

Variety Of Soil Programs Underway

By W. E. BOYKIN and F. M. PURYEAR
Harnett Soil and Water Conservationists

J. C. Christian near Lillington near Hwy. 421 built an irrigation pond this spring.

M. S. Wester in the Kipling community completed a nice irrigation pond this spring.

Jesse Ray Mann in the Coats section had a pond on his farm. When he purchased another farm, he built an irrigation pond on that farm this spring.

L. H. Kelly of near Broadway built an irrigation pond this spring.

The J. A. Buchanan Estate near Broadway built an irrigation pond this spring.

Drainage Tile

The J. G. Layton's Estate installed tile drain in several fields this spring. The Layton Estate has used tile previously and understands how much it can help wet parts of a field.

Richard Lee Currin of near Currin's Cross Roads installed some drain tile this spring. He had some installed in years gone by and is well pleased with the results he received from the use of it.

Mrs. Ila S. Barbour, of Angier had tile installed in two sections of a field this spring.

Noel Cameron of near Boone Trail School recently completed and impounded irrigation pond.

Roger Mabry of near Currin's Cross Roads installed drainage tile this spring. Mabry has installed tile several years before this year.

Harold Turinsten of near Turinston's Cross Roads installed some drain tile this year.

Soil Savers

Curtis Adams a Soil and Water Conservation farmer near Currin's Cross Roads is carrying out a good system conserving his soil. Some of the things he is using are graded waterways, field borders of fescue, contour tillage and grass in rotation.

Victor Mangum near Nells Creek Church excavated an irrigation pond this spring.

Lexie Patterson in the Broadway section is in the process of building an irrigation pond.

Hughie Gardner near Angier has built a nice pond. He took a wet unsightly place out in a field and converted it into a nice pond that will cover several acres when it is full.

Grass Rotation

W. J. Broadwell Jr., east of Angier is carrying out a good cropping system on his farm. Some of his fields slope in more than one direction but he is cultivating his land on the contour just as near as possible. Another thing he is doing is using a grass in rotation with his tobacco. This practice has many advantages. It will reduce the need for irrigation of the tobacco in a dry year. The organic matter which the grass puts in the soil improves the quality and quantity of tobacco. Another advantage is that the grass in this cropping system helps to reduce erosion. When you reduce erosion by holding good top soil in the field instead of letting it wash down the hillside it is just like putting money in the bank. Nature's bank is the top soil. The soil, like freedom, is not appreciated until it is gone.

On Nation's Highways

New Death Record

CHICAGO (UPI) — The nation's drivers set new records for death on the highway during June and the first six months of the year, the National Safety Council said today.

There were 45,840 traffic deaths recorded in the year ended June 30, more than the total number of U.S. battle deaths in the Revolutionary War and Korean War combined.

The 3,980 traffic fatalities in June brought the death toll for the first half of the year to 21,280, breaking the all-time high set only last year. The month's total was 7 per cent more than last June while the year thus far has had 12 per cent more traffic deaths than in the first six months of 1963.
