conservative government. The Lake Political Association reportedly still backs Democratic candidate for governor Dan K. Moore, but is so far uncommitted in the national election.

The journal also asked Lake if he would continue to campaign for Moore, who won the nomination partially because of Lake's support, in a hard-fought second primary with L. Richardson Preyer.

Following his nomination, Moore offered only lukewarm support to the national ticket, but last week endorsed the Johnson - Humphrey ticket un-equivocally following a visit to North Carolina by the President and Mrs. Johnson.

"I spoke for Judge Moore in Wilmington," the Journal quoted Lake "of course, that was before President Johnson's visit to Raleigh."
