Goldwater's Surge

The latest public opinion poll of national sentiment showed that former Vice President Richard Nixon retained the support of a vast majority of Republicans as their first choice to head the GOP ticket in 1964.

Nixon's lead over his leading opponent, New York Governor, Nelson Rockefeller, was surprisingly large. He is still considered the middle roader by most Republicans and there are indications that he will probably get the 1964 GOP nomination despite anything Governor Rockefeller and another possible nominee, Senator Barry Goldwater, of Arizona, may do.

Aside from showing a surprisingly loyal following for the former Vice President, the latest poll shows a surprising—or at least an impressive—surge of support for the conservative Arizona Senator.

Goldwater personalities the genuine conservative. He makes no bones of that fact and is, in fact, aggressive about it. He believes the young people of the country are turning to conservatism and that they are fed up with the social programs of the Democrats—and of some Republicans.

This remains to be seen, of course, but the polls indicate that Goldwater has increased his popularity and following faster in the last year, percentage-wise, than any other Republican. — Sandhill Citizen.

Larceny, Weapons, Auto Cases Tried

'Just Fetching Home That Razor'

James Edward Cummings, an 18-year-old Negro charged with attempting "to steal or set in motion" a 1955 Chevrolet was sentenced to six months suspended on payment of court costs in Dunn Recorder's Court Monday.

Police Sgt. H. F. (Red) Pope brought the charges against the youth on information and belief, claiming that the owner, S. D. Whittenton, had given the youth no permission to tamper with the car. The boy pled not guilty.

Waymon McDougald, a 47-year-old Negro, offered the court an explanation of how he happened to have a straight razor on him when he was arrested for public drunkenness. He said his father had borrowed the razor and that he was fetching it home again when unlucky enough to bump into the police. A count of carrying a concealed weapon was dropped but McDougald was fined with $18.65 in court costs on the drunk charge. Thirty days in jail was suspended on payment of the fine.

Rhodie Howard, a Negro accused of stealing a girl's bike, was set free but told to return the bike to Sarah Blue.

Other cases: Wilbert Crawford Thornton, 18, 907 South Magnolia, speeding 51 in a 35-mile zone, pled guilty, costs.

Levon Wood, 26, Route 1, Benson, speeding, pled guilty, costs. Donnie Ozell Daniel, 32, Route 1, Dunn, traveling left of the center lane not in passing, pled guilty, costs.

Carl Spencer Hill, 54, Route 2,

Shriners Throwing Angier Stage Show

Zebulon's schoolgirl recording artist, Diane Bailey (her newest record, "Someone Else's Hand" is just out) will appear in a Shriners-sponsored variety show at Angier on Friday.

The Shriners, raising funds for the Crippled Children's Hospital, have put together an elaborate show headlined by WKIX announcer Jimmy Capps, singer Johnnie Denton of Selma and Roxboro's Demetrios Tapp.

William Driver, a Dunn accountant and secretary of the Dunn Shriners, said tickets are available here from all club members. In the Angier area, tickets can be obtained from Wilton R. Fish, Wayne Coats, Norwood Adams and R. E. Lee.

Entertainers lined up for the program include Sheila Dupree of Angier, a singer; Brenda Stevenson, a dancer from Columbia, S. C.; Rayvon Love and Danny Burch of Angier; The Surles Twins of Angier; Buck and Tommy of Wilson; singer Fred Sherwood of Raleigh.

Johnnie Denton will be familiar to fans of the Jim Thornton Show. She has made a number of appearances on the Saturday Night Country Style program.

The Shriners shows starts at 8 p. m. Friday night in the Angier High auditorium. Admission will be 50 cents for children under 12 and a dollar for others.

Man Fined $75 For Church Theft

Jack Harmon of Fayetteville yesterday entered a plea of guilty in Harnett Recorder's court to thefts at Barbecue and Olivia Presbyterian churches.

He was fined $75 and costs, given suspended sentences of three years and placed on probation. Evidence showed all items taken from the churches have been recovered except $50 and a secretarial chair.

Harmon also faces larceny charges in Lee for a break-in at the Buffalo Presbyterian church.

Trinity, speeding 46 in a 35-mile zone, pled guilty, costs.

Helen Williams, Negro, 32, Route 2, Dunn, public drunkenness, pled guilty, costs.

Cecil R. Lee charged by Bill Ivey with giving him a worthless check, was freed when Ivey did not prosecute; the court found the action "malicious and frivolous" and Ivey was saddled with costs.

Barefoot Boys

the mother—a plump woman whose home was crawling with children and grandchildren of all ages—said she'd like to have them in class. A seventh-grade daughter whose skirt was so short it rested a foot above her knees said she had stayed home to "help Mama with the washing."

Tommy and Kenny said their mother would go out and pick cotton and maybe make enough money to buy them some shoes by Saturday. They didn't seem too sure of it.

Was there any place in Harnett County where three little boys could turn for help? Could anybody make them presentable enough to join their classmates over at Harnett High?

It developed, within an hour or so, that the official agencies apparently can't.

At the Red Cross, where the boys rooted through big bins looking for shoes that would fit their feet, there were dozens of ladies' shoes, big clodhoppers for men, even some handsome overshoes—but nothing for three little boys. Not a shoe, not a left or a right, not a good or a ragged one.

In the same building as the Red Cross there is a Welfare office. A young man named Walter Love, case worker for the Dunn area, was asked if he knew of any way to outfit the young truant and do something for them. He said there was an emergency fund that sometimes is brought to bear in cases of great and immediate need.

Were three little boys who lacked shoes and couldn't go to school an emergency? He doubted it.

Nobody—including the two Tommies and Kenny—considered their case an emergency though school had been on for days and their classmates were gradually pulling away from them, deep into the textbooks issued at the beginning of school.

This is not one of those stories with a happy ending. The three boys never did land shoes today in spite of the fact that the newspaper prodded the Red Cross, the Welfare department and Harnett high school.

They did land in school. For the day at least.

When Walter Love delivered them there, other kids at school "hollered and laughed" at the three boys.

Principal F. H. Ledbetter agreed with Love that the boys could attend school barefoot. But nobody could guarantee that, in another day or two, the boys, themselves will be content to attend without shoes on their feet or decent clothes.

The young case worker admitted that one of the boys involved was from a family which had just been cut from the Welfare rolls. He had recommended the cut-off, he said, because the mother "had men in the home" and they had been seen there at all hours of the night.

There is constant pressure on Welfare, he said, not to support the drinking habits and the sexual activities of loose women. To stamp off the Welfare check in such cases, he said, is "public relations, if nothing else."

But Love admitted that children in these cut-off homes are not likely to get the same observation by a case worker that they would get if drawing a check. When the money is withdrawn, so is the watchfulness.

To this young veteran of a year's service as a Welfare worker, the case of three boys without shoes reduces itself to this:

"There are parents and a home to live in. They have their shots and an opportunity to go to school—"

How good is that opportunity without some definite support from the society around them?

"Well everybody's tried to answer that," said Love. "Nobody can answer that."

So three little boys who began the day with no intention of going to school ended it by sitting in a classroom barefooted. But no real step had been taken toward putting them in shape for life again.

There was no assurance that any such step would be taken.

Which agency should dash in and assume responsibility until the mother herself would take the responsibility? Neither the Red Cross, the Welfare Department, nor the School itself—that school dishing out the "quality education" North Carolina is proud of—seemed to have any taste for the problem.

erous highway patrolmen and other officers rushed to the scene, but too late to pick up the woman's trail.

Witnesses said she was sped away in a late model Chevrolet, with a white man at the wheel.

The amount of money taken had not been determined at 3:30 this afternoon.

How the woman knew that Mrs. Lee has a 10-year-old daughter was not known.
