

Mrs. Williamson Dies

The funeral for Mrs. Doreatha (Doe) Ivey Williamson will be at 4 p.m. today (Thursday) at East Stonewall A.M.E. Zion Church with the Rev. James McCoy, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in York Memorial Park. She died March 1 at her home.

Mrs. Williamson gave more than 15 years of her life to the field of education and worked as a teacher and supervisor in school systems in both North Carolina and Virginia prior to her retirement in the 1960's.

Mrs. Williamson began her teaching career in 1916 in Lincoln and in 1923, returned to Charlotte, her home, to teach for 23 years in Davidson and at the old Myers Street Elementary School. After leaving Charlotte, she was a supervisor at Winston-Salem State and at Storer College in Harpers Ferry, Va., and taught at Dunbar School in East Spencer, N.C. She later became supervisor of schools in Rowan County and was a familiar figure as she drove around Salisbury in her pink and green Buick.

the 1960's, Mrs. Williamson was not deterred by this handicap and, until her death, was actively involved in activities of her church, of the Charlotte Chapter of the Livingstone College Alumni Association and other organizations to which she belonged.

of her church, of the Charlotte Chapter of the Livingstone College Alumni Association and other organizations to which she belonged.

A friend to old and young alike and affectionately called "Doe" by them, Mrs. Williamson gave both moral and financial support to hundreds of college students and for more than six years traveled across the United States seeking money for the United Negro College Fund. The first female president of the Livingstone College General Alumni Association and past local chapter president, Mrs. Williamson devoted untold hours and years in aiding Livingstone and other Black colleges.

Mrs. Williamson was the wife of the late John F. Williamson. The daughter of the late Rev. Ben J. and Julia Mills-Ivey, she was born and educated in Charlotte. Her father was founder and the pastor of the old East Stonewall A.M.E. Zion Church which was located in the Brooklyn section. She later joined Grace A.M.E. Zion Church where she served as president of the senior choir, president of Home Missions, taught Sunday school and actively participated in other church activities. In 1973, she returned to East Stonewall, now located on Griers Grove Road in West Charlotte.

Mrs. Williamson was a graduate of Livingstone College, Johnson C. Smith University, and Columbia University and was affiliated with many educational organizations. She was also a member of the AKA Sorority, the NAACP, Eastern Star and Daughter of Isis. Her survivors include a brother, Raymond G. Ivey of Camden, N.J.; a stepmother, Mrs. Fannie I. Davidson of Charlotte; a foster daughter, Mrs. Rosena Gaines of Charlotte; and several nephews of Camden, N.J.
