SAIGON (UPI) - Viet Cong infiltrators today attacked the Da Nang air base, biggest U. S. military complex in South Viet Nam, for the second time in less than a week. In the air was U. S. planes blasted three Communist missile sites near Hanoi.

The U. S. planes also destroyed a bridge on the supply route linking the North Vietnamese capital with Communist China.

Communist ground crews fired at least 10 and possibly 17 Soviet made surface-to-air SAM missiles at the planes. All missed but one plane was downed by conventional fire.

The Viet Cong attack appeared to be concentrated on U. S. Marine and Seabee installations on Da Nang East, on the peninsula across the river from Da Nang City, about 360 miles north of Saigon.

The area was hit hard last Thursday by Communist suicide squads who slipped through defense perimeter into the Marine helicopter base and destroyed 18 of the choppers and damaged another 22.

Pulley Land Sold At Buie's Creek

$93,227.58 Sale

The L. C. Pulley, Sr., property at Buie's Creek, sold at public auction, brought a total of $93,227.58. Totaling a little over 43 acres, the land was the first to become available at Buie's Creek since the recent expansion of Campbell College.

A large crowd attended the auction and bidding was spirited. One of the most successful real estate sales conducted in Harnett recently, the deal was handled by the Lyman A. McLeod Realty Co., of Buie's Creek and Coats. The Haekm Corporation of Dunn bought the two tracks closest to the college; Graham F. Howard and C. F. Collins of Angier purchased the farm portion of the land; and a one-acre tract was purchased by James Koutsis of Buie's Creek.

A spokesman for the Dunn corporation said today it has not yet decided what use will be made of the valuable tract. He said both student housing, apartment, and commercial uses are under consideration.

Mr. McLeod said today that he was highly pleased with the sale.

Road Bonds, Court Amendment To Be Decided

Light Ballot Expected

Harnett elections chairman Dougald McRae of Lillington predicted today that an unusually light vote will be cast in Harnett Tuesday on two issues:

1. A $300 million road bond issue.
2. An amendment to the State constitution to establish an intermediate court of appeals.

There has been but little interest in either issue but interest in the road bond proposal has increased somewhat in recent weeks.

Chairman McRae, who urges all citizens to vote, said he would be pleasantly surprised if as many as 3,500 votes are cast in Harnett. Few people turn out for such elections in Harnett or elsewhere in the State.

Polls in Harnett's 21 voting precincts will be open from 6:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Earlier approval of the bond issue was assumed to be a sure thing but in recent days more and more opposition has developed.

Opponents point out that the State already has more money than it can spend during the next four years due to a shortage of road-building contractors available and that interest on the issue would cost at least $100 million. They advocate a pay-as-you-go plan to save the hundred million for additional roads.

The other side contends the highways are needed now. The county board, various city boards within the county, the farm bureau and other organizations are in favor of the bonds.

Legion Chief Launches "Show Your Colors" Campaign

Carver Confident Legislators Won't Be Stampeded To Repeal

State American Legion Commander J. Alvis Carver of Dunn said today there can be no compromise on keeping Communists off the state's campuses and called on veterans across the state to impress this fact on their representatives in the legislature.

"We can no more afford to compromise with Communists on the campus than our fighting men can compromise with the Communists shooting at them in the jungles of Viet Nam," he said.

Commander Carver made the comment in launching a simple, yet eloquent and meaningful counter measure to the loud anti-Viet Nam, anti-draft demonstrations.

Called "Operation Show Your Colors," the plan involves distribution of American flag lapel pins to be worn by all Americans who are in concert with the U. S. Viet Nam policy.

Each flag carries a card saying: "Americans are serving the cause of freedom in Viet Nam. I wear my country's flag to show that I support their efforts."

The State Legion chief says the American Legion is ready to carry its fight before the legislature if a special session is called. "I have confidence in members (Continued On Page 6)
