

J. W. Black, Sr. Dies At Age 63

James Watson Black, Sr., 63, of Route 5, Dunn, died this morning at his home.
He retired in 1953 due to ill health after 22 years employment at Erwin Mills. He was a very active member of the East Erwin Baptist Church. He was born in Harnett County.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. at Lees Chapel Church. The Rev. James Joyner, pastor, Rev. O. W. Pulley and Rev. Douglas Willette will officiate and burial will be in the Willford cemetery.

Surviving are his wife, Pauline Ellis Black; a son, James, Jr., of the home; two daughters, Mrs. May Tew of Route 5, Dunn, and Mrs. Verna Manning of Greenville; a brother, Stedman Black of Florida; a step sister, Mrs. Clyde Johnson of Route 1, Erwin; also six grandchildren.

The body will remain at Cromartie Funeral until one hour prior to the service.

The family will be at the home or Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hawley on Route 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Bray from Norfolk, Va., spent the weekend with Mrs. Henry Whitehead.

LOVING LOW BIDDER

ATLANTA (UPI) — The General Services Administration announced today that T. A. Loving & Co., Goldsboro, N. C., was the apparent low bidder for construction of a federal building at Fayetteville, N. C.

Dunn Man

intended to kill McLamb. Officers said Jones would be charged with either manslaughter or murder. McLamb, formerly of the Roseboro section, had identification listing his last address as Stormville, New York. He also had an outpatient card showing he had been treated recently at Jacksonville Memorial Hospital in Jacksonville, Fla.

Both Jones and McLamb were employed by a local building supply firm.

Jones was given a preliminary hearing in Dunn Recorder's Court this morning before Judge Woodrow Hill. Probable cause was found and Jones was bound over to Harnett Superior Court without bond.

and Duke. He has served with the college continuously since 1947.

The afternoon session on Wednesday will highlight Evangelism and the Baptist Jubilee Advance. Rev. Austin will bring a special message at 2:30 p.m. He is a graduate of Wheaton College and of Southeastern Baptist Seminary, with other graduate study at Duke and Southern Seminary. He served as a pastor for some years, then served as a member of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association. He became a full-time evangelist and served churches all over the country for five or six years before becoming pastor of

Bales Of Cotton Burn Sunday

Thirteen bales of cotton caught fire Sunday at Matthews Cotton Co. here and estimated damage was put at $1000.

Howard M. Lee, the fire department's secretary - treasurer, said damage would have been more to the cotton but Dunn policemen arriving on the scene before firemen moved some of the cotton away from the blaze.

Two trucks and 14 men were sent to the scene and eight men remained at the station.

The call was sounded at 9:30 a.m. and the men reported back to the fire house at 10:30.

ROOF FIRE
Saturday afternoon at 6:58 firemen received a call that the roof of Wade's Drive In was on fire.

The cause, Mr. Lee said, was faulty wiring.
Less than $100 damage was done. Twenty men answered the call.

The public is invited to these meetings. Lunch will be served each day at about 12:15 p.m.

Tart Funeral

Havana and in San Francisco.

Many Honors
Mr. Tart attained practically all of the town's civic honors and in 1952 was selected as Dunn's "Man of the Year" by the Chamber of Commerce for his outstanding contributions to the civic life of the town.

Mr. Tart was also vice chairman of the board of trustees of Betsy Johnson Memorial Hospital here and was one of the founders of that institution.

He was a staunch Democrat and a few years ago insisted on being taken by ambulance to vote in an important county election.

Mr. Tart was a past district chairman of the N. C. Association of County Commissioners and headed the Governor's Committee to investigate the Goldsboro Housing Authority a few years ago.

He founded the Pope & Tart Lumber Co. at Wade now operated by his son, Clarence Lee Tart, and his grandson, Bosie Tart. He was chairman of the board of Central Broadcasters, owners of Radix Station WCKB.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock at Hood Memorial Christian Church. The Rev. Neil Housewright, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery here.

Fallbearers will include Dr. Gale Johnson, J. N. Stephenson, Eugene W. Smith, William W. (Bill) Carroll, Herman Neighbors, Loroman C. DuPree, Jr. and Earl H. Mahone.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Martha Raynor Tart; two sons, Clarence Lee and L. A. (Tit) Tart, Jr., both of Dunn; three daughters, Mrs. Daisy Deane Anderson, Mrs. Agnes Tart Culbreth and Mrs. Alice Tart Butler, all of Dunn; and three brothers, Rupert G. (Ruby) Tart of Dunn and Brantley and Thurston Tart of Newton Grove; also 21 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Tart Paid High

ideas and at the same time his years of experience and wisdom served as a great stabilizing force on the county board. Harnett County will long miss his leadership and be poorer, indeed, by his passing.

MAYOR HAS PRAISE
Dunn Mayor George Franklin Blalock declared: "I share the grief of his countless friends who mourn the passing of Mr. Tart. Mr. Lofton, as he was known with great affection, was more than just an individual, it seemed. He was an institution in Dunn and throughout our county and State. The fact that any public official can stay in office for 17 years without opposition is a great tribute in itself. Lofton Tart had no enemies. Even those who disagreed with him at times respected him and remained his friend."

County leaders pointed out today that Harnett has enjoyed some of its greatest progress during the Chairman Tart's service to the county.
"He would be the last person to claim credit for any of it," said one official "but those familiar with the facts know of the key role which he played."
Several times, Mr. Tart had expressed a desire to retire from the board, insisting it was time for a younger man to take his place, but party leaders would not hear of it.
When he announced for his last term, he needed no encouragement but said frankly, "There are still some things that need to be done and I want to help see that they are accomplished."
A high tribute to Mr. Tart came from A. J. Stephenson of Lillington.

Light Docket In Dunn Court

Routine cases were disposed in Dunn Recorder's Court by Judge Woodrow Hill Monday morning.

Marion Lee Ivey, Jr., of Route 1, Benson, was found not guilty of driving after his license had been suspended.

Solicitor Howard Godwin ordered a nol pros in a non-support case against Julian T. Matthews, 43, of 406 W. Harnett Street, Dunn. Matthews, who was ordered to pay the costs, was indicted by his wife, Margaret, for failing to provide support for their three minor children.

Lula Johnson Barefoot of Route 2, Dunn, was ordered to pay the costs for failing to stop for a school bus.

Connie Vernon Byrd, 56-year-old Durham woman, received a 30-day suspended term upon payment of the costs for public drunkenness.
Prayer for judgment was continued in the case charging Vernon McNeill of 608 E. Cumberland St., Dunn, with driving with improper lights. McNeill paid the costs.

PRAYER SERVICE

At the 10:00 prayer service Tuesday morning in the conference room of Home Savings & Loan, a deacon and lay leader of the First Baptist Church, L. L. Coats, will speak. The services, held weekly, are open to the public.

Lawyer On the state be required to list all its witnesses in advance, there was the matter of picking a jury.

How long that will take depends on which legal expert you consult. The estimates range from one day to two weeks.

Meanwhile the defendant remains at home in an upperclass St. Paul neighborhood with his three girls and a boy, Geoffrey, 14.

The state contends the death of Carol Thompson was the result of acts by her husband conspiring with Norman J. Mastrian, 40, who thereafter conspired with Dick W. C. Anderson, 35, and perhaps others unknown.

Anderson has confessed he did it — told how he did it. Mastrian, a college mate of the Thompsons whom Thompson had reentered in criminal cases, hadn't opened his mouth. He like the two others is charged with first degree murder. Thompson's trial is first.

ciation since becoming editor of the North Carolina Chiropractic Journal and Secretary of the Association, and his work with the business office in the way of sending out news releases and publicity has wrought much good will for the association.

"The tribute and title 'Doctor of the Year' which the members of the association chose to present to him," continued Dr. Kemp "is a token of their appreciation of his work for the profession of chiropractic. The honor and title will not rest lightly with him because he will continue to work hard and diligently for chiropractic not just this year, but during all the years of his life."
Dr. James, who began practice in Dunn 12 years ago, has been prominent in the association for years and also takes part in the various affairs of the town and county.

To Plan For State Convention

Harnett YDC Plans Meeting Wednesday

The Harnett County Young Democratic Club will meet Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock at the county courthouse in Lillington, according to A. J. Stephenson, Jr., county president.

Purpose of the meeting, Stephenson said, is to plan Harnett's participation in the state YDC convention, which will begin the next day in Charlotte and also to plan the November meeting for the local organization, when the officers for the coming year will be elected.

"Our bylaws state that our annual election meeting will be held in November each year," he added, "and I urge anyone interested in becoming an officer in the Harnett YDC to attend the meeting Wednesday night and let the members know their intentions. The only requirements for holding an office are that a person be a resident of the county and a member of The local YDC."

The officers elected in November will be installed in office in January. The present officers are Stephenson, president; Mrs. Carolyn Watkins of Angier, 1st vice president; Mrs. Mary Stanley of Dunn, 2nd vice president; Leo McDonald of Lillington, secretary; W. H. Randall of Lillington, treasurer, and State Senator Robert Morgan, director. Danny Watkins of Angier, now serving as assistant coroner, is immediate past president.
