BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — Eighteen hundred U.S. Marines in full battle dress landed in Thailand with artillery and tanks today and were deployed swiftly to bases facing the Communist threatened border with Laos.

U.S. Air Force C130 transports began airlifting the troops to the interior shortly before noon in the most dramatic move against Communist aggression in the Far East since the Korean War.

Light jeeps and "mechanized mules," tractor-type vehicles for hauling equipment and supplies over rough terrain, went in the planes with them.

Arrive After Dawn

The Marines started arriving in the capital by air and sea shortly after dawn.

With a minimum of delay they began moving out by air and motor convoys for eventual deployment near the northeastern border to deter pro-Communist rebels from driving across the Mekong river from Laos.

The Marines joined a 1,000-man U.S. Army battle group from the 27th infantry which has been in Thailand since early May when it took part in exercises of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO).

Other American ground forces will follow until the total strength is up to 5,000.

Liz Getting $9,000 A Day, Work Or Not

ROME (UPI) — Elizabeth Taylor's trip to the island of Ischia to shoot scenes with her leading man, Richard Burton, has been postponed again until at least June 4, a spokesman for the "Cleopatra" film said Thursday.

The co-stars, still being seen together regularly in Rome night spots, originally were scheduled to travel to the Bay of Naples island May 14. The date was then put off until May 21.

Studio spokesman Nat Weiss said the new postponement "until June 4 at the earliest" did not mean the $30 million film was being delayed.

"It is a question of transporting scenes, and trying to clear up work on the elaborate and costly sets in Rome before going to Ischia," he said.

Since Miss Taylor is scheduled to do 10 days of filming on Ischia, Thursday's announcement means she will continue to draw salary until at least June 14. Every day the 30-year-old actress appears before the cameras or is "on call" for filming, she receives something in excess of $9,000. The studio has not confirmed persistent reports that her daily salary, including expenses, is $14,000.

Liquor Store Parking Up Before Board

J. V. Bass advised officials this morning that on some occasions, the church needs some of the parking spaces.

ABC store personnel say the spaces are needed, that especially on weekends you can see four cars pulling in and four pulling out on both sides of the street every four or five minutes.

Investigators found Molotov cocktails—bottles of gasoline with a wick attachment—in Rosen's car and bottles of gasoline throughout the house, indicating that the massacre was premeditated. Two explosions knocked out the side of the house which was badly damaged by the resulting fire.

Hear Cooley Laud Sanford And Kennedy

RALEIGH (UPI) — North Carolina Democrats mapped a broad, generalized platform stressing harmony and party unity and progress by both state and nation as the base for coming political wars with the Republicans.

The more than 3,000 delegates, chosen at county conventions last week, jammed Raleigh for the biennial state convention barely a week before the off-year primaries.

Rep. Harold D. Cooley, D - N.C., dean of the state's congressional delegation, keynoted the convention with praise for the administrations of President Kennedy and Gov. Terry Sanford and attacks on the former Eisenhower administration in both domestic and foreign issues.

The Platform Committee came forth with a document that spoke glowingly of the Sanford administration and omitted reference to any controversial issues, including mention of the food tax.

The platform, presented to the full convention early this afternoon, praised the "vigorous and intelligent leadership" of President Kennedy.

It said the national administration "has reasserted the historic concern of the Democratic Party for the political, social and economic well-being of our whole citizenry."

The platform called for expanded programs in fields of education, highways, agriculture and economic development.

At the same time, it said "we favor continued emphasis on the economical administration of government and we oppose any increase in state taxes."

The platform said that Sanford "has already earned his place in the proud tradition of Democratic governors from Charles B. Aycock to Luther Hodges."

Agriculture and industry, the twin backbones of the state's economy, came in for strong emphasis in the 15-page platform which was drafted in secret.

The party said it would work toward advances in agricultural research, development of food processing and packing industries (Continued on Page Seven)

The case was continued due to the fact that State Senator Robert Morgan, attorney for Stanboly, was unable to appear today.

Judge Hill reluctantly continued the case but warned, "Lawyer or no lawyer, this case will be tried next Thursday."
