DAN K. ASKS $107 MILLION MORE

TROOPS, EQUIPMENT ARRIVING FOR BATTLE — Cannons such as this authentic Civil War period piece of artillery will be seen during the re-enactment of the Battle of Averasboro, tomorrow. This scene took place during the Battle of First Manassas during the summer of 1861 at an encampment that site. Participants, equipment and visitors were rolling into town today.

Budget Message Includes Free School Books

RALEIGH (UPI) — Gov. Dan K. Moore proposed today the state spend $107 million more in the coming two years, primarily for education and state employee pay raises, without cutting proposed allocation or raising taxes.

Moore presented a bright economic picture to the General Assembly, showing that there would be $724 million more available than previously estimated for appropriations in the 1965-67 biennium, leaving him $42 million short in the General Fund.

Moore stopped only one of the proposals he made in his State-of-State address, a tax cut which would have cost the state $23 million in the coming two years.

The governor said the pay-raise for state employees, 10 per cent across-the-board would cost the state $38.1 million, but only $19.4 million would come from the General Fund. He left unanswered where the highway and special funds would come from to pay for the other $18.6 million needed.

Moore suggested, however, that members of the assembly look closely at the community college program for possible cuts in present allocations. The community colleges would get $4.6 million in capital improvement funds and $6.1 million in funds for new and expanded services under the recommended budget.

Moore proposed a seven-point program for schools which will cost the state $40.9 million more than is recommended in the present $2.07 billion budget. The majority of this, $30.5 million, would go for pay raises for teachers, 5 per cent this year and 5 per cent next year.

Instead of reducing classroom size by one student in the first eight grades, Moore proposed reducing the size by three students in each of the first three grades. He also proposed hiring 85 remedial teachers for the handicapped.

Says Citizens Opposed To Communist Speakers

Broughton For Anti-Red Ban

State Democratic Chairman J. Melville Broughton, Jr., of Raleigh said at a meeting of the Dunn post of the American Legion Thursday night that he's heartily in favor of the law that prohibits Communist speakers from using facilities of tax-supported State institutions.

"It's a good law," declared the State party chief and I am opposed to either repealing or amending it.

"I see no need for repealing or amending this law and have found no sentiment for doing so except a resolution that pops up from some small group now and then."

He said he is convinced that a great, overwhelming majority of North Carolina citizens are solidly behind the law.

"Despite the occasional outcry of a small group of educators, I can see no harm that the law has done to our democratic processes of free speech or academic freedom," declared Broughton.

The Raleigh attorney was introduced by Legionnaire George W. (Jo Jo) Williams.

He addressed the Dunn Legionnaires, their wives and guests at a covered dish supper celebrating the 49th anniversary of the American Legion.

Broughton expressed high praise and appreciation to the American Legion "for the high service it has rendered in standing steadfastly against Communism and other isms and foreign ideologies."

Commander James Hall presided at the supper meeting. Among those present were Alvis Carver, candidate for the post of State Commander; District Commander John Satterfield and State Sergeant-at-arms Belvin Strickland.

Broughton spoke along lines of present conditions in America and said, "I sometimes am led to wonder just how much progress our nation is making, especially in the field of human behavior and morality."

From an economic standpoint, he viewed with alarm the high national indebtedness of the country as well as the increasing personal indebtedness of individual consumers and the growing trend toward the policy of tax, spend, elect and the spiraling inflation of the deflated dollar.

"I am particularly disturbed," said Broughton, "about the decline and lack of discipline, especially among our young people today."

He cited college demonstrations and acts of lawlessness by special groups, the increased crime rate, the growing use of narcotics, and general acts of immorality which he said now appeared to be the accepted standard of some groups.

Broughton said organizations which have such high ideals as the American Legion can do much to restore a higher degree of morality, greater respect for time-honored traditions and decent standards of behavior.

"These things," said the State Democratic Chairman, "are far more important to the welfare and future of the individual and the nation than even the important economic barometers."

Butler Advocating City-Run Hospital

Saturday at high noon is the filing deadline for candidates in the third ward, issued a statement saying that he, too, favors going ahead with erection of a city-operated hospital.

Meanwhile today, Sigmund Butler, candidate for commissioner in the third ward, issued a statement saying that he, too, favors going ahead with erection of a city-operated hospital.

City Commissioner Bill Cameron said today he is still undecided whether to file as a candidate for commissioner-at-large.

Mr. Cameron was elected from the third ward but has moved into another ward and will now have to run at-large if he decides to enter the council race.

The number of candidates for each post has been surprisingly small.

"I was hoping we'd have a flock of candidates for every office," said Commissioner Cameron "because the more candidates in the race, the greater choice the voters have."

Candidates who have announced and filed to date are:

For Mayor: George Franklin Blakeslock, incumbent; W. C. Marshburn, For Council, Ward One: O. W. (Bill) Godwin, Jr., incumbent, and Walter Dafford.

For Council, Ward Three, Sigmund Butler and Cad Upchurch.

For the two council-at-large seats: Marvin Johnson, W. O. Pope and Dale West.

Mr. Butler's Statement

Following is the complete text of Mr. Butler's statement regarding the hospital issue:

For several days I have made it my business to see and talk with as many citizens as I could, and try to find out just how they felt about the hospital issue. It seems that those I have talked to favor the hospital for Dunn and I am happy to make this public statement as to how I stand on the hospital issue.

I am one of those 91 per cent who voted for the hospital bond. I was for it then and I have no reason to be against it now. I am for the hospital and will be glad to discuss the matter with anyone who wishes to talk with me about the hospital. My sole purpose is to serve the people of Dunn.

Jernigan Gets Prison Term

A Harnett County man was sentenced to 18 months in federal prison in U. S. District Court at Fayetteville after he pleaded guilty to manufacturing non-taxpaid whisky in Black River Township last June.

Franklin Delano Jernigan, 31, of near Erwin, was ordered by U. S. District Judge Algernon Butler to report to the U. S. Marshal's office in Raleigh Monday to begin serving his term.

Jernigan was arrested by federal liquor agents about one mile north of Wade at the site of a huge illegal liquor distillery.

Judge Butler turned a deaf ear to a defense plea for probation.

He said he has always looked on probation as an instrument of rehabilitation but that "probation in itself cannot do the job alone" without some indication

Civil War Rites To Begin With Parade Throng Is Expected To Witness "Battle"

One of the largest crowds to gather in Harnett in recent years is expected Saturday for the county's official observance of the 100th anniversary of the historic Battle of Averasboro.

Participants and other visitors for the day-long program of outstanding events have already started arriving and the town was quickly taking on a festive appearance.

Headquarters have been opened downtown across from the First Citizens Bank, Confederate flags are flying all over town and many citizens have donned Confederate hats and other attire.

The day's events will begin with a parade at 10:30 Saturday morning in downtown Dunn and close with the Confederate Ball at the armory Saturday night.

A luncheon for the participants and other dignitaries will be held at noon at Chicora Country Club. Edmund Harding, noted Washington, N. C. humorist, will be the speaker.

A band concert will be held at 2 p. m. at Chicora Cemetery and at 2:15 the new monument will be unveiled and dedicated. State Senator Robert Morgan will be master of ceremonies.

The grand re-enactment of the battle will begin at 3:30 o'clock. Nearly 1,000 pounds of gunpowder will be fired in the mock war.

The parade, sponsored by the American Legion Post with Belvin Strickland in charge, will start at Orange and Broad, go east on Broad to Magnolia and north on Magnolia to Edgerton and on back to the armory.

Fowler Is New Treasury Sect.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee voted swift and unanimous approval today of President Johnson's nomination of Henry H. Fowler to be secretary of the Treasury.

The vote was 16 to 0.

The nomination of the 56-year-old Virginian will go to the Senate floor Tuesday. Fowler, former Treasury Undersecretary, was named Thursday by Johnson to succeed Douglas Dillon in the cabinet post.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., who abstained, was the only committee member who did not vote for Fowler's nomination. He refused to say why he abstained.

One committee source said Fowler would take over from Dillon April 1. Fowler said that was only a "rough guess."

Fowler quit the No. 2 job in the Treasury a year ago largely because of financial reasons. At the time he was making $21,000 a year. In his new post he will make $35,000.

Finance Chairman Harry E. Byrd, D-Va., said he would personally lead the debate on behalf of Fowler's confirmation.

Erwin Local 250 To Hear Williams

Jake Williams of Raleigh, State Director of SOPE, the political action division of AFL-CIO, will address members of Local 250 of the Textile Workers Union of America Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Union Hall.

Business Manager Lloyd Byrd said today it would be an important meeting and urged all members to hear Mr. Williams, who is an outstanding speaker.

For Audition With Metropolitan Opera

Turnage Will Leave Sunday

Twenty-two-year-old Wayne Turnage, Campbell College senior music major of Dunn has waited longer than some for his first trip to the big city, but now that it's in sight, it looks like quite an adventure.

As winner of the regional auditions in Atlanta March 15, he flies to New York City Sunday to compete as finalist in the auditions held annually by the National Council of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Since he plans a career in singing, a main professional dividend the contest will give him, the young baritone says, is a chance to sing for the top people in the world's greatest opera company, from impresario Rudolf Bing on down. In the capital city of the arts, he will meet also many other leading musicians.

In the daytime, before the finals Sunday afternoon, March 28, he will have intensive training under Metropolitan coaches; and at night, beginning with "Vanessa" on Monday, he will have seats in the Diamond Horseshoe for a full week of music at the Met - his first experience of grand opera in the flesh, sung by a major professional cast. If he wins he will be given the world's best training in voice, underwritten by supporters of the company, and he will receive a contract with the Metropolitan.
