Powell Cash For Towns In Harnett

Harnett's four municipalities will get a total of $55,634 in allocation from state Powell bill sources.

The monies to Harnett include: $6,381 to Angier; $5,731 to Coats; $35,158 to Dunn, and $8,364 to Lillington.

The funds are reverted back to the towns from fuel taxes collected in the county.

The allocations are part of $8,324,555 to 420 participating communities. Checks will be mailed from Raleigh to the towns later this month.

UPSY-DAISY—Candido Andres, a novice bullfighter, appears to be doing a balancing act on the back of the enraged bull during a fight in Madrid. Oddly, the matador was unhurt after being tossed high in the air.

Gets Suspended Term, Sent To Alcoholic Ward

Man Assaults Own Mother

Hubert McAuley, Lillington, charged with assaulting his mother and brother with a knife inflicting serious injury, pleaded not guilty in Harnett Recorder's court.

Judge Robert Morgan found him guilty and gave him 30 days on the roads, suspended on condition he voluntarily commit himself to State hospital for treatment because court learned he was an alcoholic and an epileptic in need of treatment.

James Massengill, Lillington Policeman, said he received a call to come to the home of Mrs. Florence McAuley. When he arrived he said, he found Hubert lying on the ground and thought he was dead, but found he was conscious.

Massengill also found Mrs. McAuley, Hubert's mother, and his brother with lacerations on their arms allegedly made by the defendant. Massengill first carried both victims to Dr. J. K. Willford, and after examination he sent them to Dunn hospital. Neither of the victims was present to testify, and did not swear out the warrants against the defendant.

Henry Noun McDougald, Broadway Rt. 1, was charged with assaulting his wife, Marie McDougald with a tobacco stick. He pleaded not guilty, but evidence showed he broke the tobacco stick on her and left bruises on her head.

Judgment was continued on condition he not molest or assault his wife and keep payments paid regularly for support of his children.

Curtis Blackman, Fayetteville, was given 18 months on the roads for non-support of his child, aged 10. Evidence showed Welfare had been supporting the child for past three years. Judge Morgan in passing sentence recommended that the defendant be allowed to work under the release plan.

The case against Freeman Harris, Rt. 1, Bunnlevel, for assault on Bernice Byrd, was not-prossed when State witness was not in court to testify. Robert Thornton Haire, Rt. 1, Lillington, driving under the influence, paid a fine of $100 and cost.

Louis McLean, Lillington, pleaded no. guilty to assault on his wife with a drink crate breaking her arm. Court found that he owed cost in a former case and Judge Morgan ordered him to pay that cost today. Judgment reserved in case today.

Freeman Harris, Rt. 1, Bunnlevel, assault, PJC; Joseph Senter, Lillington, driving after license suspended, speeding 100 mph motion to dismiss speed action allowed; guilty of driving after license suspended, PJC two months pay $200 fine and costs (remit fine).
