Lavish Is The Word
For '63 Ice Capades

RALEIGH — "Sew Faces" is the theme for the Ice Capades, which brings its 22nd edition to the Reynolds Coliseum at N. C. State College starting on March 20. Producer John H. Harris' latest production, lavishly praised wherever it has shown will have a limited run of four nights and two matinees.

This year's edition, biggest of all the ice extravaganzas, has ten productions, all an the grand scale.

The show has an investment of $750,000 in costumes and sets alone. Added to the always exciting cast this season are a host of "new faces." They are Eric Waite and Bobby Specht from Ice Capades' sister show. The delightful blonde bomb-shell, Grete Borgen has been imported from Norway. Also from Norway is Scandinavian champion, Per Kjobreg, Sigrid and Gunter Koch, European and World pair champions are from Germany. Comedians Jan Tors and Dave Park hail from England.

Also new are the adagio team of Miland and Elliot and male soloist Richard Garrett. Returning are the all-time favorites Aja Zanova, twice world's champion, the Three Bruises, Jean and Dick Moxfield, John Demko and Ben Gee, Doug Austin and Louisa Orwell - all well known to Ice Capades audiences from previous visits.

An then there's the "Greatest show on Ice." A dazzling circus complete with animals, aerialists a parade of clowns. This spectacle stars the hilarious Three Bruises who get into every conceivable kind of trouble a circus can afford. Included in the tuneful salute to Lerner and Loewe are "Paint Your Wagon," a sequence in which the spectacular Bobby Specht holds the limelight; "My Fair Lady" bringing Jean and Dick Moxfield front and center with the delightful Ice Capades as the backdrop and "Brigadoon" featuring World champion Aja Zanova and an all-girl line of ballerinas plus the current Broadway hit "Camelot" highlighted by Doug Austin.

Put all this color beauty and music onto one sheet of ice, and it adds up to some show. It's the most, and that's the least of it.

James C. Norris
Hurt In Wreck

A Benson man suffered acid burns on his face and eyes Saturday night when his car went out of control on Western Boulevard in Raleigh and hit a bridge. Police said the force of the impact threw battery acid in the man's face.

James Corbin Norris, 21, was admitted to Rex Hospital, where a spokesman said he was in satisfactory condition Sunday night. Officers said Norris passed a car and lost control of his vehicle when he cut back into the line of traffic. They charged him with speeding under prevailing conditions.

Name Change Is Approved

RALEIGH (UPI) — The Consolidated University of North Carolina trustees' proposed name change for N. C. State College was approved unanimously by the Senate Higher Education Committee Friday.

State College alumni had fought the name: "N. C. State, the University of North Carolina at Raleigh." Many alumni waged a long hard battle for the name to be "N. C. State University."

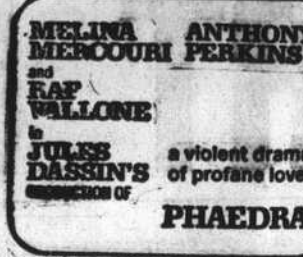

Sen. Ralph Scott, a member of the Senate committee and chairman of State's Alumni Board of Directors, pointed out that the trustees recommendation only takes six words of the existing name: N. C. State College of Agriculture and Engineering of the University of North Carolina at Raleigh.

Scott said the named proposed by trustees "doesn't make sense."
