

CPCC's Fall Faculty Conference Ends Friday

This year, Monday, September 23 through Friday, September 27, has been set aside for Central Piedmont Community College's Fall Faculty Conference. The subject of the week-long conference will be "Operation-Update."

Being one of the nation's most innovative junior institutions in techniques of teaching, CPCC has invited a world renowned figure to address its faculty and staff on "Alternate Approaches to Education" - Dr. Samuel B. Gould. Dr. Gould is Chancellor Emeritus of the State University of New York and has promoted the cause of innovative instruction through his association with numerous colleges and universities, agencies, and educational commissions throughout the world. A Phi Beta Kappa graduate, Dr. Gould is the recipient of a dozen honorary doctoral degrees. He will address the full-time faculty and staff at 1:30 p.m. Monday afternoon in Pease Auditorium and the part-time faculty and staff at 7:30 p.m. Monday evening.

Tuesday morning at 9:45 the CPCC faculty and staff will take part in four simultaneous group discussions: "What's Happening in the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools," "What's Happening in Raleigh As It Affects CPCC," "Comprehensive Charlotte-Mecklenburg Planning Through 1995," and "What Should the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Future Be?"

The group discussion on "What's Happening In the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools," will be conducted by Dr. Carl R. Carlan, Associate Superintendent of the Program Services Division of the Charlotte-Mecklenburg School District. He will be assisted by panel members: James Emerson, Dr. Jack stern, Grace Templeton, Joe Champion, and Calvin Davis.

Mr. Carl Stewart, Co-Chairman of the Advisory Budget Commission, State Board of Education, Raleigh, N.C. will have charge of the discussion of "What's Happening in Raleigh as It Affects CPCC?" He will be assisted by Dr. W.B. (Woody) Sugg, Legislative Chairman of the Presidents Association of the North Carolina State Board of Education and Ed Stowe, Legislative Chairman of the Trustees Association of the N.C. State Board of Education.

The group discussing "Comprehensive Charlotte-Mecklenburg Planning through 1995" will be led by Isaac Heard of the Charlotte City Planning Commission. His main focus will be on: What does the future hold for Charlotte-Mecklenburg in terms of land use and facilities planning? Marion H. ("Moe") Ward, Executive Director of Dimensions for Charlotte-Mecklenburg, will lead the discussion on "What Should the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Future Be?" This topic will center around: What does the future hold for Charlotte-Mecklenburg in terms of people-oriented community goals?

Dr. Richard H. Hagemeyer, President of Central Piedmont Community College for the past eleven years, will address the assembled group of CPCC personnel on Wednesday morning at 9:30 a.m. on the subject of "CPCC-Today? Tomorrow?"

Thursday and Friday will be given over to Departmental Time. Each of the many departments at the College, will meet separately to plan for the coming school year. The highlight of the entire week will be a picnic for all faculty and staff members of CPCC. This picnic will take place at the Veterans Park Pavilion at 5:00 p.m. on Thursday afternoon.
