Officers Back Down

Amish Win Fight

HAZLETON, Iowa (UPI) — Screaming Amish school children and their weeping parents today fought attempts by school officials to carry the youngsters off to public schools.

School officials and law enforcement officers backed down before the almost hysterical resistance encountered in the deeply religious Amish community near Hazleton.

Man Is Sentenced For Aiding Escape

Harvey Daves of Fayetteville, was sentenced to 12 months but had his sentence suspended for two years in Harnett Recorder's Court when he entered a plea of guilty to aiding and abetting in a prison escape. Judge Robert B. Morgan stipulated that the sentence would be suspended on the condition Daves pay a fine of $100 and the cost of court.

George D. McNeill of Erwin, charged with failure to send his child to school, was directed to correct the situation, and the court ordered Harnett truant officer Robert T. Perkins to observe the student and advise the court if he failed to attend school. Roger Westerling of Rt. 1, Springfield. (Continued on Page Six)

Campbell Concert Set For Tuesday

In the first post-Thanksgiving concert event on the campus in Bules Creek, prospective concert pianists at Campbell College will have opportunity to compare notes with two of North Carolina's finest young student pianists. The concert, in Turner Auditorium at 7 p. m. Tues. Nov. 30, will be open to students and music lovers of the general community area. Under sponsorship of the Campbell music department, the duo-piano team Nancy Norwood and James Meredith will perform selections from the music of Mozart, Debussy, and Brahms. Both artists, undergraduates at the University of North Carolina, are studying with Dr. William S. Swann. Miss Norwood, a native of Hickory, has been named "Queen of Music" for the southern district of the Federation of Music Clubs. She is accompanist for the UNC chorus. Meredith, a Blanchar Scholarship winner at the University, was co-chairman of the UNC Fine Arts Festival last year. As winner of the North Carolina state contest of the Federation of Music Clubs, he competed in the regional contests of the federation at Agnes Scott college last year. He is state president of the student division of the federation and president of the UNC chorus. Meredith is familiar to audiences of the Capital Area through appearances on WUNC-TV and performance as pianist for the Triangle Theatre in Durham.

U. S. Official Is One Target; Dan Asks Probe

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI) — A series of explosions early today ripped the homes of four top Negro leaders, knocking out gaping holes and spraying glass like sharpnel through the houses. No one was injured in the precision-like bombing that went off within minutes of each other around 3 a. m. in the residential area of brick, ranch-style homes. Demolition experts were rushed into the area amid fears that other bombs had been planted. Gov. Dan Moore told Charlotte Mayor Stan Brokshire the full resources of the state's "investigative and law enforcement agencies" would be available to local authorities in investigating the bombings.

NAACP Leader Target Bombed were the homes of Kelly Alexander, the state president of the NAACP, Laun Chambers, an attorney recently named a United States commissioner. Fred Alexander, the only Negro member of the Charlotte city council, and Dr. Reginald Hawkins, a dentist who has been outspoken in civil rights matters. "They're trying to kill us," cried Kelly Alexander, the NAACP president. "It was an attempt at murder. If this had been (Continued on Page Six)

Harnett Liquor Stills Destroyed

Cumberland County and state Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Unit officers Saturday destroyed two liquor stills and still operations in Harnett County and arrested two men operating out of them. Arraigned before U. S. Commissioner C. Wallace Jackson were William Barney, 50, of 554 Horseshoe Rd., and Cyrus Bowen Carter, Rt. 1, Erwin. They were bound over to U. S. District Court for trial on a charge of manufacturing liquor for the purpose of sale. They posted $500 bond each and were released to await trial. The stills were located in the Mainers section of Harnett County. Destroyed along with the stills were 16 one-half gallon jars of whisky and 1,950 gallons of mash. Officers also seized a pickup truck that was allegedly being used in the operation.

Campbell House Is Dedicated

Three hundred people—teachers of home economics, visiting students of colleges and schools, and other friends of Campbell College — signed the guest book Friday afternoon at the formal dedication and naming of the Cornelia Pearson Campbell Home Management House on the college campus. The building, recently remodeled, furnished, and redecorated, had been the residence of the late Mrs. Campbell, wife of J. A. Campbell, founder of the college. Chosen as date for the occasion had been the one-hundredth birthday anniversary of Mrs. Campbell, who died in Bules Creek in February, 1963, at the age of 97. Honored on the occasion were Mrs. Bessie Campbell Lynch, her daughter, her sons Carlyle, presi-

Lee Says Meat Co. Helps Demand 25 Unweaned Pigs Are Sold At $400

Arthur T. Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lee, of Route 2, Dunn, sold 25 pigs not fully weaned last week for $400.00 at his farm, according to his Agriculture teacher Oliver O. Manning. Arthur is a Junior at Midway School in his third year of Vocational Agriculture and feeder pigs is just one of his projects. The pigs were sold to Mr. Edwin Lee, a commercial feeder, who sells his top hogs to Dunn Meat Packers and appreciates the fine quality of pigs which Arthur T. grows. In a (Continued On Page Six)

Santa, 7 Bands, Pretty Girls Will Be In It

Dunn's Christmas Parade will take place Friday night, Dec. 3 at 7 p. m. A dozen or more professional floats, scores of beautiful girls, seven bands and Santa Claus will all be in the parade, planned as the biggest and best ever staged here during the Christmas season. Bands which have already accepted invitations to march in the parade are: Erwin Coats, Four Oaks, Hobbins, Harnett High, and Dunn Junior bands. Dunn stores will remain open until 9 p. m. the night of the parade, and every night thereafter until Christmas Eve, when they will close at the regular hour. President W. O. (Billy) Pope of the Retail Merchants Association is also handling arrangements for the parade. Mr. Pope said today that many entries in addition to the bands and professional floats would be in the parade. He reminded that next Monday is the final date to register entries for the parade. President Pope today released the holiday schedule of store hours to be observed in the downtown business district of Dunn. Most firms will close for Thanksgiving, of course. The Daily Record will publish Thanksgiving Day as usual. Beginning Friday, Dec. 3, the date of the Christmas parade, stores will remain open each night until 9 p. m. until Christmas Eve, when individual stores will observe their usual closing hour. Stores will be closed Christmas Day, which falls on Saturday, and will reopen Monday, Dec. 27th. Dunn's stores will also remain open on Saturday, January 1, New Year's Day.

No License Costs Man $50 Fine

King Henry Love of Raeford paid cost of court and a $50 fine today in Dunn Recorder's Court for having no operator's license and presenting another as his own. Judge Woodrow Hill ordered Danny Dupree, 31-year-old Red Springs man, to pay $25 and cost for allowing Love to use his license. A 34 year-old former Dunn woman, Shirley Stone, was given six months for abandonment of her children. Now of Sanford, Mrs. Stone gave notice of appeal. In Slaying Of Walter McDowell

Semmie McNeill Freed By Judge

Semmie McNeill, 59-year-old Negro messenger in the offices of Erwin Mills at Erwin for the past 22 years, was cleared of murder charges Monday in Harnett County Superior Court when Judge W. H. S. Burwyn directed a verdict of "not guilty." McNeill is well-known in Erwin and the case attracted much interest throughout the community. C. W. Howell, manager of the mills at Erwin, Mrs. M. C. Cottingham of Durham, wife of a top company executive, Sheriff Wade Steward, and State trooper Bill Grady all gave McNeill a good character. He was charged with the slaying of Walter McDowell, with a .16 gauge shotgun Saturday, July 31st as McDowell, according to witnesses, was advancing on him and threatening. "One of us is going to die and it ain't going to be me." Defense Attorney Everett L. Dofrenmyre entered a plea of nolo contendere to charges of manslaughter. (Continued on Page Six)
