Blue Asserts Madison Vote Frauds Helped Robert Scott

ABERDEEN — Aberdeen publisher Clifton Blue, opposing Bob Scott in a runoff for lieutenant governor, says liberalite Scott benefitted from the elections fraud in Madison County.

Scott, who also reportedly received most of the Negro bloc vote throughout the State, got 4,594 votes in Madison. Blue got 315 and Sen. John Jordan, who was eliminated, got only 282.

"It is quite evident that the legislative records of Sen. John Jordan and myself in supporting honest election laws is not pleasing to the Madison County machine which supported Scott," said Mr. Blue.

Blue and Scott differ widely on many issues:

Preyer, Moore Agree On Tobacco Court Dealer

Two More Weeks Of Politics

By United Press International
Dan Moore and Richardson Preyer began the next to last week of their campaigning to capture the Democratic nomination for governor today by agreeing that a court order exempting Georgia-Florida tobacco from a 10 per cent acreage cut must be reversed.

The two former judges both criticized the action in statements issued Sunday.

Moore called on the state attorney general to seek to intervene in the appeal of the decision by the U. S. Agriculture Department. He also urged legal officers of other tobacco growing states to seek to enter the case.

Both Moore and Preyer have planned to intensify their campaign this week.

In the east, where most of the support for defeated candidate I. Beverly Lake, rest, state Sen. Ralph Scott of Haw River, brother of the late governor and U. S. Sen. Kerr Scott, and John Williamson, former president of the Flue-Cured Tobacco Growers Association were campaigning hard for Preyer.

Preyer forces hoped this might offset some of the effect of Lake's endorsement of Moore for the nomination.

In the runoff race for the nomination for lieutenant governor, Clifton Blue and Robert Scott were scheduled to appear together for the first time in the second primary battle at Rocky Mount today.

Two white couples out on the town to celebrate a wedding anniversary were attacked by a group of Negroes Sunday night near Times Square while passersby stood by and did nothing.

Police said Michael Massa, 30, his wife, Ann, 27, and Edward Costa, 38, and his wife, Margaret, 30, all of Brooklyn, were approached by two Negroes who made obscene remarks to the women.

Officers said the remarks were ignored at first but when the Negroes placed their hands on the women, the husbands slugged the men and knocked them to the sidewalk.

The Negroes fled into a nearby lunchroom but returned minutes later with six friends, according to police, who said the eight men proceeded to kick and beat Massa and Costa while their wives pleaded in vain for help from passersby.

Detectives said the two white men were thrown to the sidewalk and kicked in the body and face, and one of the women was slapped and knocked to the ground.

The Costas, who were helping the Massas celebrate their 11th wedding anniversary were treated at St. Clare's Hospital for cuts of the face and body and released. Costa's nose was fractured.

"We yelled for help, but nobody helped," one of the women told police.

Mrs. Costa was quoted as saying, "Who cares about these people and civil rights when things like this happen to respectable people?"

Blue said that if charges of election fraud made in Madison County are true, prompt action should be taken to make sure that the guilty are brought to justice.

Blue added that if he is elected, "I will be under no obligation to any political machine designed to thwart the wishes of the people." He added that if elected he will work for passage of laws to make sure "that every voter's ballot is counted and recorded as intended and that only the ballots of the living and qualified are cast and counted."

Court Holds Law Applies To The States

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled today that all members of state legislatures must represent districts substantially equal in population.

It struck down apportionment systems in five states — New York, Alabama, Colorado, Maryland and Virginia.

The court in a series of decisions held that state senators as well as representatives must be elected on an equal population basis.

The first ruling of the day came on the Alabama case. Then the court threw out both a present and proposed apportionment plan for New York.

In the New York case, Chief Justice Earl Warren said: "Neither the existing scheme nor the forthcoming one can be constitutionally condoned."

The New York opinion reversed a lower court which in August, 1962, had upheld the constitutionality of the 68-year-old formula for apportioning seats in both the senate and the assembly.

Warren said the lower court "acting under equitable principles, must now determine whether, because of the imminence of the November election and in order to give the New York Legislature an opportunity to fashion a constitutionally valid legislative apportionment plan, it would be desirable to permit the 1964 election of legislators to be conducted pursuant to the existing provisions."

An alternative, he said, would be whether under the circumstances the right to a properly weighted voice in the election of state legislators should not be delayed beyond the 1964 election.

Justices Potter Stewart and Tom C. Clark dissented from the New York decision.

The court then similarly disposed of the Colorado case with Stewart and Clark again dissenting.

A lower court had upheld the Colorado plan, which was set up under a 1962 amendment to the state constitution.

Happy With Harnett Enthusiasm; Says He's Independent

Mrs. Preyer Says Campaign Going Great, Sees Victory

Mrs. Emily Preyer said here Monday afternoon that her husband's campaign for the gubernatorial nomination "is going wonderfully" and that she's "delighted" over the large number of former Lake supporters who are planning to vote for Rich.

She and Mrs. Gordon Maddrey, State woman's manager, addressed a large crowd of Harnett County Women for Preyer and said she was especially pleased to note among them former Lake supporters from Lillington, Buie's Creek, Bunn-level and other sections of Harnett.

Expressing her husband's determination to win, Mrs. Preyer said: "He's a fighter and he's going to let the people know he's in this race to win," declared Mrs. Preyer, a charmer who quickly scored a big hit with the ladies.

No Such Machine
Mrs. Preyer emphatically declared, "There's no such thing as a Sanford - Bennett - Preyer machine," adding, "Rich Preyer wouldn't be a party to anybody's machine he's too independent for that."

"I know for a fact," she continued, "that he hasn't spoken one single word to Governor Sanford since the campaign started."

"The reason Rich Preyer is in this campaign is because he feels he can give North Carolina the type of leadership and service it needs and deserves."

"And it was not Sanford, Bennett or any other group of politicians who persuaded him to run," asserted Mrs. Preyer. "It was at the request of 16,000 of his fellow citizens in his home county of Guilford who know him and know the kind of government he stands for."

Mrs. Dot Snipes of Dunn, chairman of the Harnett Women for Preyer Committee, said Mrs. Preyer's appearance drew enthusiastic applause from the meeting today and that the ladies promised to redouble their efforts in behalf of Judge Preyer.

Mrs. Preyer said her husband is "more determined than ever to win" and predicted that he would do so with the support of the people and not any political group.

"He's also determined to win," she said, "without having to make promises to any group and after he's elected he'll be accountable only to the people and not under orders or obligation to anybody but the people."

She's out to help him, too, campaigning daily in various parts of the State. Tomorrow she'll be in Wayne County.

Notes Enthusiasm
Mrs. Preyer noted that she has detected "far more enthusiasm among the Preyer forces than shown in the first primary. We all realize that we've got to work harder and that's what we're going to do."

"I'm sure," she added, "that if the same amount of hard work and enthusiasm as I've seen today in Harnett is evidenced in the other counties that we'll win by a wonderful majority."

Mrs. Preyer and Mrs. Maddrey visited Angier, Coats, the Mary Stewart section and other communities in Harnett today.

Thomas Opposes Bitter Campaign

Dr. Clarence Poe, publisher of the Progressive Farmer in Raleigh, said today that the name of John G. Thomas, news director of Radio WCKB here, had been added to a manifesto recently issued urging candidates in the current political campaign to carry on a program of "progress for both races in our state with a minimum of bitterness and illwill."

The original manifesto was signed by Dr. Poe, Henry Belk, editor of the Goldsboro News Argus; and Dr. Carlyle Campbell, president of Meredith College.

No Developments Due Today

Nothing New In Search For Killer

Dunn police Chief Alton A. Cobb said this afternoon he did not expect any developments today in the search for the slayer of Mary Marshall, 22-year-old Dunn beauty school student.

Earlier, he reported that "right much progress" had been made but said it was not enough to bring charges against anybody.

He said his phone was kept busy with calls from various people asking about all sorts of rumors that have been spread. None of them are true, he said.

Johnston county officers returned to Dunn this afternoon to continue work on case.

The blonde Miss Marshall was shot between the eyes about a week ago and her body found in a corn field Wednesday near Clayton.

Authorities were trying to determine whether the girl was raped. Robert Carver of Dunn, the last person known to have seen Miss Marshall alive, was questioned and released by police.

Authorities reported Carver as "extremely cooperative", and said he voluntarily went to Raleigh to submit to a lie detector test.

Cobb said, "we have not learned of anyone else who has dated the girl."

Will Ask Supporters To Do Same

Rocky Backs Scranton

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller Monday threw his support to Pennsylvania Gov. William A. Scranton in the battle for the Republican presidential nomination.

Rockefeller said he decided to support Scranton "in order to fight for the basic principles of progress and moderation on which the Republican party was founded and has prospered."

The New York governor, according to a United Press International survey, had 123 delegates to add to the 111 already committed to Scranton.

"The hour is late, but if all leaders in the moderate mainstream of the Republican party will unite upon a platform and upon Gov. Scranton as the candidate, the moderate cause can still be won. I urge all those who share this view to enlist now in that cause," he said.

Rockefeller did not hold a news conference. His statement was handed to newsmen by the governor's press secretary.
