When Your Heating System Leaves You Cold...

...take the chill off with the nicest housewarming ever — flameless electric heat.

— Much trouble to install? Very little. And it can be done without interrupting your present heating system so you're never without heat. It's a most sensible way to add warmth to chilly areas now—guard against furnace failure in the future.

— Like the idea of individual temperature control for each room? You can get this unique feature only with electric heat. Whether it be for bedroom, bath or living area, you select the exact degree of comfort you prefer.

The next time your heating system leaves you cold, give us a call at CP&L. Better still, don't wait for the next time. Call us real soon and let us help you plan for the nicest housewarming ever... flameless electric heat.

Nicest...housewarming ever... it's flameless!
