Mayor Signs Proclamation

Mayor George F. Blalock has signed a proclamation declaring September 17-23 as Constitution Week.

In the proclamation he urged "the people to observe this week with appropriate ceremonies and activities in their schools and churches and in other suitable places to the end that our citizens may have a better understanding of the Constitution and of the rights and responsibilities of United States citizenship."

He also called upon the appropriate officials of Dunn to display the flag of the United States on all government buildings on Citizenship Day (Sept. 17); and local officials as well as all religious, civic, educational and other organizations to hold appropriate ceremonies on that day "to inspire all our citizens to pledge themselves anew to the service of their country and to the support and defense of the Constitution.

The proclamation was signed by Mayor Blalock at the request of Mrs. N. M. Johnson, Sr., regent of the Cornelius Harnett Chapter, DAR, who is also chairman of Constitution Week.

This year marks the 175th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution.

QUOTA JONAS... From deep in the innards of the Republican Party comes word that a plan used successfully by the GOP in North Carolina two years ago will serve as a guide for all precincts in the nation this Election.

The Republican National Executive Committee, which has just announced plans to spend approximately 13 million dollars (as against the Democrats' 20 million) to elect its followers this fall, will use a quota system for each precinct.

And, in pushing the quota system, the national moguls of the Party, point to the efficiency of the plan when used to keep Congressman Charles R. Jonas in Washington (over Paul Kitchin) after "he had been gerrymandered out of his old seat".

In the shake-up in North Carolina — caused by a population loss in the eastern part of the State — we lost a Congressman. The Legislature decided it might well be Jonas. Pitted against Kitchin in the reconstructed Eighth District Jonas won — thanks, the Republicans feel, to the quota plan.

Quotas help, as in selling cars, insurance, memberships in the country club, and what-have-you. But, first, you must have a good product. This the Republicans should not overlook as they go out with the hard-sell in the scant ten weeks lying between now and the close of the contest on November 3.

WHO WOULD WIN?... With Jonas safely in the fold, the Republicans started grooming him for Governor in 1964. This opportunity he eschewed. Suppose Charlie Jonas — not Bob Gavin — were opposing Dan K. Moore, who would win?

Incidentally Moore and Jonas are a lot alike in appearance and demeanor. We think Moore would win. Now, as further conjecture what if Jonas were opposing Richardson Preyer? (Watch that prejudice!)

AT LEAST TWO... Two things you have not heard the last of:

1. The Zeno Ponder thing up in Madison County. What a stink!
2. The sudden dismissal of long-time SBI Agent Bill Wilson. Why?

BATTLE IN '68... By all odds the best political move yet made by the Moore people was last week's naming of J. M. Broughton as chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Broughton, a Wake Forest alumnus, is liked by Lake, is not disliked by the Sanford wing of the Party, is clean as a hound's tooth, and loved by the Baptists. That's not a bad combination.

Although their campaign paths never ran together as one path, J. M. Broughton and Kerr Scott had mutual admiration for each other in 1948. Scott was running against Johnson for Governor. Broughton was running against Umstead for the U. S. Senate.

Broughton had served four good years as Governor (1941-45) and had been running for the Senate for four years. Scott had been Agriculture Commissioner with a good record. Both made it, Broughton dying soon after going to Washington. Scott eventually filled the same Senate seat — after serving four years as Governor — and died there.

As things look now, it will be Broughton and Scott again in 1968 — a generation later — with both of them running for Governor.

It may be that nobody in North Carolina can beat Bob Scott. But, if there is one person, it is none other than J. Melville Broughton. But, ironically, their name may not prove as important as some other facets of his beings. Scott must still serve his apprenticeship. Broughton, in many ways, has already done this.

GOOD OLD DAYS... "Backward, turn backward, O time in thy flight. Make me a child again just for tonight." Thus ran one of our finest old tear-jerkers.

We would all like to return — even if just for four years — to the scenes of our childhood. This applies to all of us, including Governor's sons, J. Melville Broughton, Robert W. Scott — and Hector MacLean of Lumberton, a State Senator... and ambitious.

Give him two or three more years — and you may come up with Luther Hodges, Jr. Governor Umstead's daughter — not interested — but Blucher Ehringhaus here could be. None of the Gardner's tried it, but one ran for Congress and was defeated by Basil Whittaker.

Terry Sanford, Jr., 12, won't be due until about 1990.

There is something about that Mansion, say what you will. Gov. Sanford said in a special Charlotte Observer interview this week "... Margaret Rose and I have enjoyed very minute of it."

Fine. But yet... to this good hour... no North Carolina Governor (though Sanford hints he might try, has ever come back around (he can't succeed himself) and been elected Governor a second time. And no Governor's son... despite his love for the old home has ever been permitted officially to darken its door again.

And just think of all the others — the Bailey's, the Fountain's, the McDonald's, Graham's, Horton's, Cooper's, and Johnson's, the Maxwell's, McRae's, Gravelly's, and Grady's — who couldn't get there at all. The also — ran's.

"In my Father's house are many mansions..." True, and though distant, much more easily attainable for the most of us than the many-gabled one so hungered for on Blount Street.

BIGGEST... Gov. Sanford says his biggest disappointment is: failure to reduce highway traffic accidents and deaths. "I think something drastic must be done," says the Governor. This is coming. What will it be.

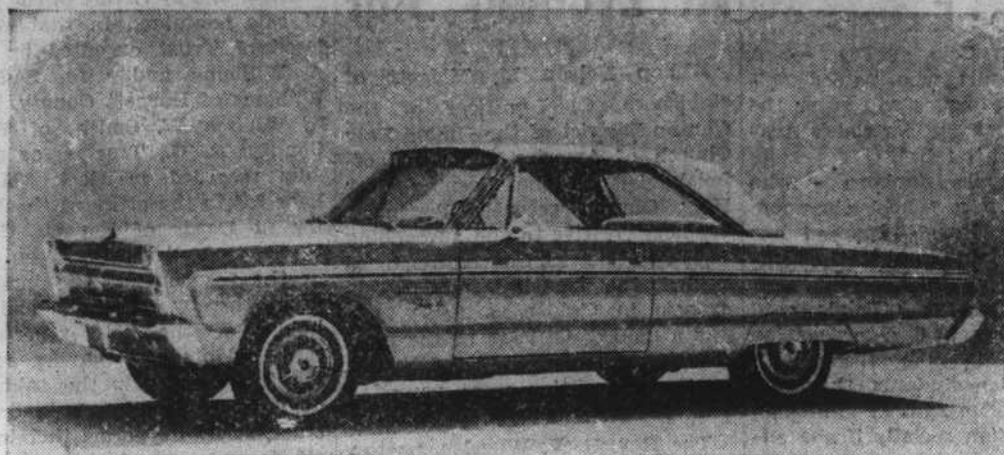

Concert Planned At Dunn Chapel

The Senior Choir of the Dunn Chapel Free Will Baptist Church will present the Rev. and Mrs. John W. Peek in concert Sunday evening at 7:30. The Peeks are heard each first and third Sunday morning on Chuck's Spiritual Hour over W. C. K. B.

Rev. Peek is pastor of the historic Harrington Chapel Church, Southern Pines, and Turlington Grove near Erwin. He is also a music teacher. Mrs. Eva Minter is extending a cordial invitation to everyone to attend this fine music program.

WASHINGTON — Profits of manufacturing concerns in the second quarter climbed 17 per cent from a year ago on a 6 per cent gain in sales, the government has reported. Profits rose to $6.1 billion from $5.1 billion in the early months of the year and $5.2 billion in the second quarter of last year. The profit margin was 5.5 per cent compared with 4.9 per cent in the first quarter.

New, Bigger Plymouth Fury For 196

Plymouth's new entry in the low-priced, full-sized car field, the 1965 Fury, has a completely new body, a new, longer wheelbase of 119 inches, wider front and rear tread, and greater over-all width. There are 22 Fury models in four different series: Fury I, Fury II, Fury III, and Sport Fury. New Fury sedans are the longest-wheelbase Plymouth sedans ever produced. Large new Fury station wagons are on a 121-inch wheelbase. The 1965 Fury styling accentuates its increased size as shown in this picture of the Fury III two-door hardtop. Body lines are crisp and angular. There is a choice of five engines, ranging in displacement from the 225 cubic inch economy six to the 426 cubic inch high-performance V-8. Plymouth continues to provide a 5-year or 50,000 mile warranty on engine and drive train components for all lines of 1965 cars. It will go on display Friday, Sept. 25 at W & S Motor Co. in Dunn and at Coats Motor Co. in Coats.

DAR Announces Special Observance

Citizenship Day and Constitution week will be observed in Dunn September 17 through the 23. The announcement was made today by Mrs. Nathan M. Johnson, Sr., regent of the Cornelius Harnett Chapter, N. S., Daughters of the American Revolution who is also serving as constitution chairman of the week's activities.

On the first day of the observance the Mayor's Proclamation of Constitution Week will be read over the local radio station.

"The Constitution," discourse by Mrs. Johnson will be read over WCKB Friday at 5:10 p.m. At 5:10 Saturday the station will carry the Constitution presented by the Belle Fleming Chapter, Children of the American Revolution, of which Mrs. Cad Upchurch is senior president.

"On Sunday, Mrs. Johnson said, "pastors of the churches of Harnett County are requested to stress the blessings of God as granted all Americans under our Constitution," by John G. Thomas Wednesday at 5:10.

In connection with Constitution Week, Mrs. Johnson said, window displays are in Lillington, Buies Creek, Erwin and Dunn stores. Also a feature of the week's activities is a five minute talk daily over WCKB by the station's news director, Mr. Thomas, on the amendments of the U. S. Constitution.

Heading activities in area towns are Mrs. E. H. Bost and Mrs. Z. E. Mathews, Erwin; Mrs. E. H. Laater, Buies Creek; Mrs. R. K. Footman and Mrs. A. L. Johnson Lillington.

Also planned for the week, added Mrs. Johnson, are news editorials on Constitution by Rev. Tom Freeman, pastor of the First Baptist Church; old patriotic musical selections throughout the week over WCKB; spots from National DAR given throughout the week by Mr. Thomas; lapel flags worn by all active members of the Cornelius Harnett Chapter and flag displays by residents and business firms.

Flags have been placed in banks, business firms and the library by local DAR members.
