

BROKEN PIECES ... While the Republicans are busy trying to pick up the pieces of their shattered dreams, the Democrats are working to hold together a party torn apart by arch conservatives and civil rights.

Neither party is at peace this autumn. Some checking we have done shows some hard feelings toward Charles Jonas. They so wanted him to run for Governor, did the Republicans, that this desire became the common denominator and served as a unifying force.

Consensus seems to be that Jonas will run for Congress only once more. But may not even do that. Washington, said to be the only city with a white section, is rough on a peace-loving man.

Now the Democrats have their big differences, but the Republicans have their little back-biting factions. This must be erased, they say, if the new candidate for Governor is to have the all-out strength they were saving up for Jonas.

It may take some time to bring it about — because of some individual decisions already made — but 33-year-old William Osteen of Greensboro will likely be the choice. He turned 33 this past July.

AGE FACTOR ... At 33, William Lindsay Osteen, a man who has served two regular and one special terms in the Legislature, could not run for the Presidency. Age would bar him. You have to be 35 years of age to run for Governor, so he is all right from that viewpoint. He would no doubt cut deeply into Richardson Preyer's strength in Guilford.

He is young and handsome and personable and was most influential among his fellow Republicans in the legislative sessions. The Republican Party seems to be having good luck throughout the nation with younger, Kennedy-looking candidates. Also, young Osteen — like the Kennedy boy — never wears a hat. He loves a fight, too.

There is still a lot of Old Blood, some of it tired, in the Republican Party and they could turn thumbs down on young Bill. But we doubt they will. If he should win, William Osteen would be the youngest Governor North Carolina ever had.

WILL WAIT ... When Robert Scott, former master of the State Grange, announced that he would wait six weeks or so to decide whether to run for Governor, did he have Charles Jonas' decision in mind? We doubt it.

The belief around Raleigh is that it may be wild ... is that Robert Scott will not run for Governor (despite the $250,000 he says is already available to him), but will announce a few weeks hence that he has decided not to be a candidate and is turning over his strength, casting his lot, with Richardson Preyer.

This will help the gentleman from Greensboro — and will not hurt Scott.

COULD HURT ... If Robert Scott should run for Governor, he would take great chunks of support from Richardson Preyer. This would immediately bring Dr. I. Beverly Lake into the fray — money or not — and probably force Preyer into poor third in the Primary.

With Sanford plumping hard for Preyer and Uncle Ralph doing the same thing, we just can't see Robert Scott jumping so far out of the traces.

But somebody had better look out in 1968, because Robert Scott has burning ambition — and a lot of savvy to go with it.

FOURTH AND FIFTH ... Two once-unsuccessful candidates for office may give it a try again next year.

We hear on good authority that Mayne Albright of Raleigh is determined to run against Veteran Fourth District Congressman Harold D. Cooley in 1964. Albright many years back ran for Governor, has not sought public office since, has established a good law practice here and really wants to go to Congress.

Congressman Harold's tag ball is gone, but he still has plenty of stuff, is chairman of the Agriculture Committee, so Albright's work is cut out for him. Before it's over, you may find three or four candidates opposing Congressman Cooley.

In Raleigh a few days ago after touring the eastern counties of the Fifth District was William Z. Wood of Winston-Salem. He ran against incumbent Ralph Scott in 1962, didn't fare too badly outside Forsyth County, and is testing the wind again.

With Congressman Ralph Scott (no relation whatever to The Scotts) having already announced his retirement at the end of the current term, Assistant Harold Thomerson is off and running. The Fifth now goes from the Kerr Scott Dam in Wilkes to the Kerr Lakes in Granville — a cool 150 miles — and had a population of 400,924 souls in 1960. Add 45-

ONE OF THESE ... We heard the other day about this little girl who complained to her teacher here in Sherwood Bates School that she had hurt her foot during recess.
