

Pee Wees Finish Season Undefeated

By GERALD MANN

Dunn's left end Jimmy Jerrell stopped another end sweep for a four yard loss on the Dunn 40. Dunn took over on downs. Hardison gained 5 and Register was stopped for no gain. Hardison moved the ball to the Angier 15 where a penalty set the ball back on the Angier 20.

Angier intercepted a pass on the Angier 15. A series of plays produced no gain. The first half ended with a 3 yard gain around left end.

Angier received the second half kick-off. Angier was forced to punt after losing yardage on consecutive plays. Hardison took the punt on the Angier 40 and returned it for a touchdown. Bubba Twyford bulled his way across for the extra point and Dunn led 13-0.

Angier again was forced to punt as the Dunn line threw the ball carrier for losses of 3 and 4 yards. The kick was blocked and Dunn took over on the Angier 40. Hardison gained the first down on the 20 as the third quarter ended.

Dunn opened the fourth quarter with a series of plays that produced their 3rd touchdown. The extra point try was stopped and Dunn had a comfortable 19-0 lead.

Angier again was faced with the problem of cracking the Dunn defense and was forced to punt again after a 2 yard loss to their own 38 when stopped by Jimmy Jerrell. The punt was blocked and recovered by Mike Paham on the Angier 40.

Three plays produced no yardage and Register carried to the Angier 16 and fumbled. Angier recovered. Jerrell and Mann teamed up and threw Angier for a 6 yard loss. Two passes failed and Angier got a poor kick off and Dunn returned it to the Angier 6.

Gregg two plays later scored the touchdown, but Dunn was off sides. Another penalty brought it back to the Angier 11.

The game ended with Dunn on the Angier 6 yard line. Final score Dunn 19-Angier 0.

Dunn is proud to have a fine Pee Wee Football Program and its coaches, Doug Beasley and Henry Willis.

Thanks is expressed to the parents for their assistance and to Mrs. Margaret Hemmingsway and the Pee Wee Cheerleaders for a splendid job well done.

WATER BUNNY—"Fatso" looks anxious to get out of the pool, but it was no terrible accident that got him into the water in the first place. "Fatso" is a way-out jackrabbit whose idea of a good time is a dip in the pool with his master, 10-year-old Jeff Hofman of Miami, Fla.

STATE REPORT

BY STATE SENATOR VOIT GILMORE

SAMARCAN'S MISSING POOL . . . In another two years the state's correctional school for girls at Samarcan, Moore County, will begin its fiftieth year—fifty full years of no swimming pool there for girls between the ages of 10 and 16 and who are "confining to campus" the year around by order of juvenile courts. It's a pity. To match the $32,000 challenge fund established by the recent General Assembly for a new pool at Samarcan, the campaign is now on for the other $32,000 which must come from private sources. Mrs. Dan Moore is serving as my co-chairman in the effort to have the 300 girls at Samarcan splashing in a new pool by next summer.

Recently I spoke to the Women's Club of Troy. Their thank-you present to me was a check for the Samarcan Swimming Pool fund. I will make a lot more speeches for that kind of pay.

FOR THE CHILDREN . . . The October 2 school consolidation vote in Moore County cut deep. Feelings were intense as voters by a total of 3385 to 2162 acted to merge the independent Southern Pines and Pinehurst school systems into the county system. At the same time the county defeated by 132 votes a proposal to allow the county commissioners to levy a special supplemental school tax of up to 30 cents.

What happens now? The commissioners within 60 days will appoint a new county-wide seven man school board to operate the present county system and begin steps toward absorption of the Southern Pines and Pinehurst units into the one-county system in 1967. A new consolidated high school in lower Moore County is proposed. In view of the defeat of the countywide supplemental tax, patrons of the proposed new school area in lower Moore may now establish their own special tax with proceeds to be applied exclusively to schools within their area.

Meantime, a Pinehurst-Southern Pines lawsuit which challenges the legality of the consolidation action is headed through the courts toward the Supreme Court. The Attorney General, whose office drafted the Moore County school bill as directed by the county commissioners, has called the consolidation vote legal and proper.

INTANGIBLE TAX . . . Rally around, all who want to banish the Intangible Tax. It infuriates people who move here from other states, however, since most of the tax is returned to city and county treasuries there is considerable resistance to its abolition. Let me make two suggestions to foes of the Intangibles Tax: First, find out how much it now yields per year to your city and county treasury, then figure a way to replace that revenue from another source. Second, prepare your arguments for presentation to the new commission to study N. C. revenue sources which was authorized by the 1965 General Assembly and appointed last week. I will gladly assist any group that wishes to confer with the new commission.

LIQUID BREAKFAST . . . If we want to help farm products, we should look into Cornell University's new balanced breakfast concoction: a chilled 8 ounce carton containing pasteurized apple juice and one fresh egg. Nutritious, tasty, quick—and 100 per cent Tar Heel ingredients.

THE BIG SWITCH . . . The Mental Health Board, after its summertime rush to switch mentally retarded children from one treatment center to another, has slowed its gait. Parents of children scheduled for recent transfer from Murdoch to O'Berry Center, for example, have now received official letters advising: "The transfer of residents between the North Carolina centers is to be temporarily postponed. . . . This postponement is felt to be necessary in order that the various institutions might have an opportunity to objectively evaluate programs. . . ."

It was no secret that parents were upset and confusion among hospital personnel was considerable as a result of the crash program to distribute patients to centers across the state on a geographic rather than racial basis. Even though Governor Moore last month visited various centers and termed the "big switch" satisfactory, families of patients continued to pepper Mental Health Board members with complaints that the delicate balance of many patients' well-being was in jeopardy. A Raleigh County group which I accompanied to Raleigh told authorities that transferring their children from Durham County to Lenoir County actually put them farther away from home.

The state has now proved to federal officials its good faith in proceeding to end racial segregation of mentally retarded cases. The new postponement for "evaluation of programs" is a humanitarian step to avoid damage to young minds which often hang in a delicate balance.

COUNTY PLANNING . . . Junkyards, roadside signs and trash disposal are problems which plague county commissioners today. Ten of North Carolina's 94 non-metropolitan counties now have county planning programs underway or about to begin. Their goal is completion of a land development plan for the county, backed up by ordinances needed to guide future development.

As areas outside towns grow, county officials increasingly see the need for zoning to protect new community college and public school sites, residential and industrial areas. County planning also should analyze the adequacy of parks, airports, fire stations and similar facilities, with a schedule for improving them as needed. Is your county planning ahead?

BETWEEN SESSIONS . . . Someone asked the other day if there was much for a State Senator to do in between sessions of trying to earn a living that is. So the General Assembly. Besides I kept a log of my week's activity during October: There were 12 visits from constituents, 18 letters and 14 phone calls, half of the calls between midnight and breakfast. Two people sought better roads. A service man's wife wanted help in getting her husband discharged or else transferred to a post where she could live with him. A cancer victim wanted assistance in contesting a disability claim which the federal government had denied. Two men wanted jobs, one in Raleigh and the other in Washington. A service station operator asked how he could persuade the Highway Department to trim trees along the right-of-way so that his sign would be more visible to motorists. A young mother, about to lose her children to a foster home, needed financial relief while her husband underwent medical treatment.

Human problems never end. They are a challenge to me and I always am grateful if I can lend a helping hand.

FARM CENSUS . . . The 1955 Agriculture reports show 381,000 acres of farm lands in Randolph County; 299,000 acres in Harnett; 21,000 acres in Moore; 136,000 acres in Hoke; and 114,000 acres in Lee. Hoke had 14,000 acres in cotton while Randolph had only 18 acres. Harnett had 13,000 acres in tobacco; Hoke trailed with 2,300 acres. Randolph led the five counties in number of hens and pullets of laying age with 145,000, also in total of beef and milk cows and heifers with 10,000. In each of the five counties, the number of people living on farms declined from the year before.

HARNETT FAIR WINNERS

There was a total of 15 entries in the wool needwork contest at the N. C. State Fair this year. Mrs. John D. Champion of Fuquay Varina was the first place winner with her entry of a crocheted three piece baby set and Betty S. Denning of Route 2, Angier, won third place with her entry of a knitted three piece baby set. In the poultry division the Womble-Hatley Poultry Farm of Lillington was placed fourth in the Egg Show with their large size white shell eggs.
