Student Group Is Arrogant At Hearings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A second day of hearings into an unauthorized trip to Cuba this summer by 84 young Americans got off to a gavel-pounding, acrimonious start today.
A 24-year-old Antioch College graduate, said to be a leader of the student travelers, challenged the legality of the investigation by the House Committee on Un-American Activities and its right to question him.
Edward Lemansky, New York City, got into a shouting match with Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo., chairman of the hearing.
Lemansky said the committee was unconstitutional in its creation and operation; that some of its members were illegally elected; and that it attacked communism as alien while considering nazism "home grown."

In Highway Accidents This Weekend

490-590 Expected To Die

Millions of Americans take to the nation's highways today for the start of the 78-hour Labor Day weekend, the last holiday of summer. The National Safety Council estimates between 490 and 590 persons will die in traffic accidents. The weekend officially begins at 6 p.m. today and ends at midnight Monday.
The North Carolina Patrol has launched a "lights-on" campaign to make motorists more conscious of highway safety over the Labor Day holiday.

From 6 p.m. today, when the weekend starts, until it ends at midnight on Monday, drivers were urged by the Patrol to burn their headlights as a reminder to others to follow the rules of the road and cut the annual Labor Day death toll.

A similar campaign was carried out by the patrol two years ago. Last year there were 20 traffic fatalities out of a total of 774 accidents in North Carolina during Labor Day weekend. And though 650 troopers will be on duty throughout the weekend, the patrol office still estimates that 22 persons will die in wrecks.

Speeders Beware

The grim Labor Day tally sheet shows that 167 people have died in traffic accidents on the holiday weekend in the past 10 years. The worst year was 1961, with 23 fatalities.

Last year, speeding 65 to 75 miles an hour was a major reason for traffic fatalities, along with driving left of the center lane.

The troopers on duty this weekend have been ordered to keep a particularly keen eye out for speedsters and drinkers. It's expected that some two million vacation-bound vehicles will be traveling the State's highways.

Lees Grove Has Full Time Pastor

On Tuesday, Lees Grove Pentecostal Free Will Baptist Church began the new church conference year with a full-time pastor, the Rev. C. W. Kirby of Dunn. He has served the church for 17 years on a part-time basis along with the Pentecostal Free Will Baptist Church in Selma, a pastorate he has held for 16 years.

Rev. Kirby resigned the Selma church to become the full time pastor of Lees Grove.

Lees Grove has made much progress during the years of Rev. Kirby's pastorate. By having a full time pastor, though, the church is expected to make even greater strides.

Rev. Kirby and his wife work together with the musical part of the service doing special singing.

The church is located about 1 1/2 miles from Dunn on the Old Fairground Road. Today, the pastor and the church jointly extended an invitation to the public to attend any of the church services.

Accused of Filing False Reports

Angier Residents Five U. S. Charges

The president and secretary of an Angier wholesaler company were arrested and placed under bonds of $1,000 apiece today on U. S. District Court grand jury indictment charging the firm with making fraudulent reports to the government concerning sale of half-gallon fruit jars allegedly designed for the bootleg liquor traffic.

Indicated on a felony warrant by the grand jury in Raleigh were L. H. Altman, Jr., president of the L. H. Altman Wholesale Co. Inc and his wife, Nancy A. Altman. A deputy U. S. Marshal also served a court summons on the corporation.

Art Bryant, head of the Dunn ATU office, said they are charged in several different counts involving hundreds of cases of fruit jars. He disclosed that the company's operations had been under surveillance for sometime and had previously been served with a mandatory order requiring them to report the sale of all fruit jars and the names of purchasers.

Bryant said agents from the Raleigh and Charlotte ATU offices had assisted with the long investigation which resulted in the indictment on August 24.

Trial is set for the next term of U. S. District Court in Raleigh.

Joe Norwood, Chamber of Commerce president, said that Scott will speak at 5 p. m. that Saturday in the big parking lot behind the courthouse.

Announcement of Scott's appearance and participants in the 3:30

Judge Refuses To Let Them Pay Out

Two Demonstrators Serve Jail Terms

Two Dunn Negroes were serving jail sentence today as the result of an incident that occurred while they were engaged in racial demonstrations here earlier this year.

Thompson and Brown were tried in Harnett Superior Court for use of vulgar language in the presence of two or more persons and cursing and assaulting Mrs. Doris Whittington of Rt. 3, Dunn during a racial demonstration in Dunn April 11.

The two youths were allegedly carrying signs on the sidewalk in front of the Muse Supermarket in Dunn when Mrs. Whittington drove up, got out of the car and started into the store. "They began cursing me to everything and wouldn't move out or my way," she testified.

Thompson took the stand and denied he started the row. He claimed Mrs. Whittington said, "you look like a — baby totting that sign!" He said he, told her: "If you had a little more manners I would let you help me tote it."

He denied the allegation that he told Mrs. Whittington to meet him in the alley that night to "fix" her as she had testified the Judge directed a verdict of not guilty as to simple assault. The defendants pleaded guilty to the use of vulgar language.

Judge Hamilton Hobgood sent Jerry Thompson to jail for 20 days and Larry Brown was led from the courtroom to serve ten days.

Sympathizers were on hand with money to try to pay them out but Judge Hamilton sternly rejected any idea of a fine or suspended sentence.

THESE LITTLE THINGS

By Hoover Adams

MOORE HONORS MORGAN; OTHER LITTLE NOTES

Harnett Senator Robert Morgan received a nice surprise during the Democratic convention in Atlantic City last week.

Democratic gubernatorial nominee Dan Moore learned that the popular Harnett official had missed celebrating his wedding anniversary with Mrs. Morgan in order to attend the convention.

Quite unexpectedly, Sen. Morgan received an urgent call to go to the Governor-nominee's hotel suite immediately.

Upon arrival, he found that Mr. and Mrs. Moore had invited a number of other Tar Heels for a dinner party in honor of his anniversary. "I was flabbergasted and also deeply grateful," says the Senator. His only regret was that Katie had remained at home to look after the children and couldn't be present.

LITTLE NOTES: Myres Tilghman, prominent local business man, has served on the board of Betsy Johnson Hospital for about 20 years.

Yesterday, Mayor George Franklin Blinlock said, Tilghman ought to resign as the result of the controversy over a hospital site. Asked for comment on the mayor's blast today, Mr. Tilghman smiled and replied, "Woe unto me." He declined further comment.

For Narcotics Violation

Jones Gets Suspended Term

Mack Weldon Jones, Dunn white man, came before the bench charged with having narcotics in his possession, the kind that keep one awake, usually sold at bus stops and service stations.

He had purchased two dozen capsules for $2, he told the court.

There was no evidence that Jones had ever sold any. Hobgood commented before passing sentence that "I am inclined to be lenient. But if there was evidence that you were selling drugs, you'd be long gone."

Jones was given 12 months, suspended and placed on probation three years on condition he not possess any prescription-type medicine except authorized by a medical doctor, plus pay a $100 fine and court costs.

Bobby McDuffie of Dunn, charged with auto larceny, pleaded nolo contendere and was given six months in jail. But the judge stayed the commitment order because the defendant had already been in jail 24 days.

And the sentence was suspended on condition McDuffie violate no criminal law for two years and not drive a motor vehicle for two years.

Grand Jury Action
True bills were returned against the following: Pauline Byrd Johnson for murder of Willie Maynor, Curley Range for murder of Roger Elliott, and Richard Smith for murder of Archie McLean.

The Grand Jury gave a clean bill of health to jails in Dunn, Angier, the prison camp and the county jail.
