THESE LITTLE THINGS

By Hoover Adams

CHARLIE, COUSIN EARL, DOUGALD, OTHER NOTES

Dunn Chamber of Commerce Manager Charlie McCullers, who's just likely to be speaking in Miami, Fla. one day and Nome, Alaska the next, returned a few days ago from a speaking tour which took him to Massena, New York, right up on the Canadian border.

The occasion was the annual conference of the 704 District of Rotary International, of which Charlie is a former district governor, international director and what-have-you.

He appeared with a lot of other Rotary dignitaries as the principal speaker at the annual International Dinner. It's nothing unusual for Charlie to fill big-time speaking engagements (he gets paid for them too). The interesting thing, he said today, is that so many Canadians were present every session started with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and "God Save the Queen."

N. Y. White Pupils Refuse To Integrate

NEW YORK (UPI) — Scores of white students from an elementary school in New York City planned to attend a private school today rather than submit to a school board integration plan requiring them to transfer outside their neighborhood.

Police arrested 65 white parents of children in the school at Jackson Heights, Queens, Wednesday during a sit-in demonstration protesting the plan & then scuffled with pickets protesting the arrests.

About 800 school children witnessed the fracas and some of

To Help Pay For New Plant Facilities

Town To Increase Mill Water Rate

Members of Dunn's city council decided Wednesday night to reopen negotiations with officials of Erwin Mills, Inc. in order to seek an increase in the rate the mills pay the Town of Dunn for water to supply Erwin.

Mayor George Franklin Blalock pointed out that the town is having to spend a whopping sum of money -- $1,167,000 -- for construction of a new water plant to serve needs of the two communities.

He feels that Erwin Mills should be willing to pay a slight increase in water rates to help the town pay off the indebtedness for the water facilities. Other members of the council agreed.

At present, the town wholesales water to Erwin Mills for 17.6 per thousand gallons and the mill resells it to Erwin citizens at the same rate paid by Dunn consumers. The consumer rate is $1.65 for the first 2,000 gallons, 38.5 cents for the next 2,000 gallons and the (Continued On Page Six)

Would Abolish Quotas, Admit More To Nation

EAST CHICAGO, Ind. (UPI) — President Johnson, barnstorming the Midwest and bidding for an election day landslide said today immigration laws should be revised because they "discriminate on the basis of national origin."

He made the proposal in Indiana's steel-making Lake County, where the Polish vote is powerful. Johnson was on a cross-country tour which started with enthusiastic crowds in the Midwest's corn belt Wednesday. He was scheduled to press on to Indianapolis and Cleveland, Ohio, for more speeches today.

On a high school football field in East Chicago, Johnson said: "There is no limit to what American can be -- if only we remain true to the ideals that have guided us so long and so well."

Laws Discriminate
"That is why we must do something about the immigration laws. These laws discriminate on the basis of national origin."
"Two-thirds of the national immigration quota goes under that law to people who never use all their quota," the President said. He proposed gradual elimination of the quotas which he called discriminatory and a raise of 2,000 in the over-all immigration limit.

He said the increase would amount to "1-80th of one per cent of our work force."

Rep. William E. Miller, GOP vice presidential candidate, said in northern Indiana last month that Johnson's immigration policies would "open the flood-gates." Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, Republican presidential candidate, in another campaign stop in the area last month, referred to his own Polish background but made no comment on immigration policies.

Traditionally Democratic
East Chicago, where Johnson started his day of campaigning, is in Lake County just across the state line from Chicago and part of the giant south Chicago steel-making complex. The county is traditionally Democratic, but last (Continued On Page Six)

Barry Says In Johnson's Home State

L. B. Johnson Seeks To Frighten

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Sen. Barry M. Goldwater carried his campaign into President Johnson's home state again today with a charge that the Chief Executive "did not seek to enlighten, but only to frighten" the voters.

The GOP presidential nominee made the comment in a speech prepared for delivery at the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum on the Texas Tech campus. He was also scheduled to speak at El Paso, before flying to his own home city of Phoenix, Ariz., for an evening speech at the convention of the Contracting Plasterers and Lathers International Association.

The Goldwater foray into Texas, which he has said many times is vital to his bid for the White House, marked the beginning of a 10-day, coast-to-coast campaign. In a 15-hour prelude Wednesday, Goldwater ran a gauntlet of rough campaign heckling in northern New Jersey but ended his day with tumultuous overflow rallies in West Orange and Teaneck.

In his Lubbock speech today, Goldwater accused Johnson of dodging the issues and of basing his campaign "on political doubletalk as to his own record and political deception as to mine."

In Brick Contest At Fair

Parker To Compete

Bobby V. Parker of Benson, bricklayer apprentice, will match his masonry skill against some 40 others from all sections of the state in the 11th Annual N. C. Apprentice Bricklaying Contest to be held at 10 a. m. Friday October 16, at the State Fair in Raleigh.

Parker is employed by Johnson and Sorrell Masonry Contractors of Benson. He has been training under the state-sponsored Apprenticeship Training Program for the past eight months, working on the job as a paid employee of Johnson and Sorrell under the supervision of skilled bricklayers.

Savings bond prizes totaling $350 are at stake in the bricklaying contest. First-place winner will be awarded a $200 bond, second place runner-up a $100 bond, and third place contestant a $50 bond. The champion and the employer with whom he is receiving his apprenticeship training also will be awarded engraved trophies. The trophies and bond prizes are donated by contest sponsors, including the Associated General Contractors and Brick and Tile Service, Inc. Bricklaying tool prizes will be given all contestants.

Commissioners pointed out that they recognize "the inadequacy of existing school facilities in the county" and expressed belief that approval of the issue would provide a necessary portion of the funds needed for modernizing the schools.

"The board does hereby solicit the support of all organized groups to use their influence" in support of the issue.

Just Slightly Ruffled

No Bother

ABOARD THE LADY BIRD SPECIAL (UPI) — Discounting the first boisterous heckling of her Southern campaign, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson planned a carriage tour of historic Charleston, S. C., today before aiming her "Lady Bird Special" for Georgia and Florida.

The red, white and blue train was to leave Charleston this morning for the 100-mile trip through the South Carolina marsh lands to Savannah, Ga., the first scheduled stop.

Mrs. Johnson was ruffled but not discouraged by the loud and continued heckling from small groups at Columbia, Orangeburg and Charleston. She said she knew there were going to be "rough spots" when she started the 1,600-mile trip through eight states Tuesday. "I think it the heckling puts more vigor in our own workers," she said. In each instance, the hecklers were small in number, bunched together and egged on by "cheerleaders." They chanted "We Want Barry" and kept up running comments and noise throughout the speeches by Mrs. Johnson and other dignitaries.
