Harnett Agent
Discusses Making Pickles

MAKING PICKLES AT HOME— Pickle products add spice to meals or snacks. The skillful blending of spices, sugar, and vinegar with fruits and vegetables gives crisp, firm texture and pungent, sweet-sour flavor.

Pickles and relishes contribute some nutritive value, contain little or no fat, and except for the sweet type are low in calories.

There are four general classes. Brined pickles — Also called fermented pickles, go through a curing process of about three weeks. Dilled Cucumbers and sauerkraut belong in this group. Curing changes color from a bright green to an olive or yellow green. A desirable flavor is developed during curing. Fresh Pack Pickles—cross cut cucumber slices are brined for several hours or overnight, then drained combined with boiling-hot vinegar, spices and other seasonings. They are quick and easy to prepare. They have a tart, pungent flavor.

Fruit Pickles — Are usually prepared from whole fruits, and simmered in a spicy, sweet sour syrup. They should be bright in color, uniform size, tender and firm. Relishes — are prepared from fruits and vegetables which are chopped, seasoned, and then cooked to desired consistency. Clear, bright color and uniformity in size of pieces make an attractive product.

Ingredients for successful pickling — satisfactory pickles products can be obtained only when good-quality ingredients are used and proper procedures are followed, correct proportions of fruits or vegetables, sugar, salt, vinegar and spices are essential. Alum and lime are not needed to make pickles crisp and firm if good quality ingredients and up-to-date procedures are followed. Use tested recipes.

Use fresh vegetables as soon as possible after gathering. If they cannot be used immediately, refrigerate them. Cucumbers deteriorate rapidly at room temperature.

Wash vegetables thoroughly in cold water. Use a brush and wash only a few at the time. Wash under running water or through several changes of water. Clinging soil may contain bacteria that are hard to destroy.

Be sure to remove blossoms from cucumbers. They may be a source of enzymes responsible for softening the cucumbers during fermentation. Salt — Use granulated salt. Do not use iodized salt; it may darken pickles. Vinegar — Use a high-grade cider or white distilled vinegar of 4- percent acidity. White distilled vinegar has a sharp, pungent acetic acid taste and is desirable when light color is important. Do not dilute vinegar unless recipe specifies.

Spices — Use fresh spices for best flavor in pickles. Spices deteriorate and quickly lose their
