Hospital To Be Sold; Other Matters Aired

New Dunn City Hall Work To Begin Soon

Dunn's city council Wednesday night voted to go ahead with construction of the town's new city hall, agreed for the present Betsy Johnson Hospital building to be sold and disposed of other business matters.

Low bids totaling $285,275 on the new city hall were accepted and Ben Hartsfield, head of East Carolina Construction Co., the general contractor, said he expected to begin work in about ten days.

The board was advised that trustees of Betsy Johnson Hospital have received an offer on the present building for use as a nursing home.

Mayor Bill Marshburn and the commissioners approved plans to advertise the property and sell it to the high bidder on condition that it be used for a nursing home and that it will become available upon completion of the town's new hospital.

The present 85-bed hospital will be replaced by a modern new 117-room structure to cost $2,070,000.

The following minutes of last night's meeting were released by City Manager Archie Uzile:

No Decision

RALEIGH (UPI) — Gov. Dan K. Moore said today there is "no substance" to speculation that he has decided to call a special session of the legislature on the speaker ban law issue.

Moore said he would not make such a decision until he receives the report of the Speaker Ban Study Commission. He said he has not received the report and does not know at this time what the commission will recommend.

Moore said he expects the report will be ready in a week or so. Chairman David Britt of Fairmont had set Nov. 10th as the target date for the commission's report.

Farm Bureau Reelects Gregory

Farm people are the least understood of all, the Harnett County Farm Bureau was told Tuesday night.

Speaking was B. C. Mangum of Rugefont, president of the North Carolina Farm Bureau.

Mangum told the annual meeting of the Harnett group that if the farmer were not the least understood, "they would be treated differently."

Mangum's address was the highlight of the banquet held in the Lillington School cafeteria. Some 350 members attended the meeting.

Mangum said that "first of all, we need to have an understanding of ourselves and how we fit into the nation's economy." Gross farm income has gone up 22.1 percent in the period of 1947-1964. At the same time, he said, production costs have jumped up 71.9 percent.

Baptists Rap Rise Of Klan

The Little River Association of 34 Baptist churches, in a unanimous standing vote at its 90th annual session, adopted a resolution deploring the resurgence of the Ku Klux Klan and the burning of the cross, urging Baptists to avoid the Klan and its program and to give themselves to the preaching of the cross and its message.

Rev. Thomas M. Freeman, pastor of Dunn's First Baptist Church, released a copy of the resolution to the press today.

The action was taken after the annual sermon preached by the Rev. Douglas Farmer, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Erwin, who used as his subject, "The Place of The Cross."

In his sermon, the Erwin pastor referred to the misuse of the cross and the Rev. Mr. Freeman pointed out that, "The Association seemed ready to make a strong statement." Noting that "The impression has Continued on Page Four"

about the same as 1959 while other business income has tripled during those same 26 years, Mangum said.

However, Mangum said that, food is the best buy ever. A total of 18 1/2 cents of every dollar goes for food.

Farmers still are the low man on the income ladder, the president said. While the per capita increase in income amounts to $105, the farmer has received only $1.

Mangum urged farm folk to become more involved in organizations. "This will take a togetherness on the part of all farmers. Unification in a strong organization is the only tool available."

This is the best way to make people more aware of the farmers' plight, he said.

Carson Gregory of R-3, Angier was re-elected president of the bureau.

Other officers elected were John Aaron Senter of Lillington, first

Damages Put At $10 Million Perhaps More

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (UPI) — U. S. Marine patrols moved out today in pursuit of Viet Cong units who did an estimated $10 million damage to U. S. planes in simultaneous suicide attacks on two American installations.

The Communists, who destroyed or damaged 47 U. S. aircraft in the midnight attacks, were stopped before reaching their primary target, the main airbase at Da Nang, it was disclosed.

Maj. Gen. Lewis Walt, commander of U. S. Marine forces in Viet Nam, said at a news conference the guerrillas were spotted and chased by alert leatherneck units and heavy artillery before reaching the center of the Da Nang complex.

It also was disclosed today that more than 600 Viet Cong were known dead in three other campaigns.

A spokesman said 582 rebels were confirmed killed in the past 16 days by Vietnamese troops guarding the rice harvest in Phu Yen province, 230 miles northeast of Saigon.

Thirty-seven Viet Cong were killed Wednesday by American paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division in "sniper valley," 270 miles northeast of the capital.

Bodies of at least 201 guerrillas were found around the Plei Me U. S. Special Forces outpost in the central highlands, where an eight days siege was broken this week.

The Communist commando teams succeeded today in assaults at the Marble Mountain facility east of Da Nang, 385 miles northeast of Saigon, and the Chu Lai air strip

He Wrote Before Reds Killed Him

They'd Kiss The Soil Back Home In U.S.A.

CHICAGO (UPI) — To his former teacher, Bernard Masny mailed a theme that rated an "A". So the teacher, Mrs. Marjorie Mooney, read to her class the words of Bernard Masny.

Bernard, Mrs. Mooney told the class, had been a student in that very room at Fenger High School. He was not of high academic achievement, Mrs. Mooney said, and had trouble especially with composition.

Mrs. Mooney told the class she helped Bernard with his theme assignments. This encouraged him to stay in school and be graduated with his class in June, 1964.

Now Mrs. Mooney read from a letter Bernard wrote to her. It was written in Viet Nam, for shortly after leaving high school Bernard became a marine.

"A person may curse out his country," Bernard wrote, "but if he were here, he would kiss the soil of the United States."

"People never know how good they have it until they go to war," Bernard wrote.

Then he described how it is when you're being shot at by a sniper. He said the sniper missed.

But shortly after mailing the letter, Marine Bernard Masny, 19, was killed by the Viet Cong.

Mrs. Mooney told the class: "He always wanted to do his share for the school - I think he has."

Then she folded the letter. Her class in American history was dismissed.
