Mrs. Tart Facing Violation Of Parole

Mr. Pauline Tart well-known South Erwin business woman who already is under Federal probation for violation of tobacco marketing laws, was convicted in Harnett Recorder's Court on charges of possession of whiskey for the purpose of sale.

She was arrested in a raid on Saturday night, Sept. 5 by county officers.

Deputy Sheriff Clarence Moore, the principal witness, said she was red-handed as she ran to pour out the whiskey and then readily admitted she had been selling beer and whiskey over the counter at her cafe and dance hall.

The raid, related the officer, took her by surprise. Sheriff Wade Stewart, Deputies Moore, Lemuel Gregory and Buck Griffin went to her front door and ATU agent Art Bryant and Woodray Herring local ABC officer, went to the back door.

Moore said when Mrs. Tart saw them she grabbed up part of the whiskey and ran to the back door to pour it out. She spotted Bryant and Herring, both wearing civilian clothing, at the back door, thought they were customers and told them, "Let me throw this out. The law is here after me." The two officers quickly relieved her of the bottles.

A search turned up liquor, both bootleg and taxpaid in her bedroom and in the cafe. Beer was found in the dance hall.

State Senator Robert Morgan, defending Mrs. Tart, moved that the court squash the indictment on grounds the search warrant was illegally drawn and executed. Judge Robert Morgan refused, however, and found her guilty.

He fined her $50 and costs and Senator Morgan filed notice of appeal to Harnett Superior Court.

During the recent court term three soldiers signed an affidavit in which they swore they had bought liquor from Mrs. Tart. Deputy Moore said they had been trying to catch her for sometime but that previous raids failed to turn up whiskey.

ford reportedly wants a job in Washington and is now playing up to Johnson, whom he opposed at the Los Angeles convention in favor of Kennedy.

The Greensboro Daily News said today that speculation is that the President made the decision himself to come to N. C. He reportedly wants to use this State as a springboard in the South. The Raleigh News and Observer said today in its biggest headline: "Johnson To Open Fight For South In Raleigh."

The Greensboro paper said Sanford, in his eagerness to bring LBJ to Raleigh, had extended him a blanket invitation to come anytime. Members of the Washington delegation had also suggested he come.

At the same time it was learned that Congressman Harold Cooley opposed a move by the YDC to bring Sen. Humphrey into the State and said his appearance would hurt.

When informed that the President is pushing his way into the State and that he couldn't prevent it, Moore issued a statement saying he would show him the usual courtesy extended any President of the U. S. who visits any State.

He takes the position that the President, whoever he might be, is entitled to a warm welcome, courtesy and respect wherever he goes. That's what LBJ will get from Moore - nothing more.

Sanford, on the other hand, issued a flowery statement saying that he "along with millions of Tar Heels is delighted over the visit."

Party leaders fear that the President's visit could have an adverse effect in view of his championship of civil rights.

Expressing belief that Gov. Sanford's support is what led gubernatorial candidate Richardson Preyer to such a crushing defeat, some party leaders fear that for Sanford and the President to appear together and be photographed together might hurt the entire Democratic ticket in the same way they believe it defeated Preyer.

Sanford will introduce the Pres-

Three Arrested In Bombing Of Home

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three white men were arrested in Mississippi today on charges of bombing the homes of two Negroes near McComb, Miss.

The arrest of the three white men was announced in Washington by Acting Atty. Gen. Nicolas Katzenbach and by Mississippi Gov. Paul Johnson. The men were arrested by FBI agents working closely with the Mississippi highway safety patrol and Pike County Sheriff R. R. Warren.

They were charged with violation of a Mississippi law banning unlawful use of explosives. The law carries a possible death penalty. If the jury does not vote the death penalty, the court could impose a prison sentence of any length.

About $750 Cash Stolen

Clues Missing

Rural policeman Carson Hall of Dunn said today that officers are still without any significant clues in the smashing of a safe in the office of Nu-Home Builders Supply Co. on North Ellis Avenue here last night.

Tommy Godwin, owner of the establishment, said between $1,000 and $2,000 in cash and checks were taken from the safe. Of this amount about $750 was in cash.

Godwin discovered the robbery when he opened his office. The safe, which weighs about a ton, had been broken open with a sledge hammer, chisel and other such dent.

Moore has stated he will be on the platform, but apparently he'd rather be elsewhere. Moore refused to accompany Lady Bird Johnson across the State but agreed for his wife and daughter to do so strictly as a courtesy.

"The TWUA supported and worked strenuously for an end to the two-price cotton system," continued Byrd. We did not anticipate that the industry would turn the benefits of one-price cotton into a one-way street for increased profits. Neither did the President or Congress. We anticipated consumers would benefit from lower prices and workers would enjoy higher wages, fringe benefits and increased employment opportunities. So far, these hopes have not been fulfilled."

Declaring the law wasn't intended just to fatten industry profits, Byrd warned that continued failure to share the benefits might cause the union to withdraw its support of the one-price system when the law came up for extension in Congress in 1968.
