TWO PROFESSORS GET JAIL TERMS

Third Is Fined Second Has Learned Lesson

HILLSBORO (UPI) — A Superior Court judge sentenced two college professors to 90 days in jail today for violating the state trespass law during racial demonstrations in Chapel Hill.

A third professor got off with a $50 fine because he said he had learned his lesson.

Orange County Superior Court Judge Raymond B. Mallard of Tarboro City ordered jail sentences for Prof. William Wynn of the University of North Carolina and associate Prof. Robert Osborne of Duke University. He fined Dr. Frederick Herzog of Duke $50 and costs.

Mallard passed the sentences after a half hour lecture to the three. Mallard asked each defendant if he felt he had the right to violate the trespass law again.

"I have done it once and seen the consequences," Herzog said. "I cannot again do the same."

The other two answered that because of moral and theological convictions they might do the same thing again under certain circumstances.

All three men said they would appeal and gave notice they would post bond. They remained free.

The three were charged after racial demonstrations in which participants refused to leave the premises of private businesses in Chapel Hill.

SERTOMA CLUB GETS CHARTER — About 200 members of Dunn's newest organization, the Sertoma Club, gathered last night to install their new officers and receive the club's charter. The club has 84 charter members, the largest in eastern North Carolina. Shown here is Dr. Millard P. Burt, district governor of Sertoma and dean of The Methodist College in Fayetteville, presenting the charter to Joe Leslie, president of the club. (Record Photo by Russell Bassford)

RALEIGH (UPI) — Congressmen L. H. Fountain of Tarboro and Alton Lennon of Wilmington were assured of return to office Friday as the deadline passed for filing for this year's elections.

In a flurry of last-minute filing, two Democrats entered the race against Rep. Charles R. Jones of the 8th District and another Republican entered the 10th District race.

Republicans also filed for five candidates for the Council of State, leaving Superintendent of Public Instruction Charles F. Carroll the only unopposed incumbent.

Dr. W. D. James of Hamlet, Richmond County's senator in the last General Assembly, and Marvin T. Ritch of Charlotte, an attorney for 50 years, filed as Democrats in the 8th District race. One of them will oppose Jones in the general elections this fall.

Edward H. Smith of Kings Mountain became the second Republican to file for the 10th District seat now held by Democrat Basil L. Whitener, W. Hall Young previously filed as a Republican.

Democrat S. A. Chalk Jr. of Morehead City entered the race in the 3rd District against incumbent David N. Henderson. John B. Wardell Jr. of Jamestown became the third Democrat to file for Commissioner of Labor and John N. Frederick of Charlotte became the third Democrat to file for Commissioner of Insurance.

HARNETT IN THE NEWS; A SHOT AT RICKY'S; NEW CLUB, A PRETTY VISITOR

Dunn's new Sertoma Club not only is the largest civic club in town but is the largest Sertoma Club in Eastern North Carolina.

Of the 84 members, 63 of them were recruited by Marvin Johnson, who last night was presented an award for doing so.

District Governor Millard Burt was high in his praises of the start made by the Dunn club and the 200 or more who attended last night's charter night event said it was a delightful affair.

The Daily Record had a pretty visitor yesterday. She's Miss Jeanne Storter of Naples, Fla., a Journalism student at Florida Southern College.

Miss Storter is the weekend guest of Miss Cheryl Jackson of Godwin. Her father is Captain of a large private yacht and she's a very glamorous young lady.

Ricky Johnson today offered $100 cash reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person who fired a bullet through the plate glass window of Ricky's Hot Dog Stand across from Carl's Super Market last night about 7 o'clock.

Johnson said a high-powered rifle or pistol was used and was fired from the south side of the building. Luckily, nobody was in the path of the bullet, fired at about the right height to hit a person right in the heart.

A good-natured fellow, Johnson says he knows of no reason why his place should have been a target.

Tornado - Like Winds In Fla.

Spring Arrives-Snow, Blizzard

Spring came to the nation's Midland wearing snowshoes today. Ground blizzards swept the Western Plains and driving snow swirled across the Middle West.

As spring made its official arrival snows were mounting from Colorado to Michigan. Tornado-like winds swept St. Petersburg, Fla. Mayors of three southern Illinois towns declared flood emergencies and asked for National Guardsmen to help fight the bloated Ohio River.

Fifteen minutes before the start of spring at 9:10 a. m. EST, the Weather Bureau said "blizzard warnings are in effect for most of Kansas, East Nebraska, Iowa and north-west Missouri."

Sallinger, Hatcher Leave White House

Reedy Appointed As Press Secretary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — George E. Reedy, a close associate of President Johnson since the Chief Executive's Senate days, took over as presidential press secretary today in a surprise changing of the White House guard.

Appointment of the 46-year-old Reedy followed the resignation Thursday of Pierre Salinger, who quit to run for the Democratic nomination to the Senate in California. Salinger was named press secretary in 1961 by President Kennedy.

Leaving with Salinger was Associate Press Secretary Andrew T. Hatcher, another Kennedy appointee and the first Negro ever to serve in the White House press office.

Hatcher accompanied Salinger to California. He is a former California state official who was recruited by Kennedy to aid his 1960 campaign for the presidency.

FIFTH AIDE TO LEAVE

Salinger, who said he decided to resign only hours before his announcement, was the fifth Kennedy aide to leave the White House. The first was former Rep. Brooks Hays, D-Ark., a special assistant to the President.

Shortly after Hays resigned to lecture on politics at Rutgers University, White House special counsel Theodore C. Sorensen and former Harvard historian Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., another presidential assistant, also resigned to write books about the Kennedy administration. The fourth to leave was Timothy J. Reardon Jr., a longtime Kennedy aide who served as secretary to the cabinet.

Salinger's departure was not expected to trigger an exodus of Kennedy administration officials or to presage any sweeping changes in Johnson's press relations.

Harnett Man Caught At Still

A 56-year-old Negro man was arrested by ATF agents at a still in Harnett County Wednesday afternoon.

Oliver McCoy of Lillington was charged with manufacturing non-taxpaid whiskey. The 720-gallon submarine still was destroyed, along with a thousand gallons of mash.

The still was located between Lillington and Sanford about three miles from U. S. 421.

Jubilee Plans Announced

Howard To Hold Revival At Erwin

The Rev. Douglas Farmer, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Erwin says,

"There is no man laboring in God's vineyard like Rev. Charles E. Howard of Bules Creek. A native of North Carolina, he is a graduate of Wake Forest College, head of the Department of Religion at Campbell College for 21 years, father of the Howard Education Foundation which has helped 100's of students thru college."

He is a former pastor of churches throughout North Carolina, leader of numerous revivals, keynote speaker for conferences and conventions throughout America, particularly in the Southern Baptist Convention, a native son of Sampson county, and a beloved friend of the people of Harnett.

This is the period of Jubilee Baptist Revivals and Rev. Howard comes to lead in the evangelistic services at First Baptist in Erwin.

Thomas will offer the Easter prayer and the Rev. J. D. Lee will preside at the special service. The public is cordially invited to attend both services.

Army Rejects Cassius Clay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army announced officially today that heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay "is not qualified for induction into the Army" under the draft.

In announcing his rejection, the Army said it is satisfied that "Clay put forth his best efforts" when he was given physical and mental tests on two occasions.

It was reported that Clay failed the mathematics tests given inductees.

Hospital Bird Will Get Name

Dunn's Hospital Bond Issue Minah Bird remains nameless, in the window of the Program's Headquarters at 206 East Cumberland Street... but not for long!

Paul Perry, the bond issue's Chairman for Special Affairs reported today that over 170 children have made their way to the office to name our "feathery little friend!" The bird and its cage, valued at $106 will be given to some fortunate youngster on Election Day, March 28, when the Voters of Dunn are being asked to endorse the bond issue which will provide our town with a modern, fully equipped, 115 bed hospital! Mr. H. W. Heath of Godwin, Route 1, who contributed our lovely "Asiatic Friend" to the Hospital Campaign in appreciation to the specialized facilities and additional doctors our new hospital will bring to Dunn, will draw the Winner's Card on Saturday, (Continued on Page Eight)

They Favor Bonds

Citizens Tell Why

Mrs. Alice White, R.N., of 509 West Canary Street, urged Dunnites to support the Hospital Bond March 28.

"I am a Registered Nurse doing general duty floor nursing at Betty Johnson Memorial Hospital. As I serve in this capacity, it is very apparent to me that a new hospital is the only answer and an absolute necessity to the families of our community," she said. "The present hospital is trying to meet the needs of this community to the best of its ability, but, due to the overcrowded conditions and the ever increasing demand for us to accommodate more patients in the halls, the situation is becoming quite dangerous from the standpoint of (Continued on Page Eight)
