The Halloween motif brightly decorated the George Pope Room at Pritt's Restaurant last Thursday evening when members of the Business & Professional Women's Club gathered for their regular session.

The program was introduced by Mrs. Lettie Lee, chairman of the World Affairs Committee. Three Campbell College students addressed the club on their native land, the environment and cultures in each country.

Speaking were Prajit Pachimsawa from Thailand, Stella Kwong of Hong Kong and Ana Maria Ferrando of Lima, Peru.

A report on the success of last week's observance of National Business Women's Week and each day's activities of the local group was given by Mrs. McCullers.

Pumpkins, colorful leaves and black and orange streamers decorated the tables while the head table held a huge arrangement of yellow and orange marigolds and gold candlesticks topped with yummies.

Sampson County History Topic At HP Meet

The Plainview Home Demonstration Club met recently at the clubhouse with Mrs. Marvin Hill, the hostess.

Mrs. Tommy Sessoms called the meeting to order and presided over the business session during which reports were read and approved. Also discussed during this session was the Home Demonstration Club Fair to be held November 6 and 7. The club voted to sell cakes, etc., at the fair to raise money for the treasury. They also decided to give $10 to the Boy Scouts for their finance drive.

Mrs. Leo Godwin was in charge of the devotion period after which Mrs. Trello Tart who recently toured the UN, gave the program, which was the history of Sampson County.

She brought out such points of interest as these:

There has never been a complete crop failure in Sampson County; the founder of Highsmith Hospital in Fayetteville is from Sampson; the first president of East Carolina College in Greenville is from Sampson County; the First Presbyterian Church founded in Sampson County called its pastor direct from Ireland; and also that the first Catholic Church begun in Sampson County started from newspaper clippings read by Dr. Jih Carr Mond, which convinced him to the Catholic faith and influenced him enough to begin a church in Newton Grove.

Also on the program were Mrs. Carl Bryan from White Oak and Mrs. Blake Avery of Erwin who gave demonstrations on different types of plaques for the falls in homes. They gave detailed descriptions of how to make a picture from scraps, material, etc.

At this point club members voted on Christmas decorations they had made to appear on the Peggy Mann Show, November 2.

Mrs. Hill served homemade cookies, ham sandwiches, and coffee.
