Says Industry Ought To Pay For Research

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Rules Committee today voted down legislation to authorize government research on how to make cigarettes safe.

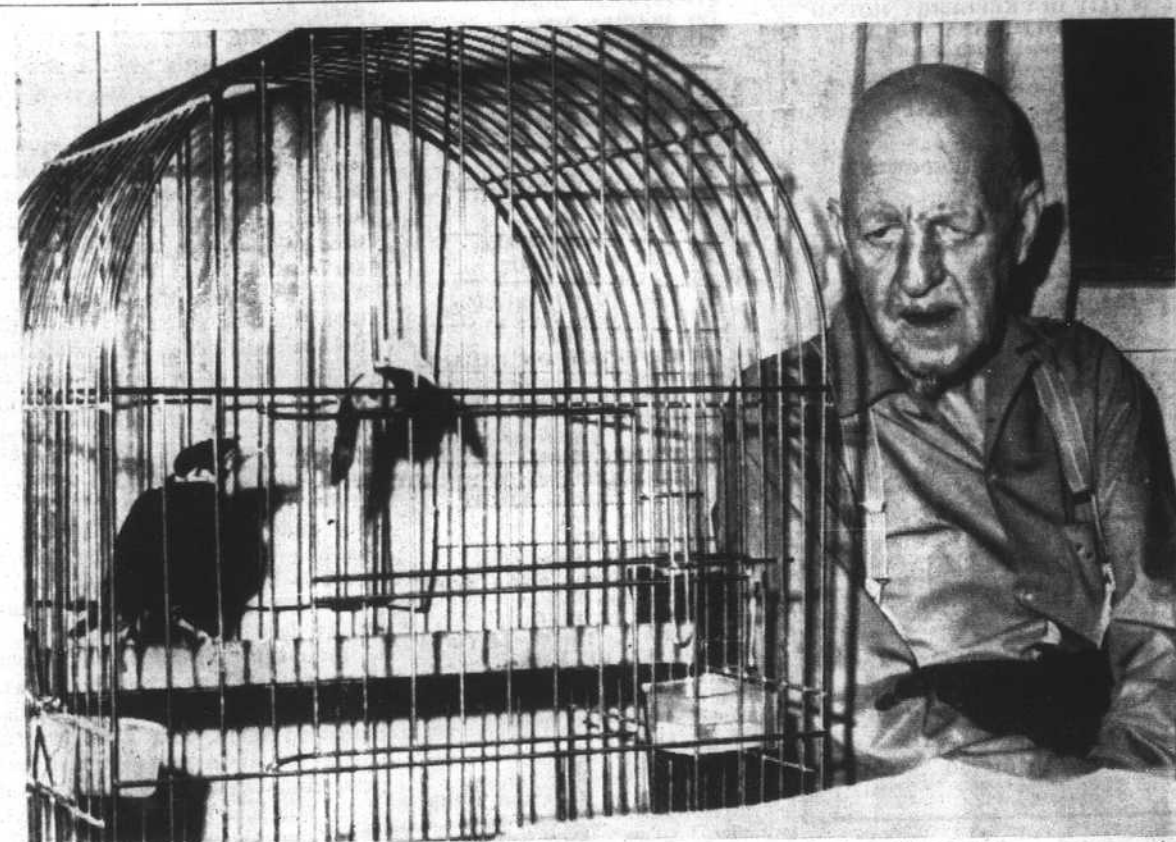

Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., said the vote was 6 to 5 against clearing the legislation for a vote in the House.

The bill was recommended by the Agriculture Committee in the aftermath of a government report linking smoking to lung cancer and other ailments.

The bill would authorize construction of a government laboratory, at a cost not stated but estimated at $5 to $10 million. It would seek out the harmful elements in cigarettes and try to find ways to eliminate them.

The measure had the backing not only of the industry but of the Public Health Service and had been expected to win easy clearance of the rules group, which acts as a traffic cop in routing legislation from other committees to the floor of the House.

However, Smith said one objection was raised both that the industry itself ought to finance the laboratory then, on the other hand he said there was objection that if it did, the findings would be suspect.

HEATH'S BIRD HELPS HOSPITAL CAUSE — H. W. Heath of Godwin, Route 1, owner of the famous Old Hickory Barbecue House and "king" of the barbecuers, has donated his prized Mynah Bird for use in a contest to help promote Dunn's campaign for a new and modern hospital. ## Heath Gives His Mynah Bird To Aid Hospital Campaign

There's an Acridotheres Tristis in the window of Dunn's Hospital Bond Issue Headquarters at 206 East Cumberland Street.

Dunn's veterans of the Pacific Theater of War in the mid-40's may recall this sociable, talkative little native of eastern Asia, is considered a "wonder of the bird world" with its ability to learn and use as many as 70 words!

GIFT OF GRATITUDE
A member of the starling family and slightly larger than a robin, Dunn's Mynah Bird is the kind end generous gift of a 61-year-old gentleman who contributed it to the hospital bond campaign as a humble gesture of his gratitude to the doctors, nurses and hospital of Dunn . . . gratitude for the many services they have rendered him over the years.

H. W. Heath of Godwin, Route 1, well known for his "Old Hickory Barbecue" and other products rated for their high 69 per cent lean meat content.

In presenting his valuable pet to the campaign Heath said "I don't have much I can give; and since I am blind there isn't much I can do, but I want the people and merchants of Dunn to know how much I appreciate what they have meant to me. I owe Dunn everything I have and if I can help stimulate the interest of the people for the desperately needed new hospital through my Mynah Bird I'll feel I've contributed, in an awfully small way, to the future well-being of the people and town I love."

HANDSOME BIRD
Mr. Heath's gift is an extremely handsome little creature . . . beautifully colored . . . from its rich wine-brown body, deep black head, neck and upper breast . . . its bright yellow-red legs and bill

. . . and a splash of white on the lower edge of its wings to top-off its pre-Easter season finery! All the children are invited to visit our feathery new friend.

The Hospital Bond Issue Headquarters will shortly announce plans to allow all of the young people of Dunn an opportunity to name our latest resident . . . the winner to . . . get the bird . . . and cage . . . valued at $106.00!

Johnson At Housewarming

Jackie Given Party

WASHINGTON (UPI) — To President Johnson it was a "very touching, very spiritual" little ceremony.

That is how the Chief Executive describe the surprise party held for Mrs. John F. Kennedy Wednesday night at her new home in the capital's historic Georgetown section.

The President and Mrs. Johnson headed the list of more than a dozen high-ranking guests who showed up unexpectedly at Mrs. Kennedy's home to present her with gifts as tokens of their affection for her and her late husband.

Johnson hurried away from his White House office after signing the $11.5 billion tax cut bill to act.

N. C. Delegates Backing Him

State Republicans Will Hear Barry

GREENSBORO, N. C. (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater attempts this weekend to get his Dixie bandwagon rolling in high gear.

North Carolina's Republicans hold their state convention Friday and Saturday and, with 26 votes to the national convention at stake, Goldwater supporters were ready to turn it into a southern stampede for the Arizona senator.

Goldwater has strong followings in the Deep South. His backers feel that a favorable showing in North Carolina will give his presidential candidacy the momentum for almost solid Southern support at the summer convention.

Twenty-two delegates already have been selected in North Carolina and one supporter claimed in advance of the two-day meeting here all were pro-Goldwater.

THESE LITTLE THINGS

By Hoover Adams

ROLL ON TV, OLD RUGS; THEY DON'T GO TOGETHER!
There on the television screen was curvaceous Carole Tyler, looking sweet, innocent and virtuous as a small-town choir singer and wide-eyed proclaiming her innocence of any wrong-doing as Bobby Baker's secretary.

Regardless of what her sins may be or the charges against her, and they reportedly are many, in the sinful, sex-ridden capitol city, the former Tennessee beauty queen is still quite a doll.

But right smack in the middle of her admittedly glamorous appearance on TV came the commercial:

"Tired of your old worn-out linoleum rugs," it said, or something like that. Although unintentional, the timing and wording of the commercials sometimes is so out of keeping with the program!

LITTLE NOTES: Nothing irritates one woman more than the alleged transgressions of another woman, especially if she's pretty . . . Typical comment of the fairer sex after Miss Tyler's televised testimony before the Senate committee, was, "she ought to be horse-whipped, sitting there refusing to answer." . . . In other words, they wanted to hear all the spicy details! . . . Former Senator Bob Young, vacationing with Mrs. Young down in Florida, sends word back to friends here that he'll be a candidate against Judge Woodrow Hill in the spring primary . . . Mr. Young served as Dunn's judge for years, was also solicitor of the local court . . . The Lake-for-Governor forces here are getting ready to open campaign headquarters in the swank new DeMai building, be-

The raid was directed by Art Bryant, head of the Dunn ATU office, special ATU agent M. L.

Godwin of Goldsboro, formerly of Dunn and Area supervisor E. C. Lawson of Raleigh.

They said they found two 701-gallon submarine type stills had recently been in full operation but only two and a half gallons of moonshine was found at the site.

The three alleged operators were also charged with possessing, removing and concealing 210 and 1/2 gallons of bootleg whiskey and with possession of miscellaneous equipment and materials for use in making whiskey, designed to defraud the U S government of taxes.

A 1963 Oldsmobile, a 1953 DeSoto and a 1951 half-ton panel truck allegedly used in the liquor hauling operation were confiscated by the government.

All three were arraigned for a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Abe Elmore in Dunn. Adams and Barefoot waived hearing and were

27 Cars Shattered, Piled Up

Explosion Derails Train

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (UPI) — An explosion, apparently triggered by saboteurs, today derailed five diesel locomotives and 27 cars of a freight train operated by the strike-plagued Florida East Coast Railway.

No one was seriously hurt, authorities said. An engineer suffered a cut on the head from flying glass shattered by the blast. Contrary to first reports after the explosion, there was no fire, authorities said.

The explosion occurred at a crossing 10 miles south of this city which houses executive offices of the railroad.

Harvey Lopez, managing editor of the St. Augustine Record, reported from the scene that the blast derailed the first four of five diesel locomotives and completely shattered the fifth. He said he counted at least 20 cars derailed.

"They are shattered and piled up in such a jumble that it is difficult to count them but it looks like about half the train left the tracks," the newsmen reported.

The blast was heard by residents 10 miles from the scene.

The explosion was the third such blast on the FEC line this month.
