"You Should Know"

By C. Gary Long, Pastor
Spring Branch Baptist Church

For a long time now, we in America have been victims of nervous activity. Both the days of work and nights of recreation have been loud and noisy. It is bad enough to be besieged daily with deafening assaults, but there is something much more disturbing about our modern busy life.

It is the illusion that nervous efforts and screeching mechanisms are unmistakable indications of achievement. International conditions have only exaggerated this regrettable state of affairs. It is unfortunate that we are condemned to listen to all the raucous noises which assail us day and night. But to come to the conclusion that church itself is most successful when it is most noisy is nothing less than tragic.

That is why Jesus spent so much time in the quietness of spiritual communion. It was in this way he discovered the secret of noble living. When he went out into the wilderness, at the beginning of his ministry, he met with temptation. But in the silence of those days, preceding the assaults on his soul, he had summoned power and strength by means of which to overcome. He had already gained the victory.

After a trying experience with the multitudes, the Master went into the mountain to pray. He felt that he had to get away from the crowd, at least for a little while. If the Master was compelled to use silence, what of us? If he was so keenly aware of this need in a slow-moving country of the Near East nineteen hundred years ago, what of us who live in this clamorous modern age?

We seem never to be able in this decade to have a moment to listen to birds sing, to pick a daisy, to pat a dog on its head, or say a cheery hello to a friend.

Let our word for today be, "Be still and know that I am God."

Four Philco Execs Saved

CAIRO, U.A.R. (UPI) — The British destroyer Agincourt today rescued four U.S. Philco Corp. civilian employees who made an emergency landing in the Red Sea in their chartered U.S. Air Force amphibious plane.

The destroyer was reported en route to Aden with the four men. The U.S. Embassy here said they were all reported uninjured.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman identified the men as chief pilot D. A. Van Epps, captain James Andrews, second pilot and navigator A. D. Heske, and flight engineer Michael Fleischer. He did not know their home addresses.

The chartered Grumman plane from Wheelus U. S. Air Force Base in Libya, left Cairo Thursday en route to Aden. An air-sea search was launched.

One of the search planes spotted it floating south of Port Sudan, dropped food and water, and gave the position to the destroyer.

MILLION DOLLAR MURDER — T. Eugene Thompson, 35, St. Paul, Minn., attorney, has been arrested for questioning in connection with the March 6 slaying of his wife, Carol, 34-year-old mother of four, who had been insured for over a million dollars. Police seek the mastermind behind the "murder for hire" killing.

PODDLE HELPS ROBBER

LONDON (UPI) — A bandit made a successful getaway in his car Wednesday with $100 from a suburban London bank, thanks to a dog. Passersby, who could have cut him off from his auto, thought the men chasing the robber were after a poodle frolicking at his heels and grabbed the dog instead.
