:30 the following morning. They could drop Miss Paris off for a couple hours or so, anyway. There's one ray of

(Continued on Page Five)

Harnett School Enrollment Falling

Rural Exodus Means Loss Of 8 Teachers

The teacher allotment cut for Harnett County is higher than local officials had predicted and underlined the falling population in rural areas here.

Harnett Superintendent of Schools Glenn T. Proffitt, announcing there will be a net loss of eight teachers, said the reasons are (1) crop acreage reduction (2) mechanization of farms and (3) exodus of labor to industrial areas.

It has also been claimed that the school enrollment boost which came from "war babies" (more children were born during the war than before or after) has run its course in grade school levels.

The Dunn district will actually gain one high school teacher and Erwin will lose an instructor in the elementary grades, gain one for high school, to balance off. But the only other school to gain a teacher will be Johnsonville School where, like Erwin, there

(Continued On Page Six)

Terry Accused Of Deal With Kennedy Forces

RALEIGH — Robert Morgan, who is managing Beverly Lake's gubernatorial campaign, lashed out at Terry Sanford today for what he termed a "secret meeting" with representatives of Sen. John Kennedy.

Sanford at a Monday news conference denied having met with Kennedy.

Morgan charged Sanford had misrepresented the facts when he said he had not seen Robert Kennedy in Raleigh last week.

"Mr. Sanford did see Kennedy in Raleigh and had dinner with him at a swank Raleigh motel last Thursday night," Morgan said.

The Harnett County attorney said that "people of North Carolina will bear the expense of whatever national political set up results from this secret meeting."

Morgan said Sanford's program of a "new day" for North Carolina is a "day of confusion and misrepresentation for the people of North Carolina."

In another statement issued from Lake's headquarters, local managers were alerted to watch for "flyers or newspaper advertisements" which are supposed to be in support of Lake but which are actually designed to "hurt Dr. Lake's campaign," Morgan said that he has it on good authority that the flyers and ads are being distributed.

Baseball Bat Hit Hard But Not Lethally

Judge H. Paul Strickland concluded that Floyd McNeill was trying for a long hit but not a homer when he hit Leamond Colvin with a baseball bat.

In Dunn Recorder's Court this morning, the judge convicted McNeill of assault with a deadly weapon but did not find him guilty of the felony charge of "intent to kill."

The injured man testified for the prosecution but the defendant did not take the stand. Testimony developed that McNeill resorted to the baseball bat during an argument over a woman.

Judge Strickland gave McNeill six months in jail but suspended the sentence on condition he pay a fine of $35 and costs and pay a $17 doctor bill for Colvin.

Dunn police picked McNeill up after the knocked-out Colvin was found in a street here.

Mother Married To Get Name For Baby

Man Is Acquitted; Baby Wasn't His

A Fayetteville man, charged with non-support of a child the mother admitted wasn't his, was acquitted by Judge Robert B. Morgan in Harnett Recorder's Court.

Mrs. Nellie Louise Chestnut Royal of Erwin had indicted her husband, Furman Royal, who now resides in Fayetteville, for failing to support the three-year-old child.

Mrs. Royal admitted on the witness stand that Royal wasn't the father of her child.

Doesn't Love Him She said she didn't love Royal (Continued on Page Five)

Five Couples Get Divorce

Civil Court in Harnett county adjourned Monday at noon after the granting of the following divorces:

Mrs. Jamie Strickland Holder from James Allen Holder; Mrs. Maggie D. Melvin from B. F. Melvin; Mrs. Imogene W. Stewart from Joseph H. Stewart; Carl of Langdon Humbert from L. J. Humbert; and Helen Johnson Wade from Marvin Wade Jr.

Brevity of the court was due to the fact that the State Bar Association meets in Myrtle Beach, S. C., on Thursday, and all members expect to attend.

Next week Judge Q. K. Nimocks of Fayetteville will preside in what was expected to be Judge Wm. Y. Bickett's last term in Harnett for Spring term. The reason for the change in Judges is not known.

Recorders Court on Vacation

Recorders court in Lillington is on vacation for the week. The judge, Robert B. Morgan Sr., and family, and solicitor Jake Lamm and family left yesterday for a week's stay at Cherry Grove, S. C. where they will spend the week. They expect to attend the State Bar meeting. Everyone in

Slams Him On TV Program

Pearsall Raps Dr. Lake,

By United Press International A veteran state legislator who gave his name to the "Pearsall Plan" has disputed gubernatorial candidate I. Beverly Lake's claim that he wrote the state's pupil assignment law.

Rather, said Thomas J. Pearsall of Rocky Mount, Lake was "making speeches throughout the state suggesting the abolition of public schools and the establishment of private schools" while a committee was working on legislation and lining up public support.

Pearsall's comments came in a televised program Wednesday night which saw him throw his support to Terry Sanford in the June 25 run off primary.

Both Lake and Sanford carried their campaigns to the mountain counties today after Sanford's

VITAL CHOICE — Sue Ross, 17, of Buie's Creek had already bought one swimming suit, tried on another in Dunn department store. Many girls bought theirs as long ago as February. Sue says it's harder to pick out a bathing suit than a dress because you can't have nearly as many. Most girls settle for just one, want it to do things for them. (Record Photo by Ted Crail.)

But You Can't Buy A Bikini In Dunn

Suits That Cling Sure Click

By TED CRAIL Managing Editor

Any girl who wanted to buy a bikini in Dunn would have a hard time finding one though beach addicts are returning with word that the sands are full of them.

At White Lake on Sunday, I only saw one girl in a bikini. She pranced around at length but the fact that she was just three years old seemed to diminish interest.

"We don't have bikinis because

(Continued On Page Six)

Good Fun, Cheap Babysitting

Godwin Twins Lead Day Camp Together

Jeanne and Joanne Godwin, the twins who were formerly a sensational combination on a championship Dunn High basketball squad, have another job to do together.

They have been appointed leaders of the Day Camp for Dunn youngsters which will provide fun in the park through some otherwise dull afternoons.

Though primarily intended to give the young a good time and keep them out of mischief, the program will also be a boon to mothers.

Day Camp will run, Mondays through Fridays, from 9 to 1 o'clock. A dollar-a-week fee will be charged for youngsters taking part.

Though the fee-basis is an innovation here, Recreation Director said mothers will probably find it an agreeably cheap form of babysitting, which their children will be begging for.

Youngsters six to 12 can take part in the Day Camp program. There will be daily games and activities — croquet, badminton, shuffleboard, four corners, horse-shoes, story circles.

It gets underway next Monday. Youngsters interested can sign up now at the pool or call the Day Camp directors, Jeanne and Joanne, at 2019.

Actress Does Not Like Actors

HOLLYWOOD — Honey-blond unmarried actress Lori Nelson, explaining why she hasn't been whisked away by a handsome leading man with a mansion in Beverly Hills, a sports car and a small rancho, said:

"I don't like actors."

Select Swim Club to Form

These Girls Will Swim To Music

Don't be surprised if Dunn has a Water Pageant late this summer.

A former member of the Dolphins at Women's College is starting a swimming club for teenage girls and will teach them some of the same aquacade tricks that the movie mermaids have explored.

Her class won't get wet until next Monday but Mrs. Mac Turlington was ready to do her all for the town recreation program which her husband now directs.

Kishi Bows To Rioters, Calls It Off

TOKYO (UPI)—Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's pro-Western government bowed to Communist violence today and canceled President Eisenhower's trip to Japan because it could not guarantee his safety.

The President accepted the decision with regret in Manila, where he wound up a three-day visit to the Philippines and sailed for Formosa on the next leg of his Far East journey.

In Seoul, the South Korean government announced that the date of Eisenhower's visit there has been advanced from June 22 to June 19 in view of the Japanese cancellation, June 19—Sunday—is the date Eisenhower was to have arrived in Tokyo.

Kishi announced his decision personally following an emergency meeting of his Cabinet, while an estimated 25,000 leftwingers milled outside and screamed for his resignation.

Victory for Leftists The cancellation was hailed as a great victory by international communism, Kishi's political opposition, and by leftist student and union groups here which had staged a month of violent demonstrations against the visit.

Europe viewed the decision as a major setback for the West in Asia and a propaganda victory for the Kremlin.

Japanese newspapers expressed shock, shame and regret over the move, although most conceded it could not have been avoided.

Sen. Johnson Riding High

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) rode the crest of an unprecedented victory wave in Texas today and will head a national convention delegation solidly backing him with 61 votes for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Johnson carried away every conceivable honor that could be bestowed by the state Democratic convention Tuesday. He dealt his liberal foes such a smashing defeat they couldn't even muster forces to send a rival delegation to the national convention.

Johnson acted like a presidential aspirant — despite his current unannounced status — and flashed a "V-for-victory" sign when his home state Democrats staged a seven-minute demonstration.

Johnson teamed with backers of Speaker Sam Rayburn and Gov. Price Daniel to gain these victories.

Chairmanship of Texas' delegation to the national convention.

Endorsement of the delegation for the presidential nomination "so long as his name may be before the Democratic national convention."