Still Found In Loft Of Man's Home

Dunn ATU agents Tuesday morning seized and destroyed a liquor still in what they described as "just about the most conven-

Melvin (Shorty) Moore, 32, of possessing and operating an unregistered distillery right in the loft of his own home.

It's a place officers would least expect to find a still, declared M. L. Godwin, agent in charge of the Dunn office.

The still was not in operation when found, but had seen plenty of service. A thousand gallons of mash and six gallons of moonshine had been run off.

Moore admitted ownership of the still. He waived hearing before U. S. Commissioner Abe Elmore in Dunn and was ordered Raleigh.

Officers making the raid were Harrison and Henry Byrd, assist- Peed. ed by Constable James W. Barefoot of Johnston County.

Phone Workers Will Ballot On Union Plan

The National Labor Relation Board has directed Carolina Telephone to hold an election among its plant employees to determine whether or not they disire to be represented by the Communications Workers of America, AFL-CIO, labor union.

The N.L.R.B.'s decision and direction of election was received by the company on April 12.

This action followed a petition from C.W.A. to represent eligible employees in the company's Plant Department and a hearing held before the regional director of the N.L.R.B. in Tarboro on March 14. At the hearing company representatives contended that all eligible company employees in all departments should have an opportunity to vote in this election. The board, however, ruled that the election shall be limited to eligible employees within the Plant De-

The date for the election has not been set, but it is contemplated that it will take place within the next thirty days.

Election will be by secret ballot and will be conducted by a re presentative of the N.L.R.B.

Carter Arrives Bombay

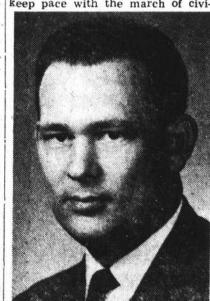

By: Rev. Herbert Carter way of India and the East. It was not my intention to stop here, but I could not get today's flight into Cochin. There is only one a day, so I find myself at the Taj-Mahal

I am glad things happened as they did so as to give me one night in this "delightfully gantastic" city of the East.

A city has been described as "an epitome of the social world. A!l the belts of civilization intersect along its avenues. It contains the product of every moral zone and is cosmopolitan not only in a national but in a moral and spiritual sense." This description applies o Bombay:

Bombay has kept pace with the march of civilization at home and abroad. On the hazardous highway of history she has proven herself to be the gateway to the East by admitting all that was good, and suited to her natural genius lization. It is Friday April 6. I have just and discarding all that did not

REV. HERBERT CARTER

Greater Bombay is made up of landed in Bombay, India, the gate- keep pace with the march of civi- seven islands, but it would be wrong to call it an island today. It is rather a peninsula attached to the mainland. The early inhabitants of this area could only have been cave men. While there is much that is modern bere, it is yet true that modern civilization has not succeeded in changing the way of life of all these people altogether.

Dating back to 1000 years before Christ, this city has been almost constantly shifting from one rule to another. All the way from the great Buddhist Emperor Asoka to the present day independance enjoyed by the city and the nation of India as well. At one time in history the city was given to King Charles II of England as wedding gift when he married rincess Catherine de Braganza A Portugal Thus Bombay came into
