

Harvey Gantt
...City Councilman

King Center
To Hear
Harvey Gantt

On Thursday, (January 15), the Hon. Harvey B. Gantt, Charlotte City Councilman, will be the featured speaker at a celebration of brotherhood to be held at Christ The King Center, 425 East 17th Street, at 7:30 P.M.

This will be the second annual observance of the late Dr. Martin Luther King's birthday at Christ The King Center.

Mr. Gantt is a partner in the Architectural firm of Gantt-Huberman Associates, Charlotte. He was appointed last year to fill a vacancy on the City Council and was elected in November with the second highest vote total among fourteen candidates. He will speak on the topic, "The Struggle For Justice Today."

The celebration of Brotherhood will also include eyewitness accounts and film footage of Dr. King's marches to Montgomery, Alabama and Washington, D. C.; short readings on social justice from the Old Testament Prophets; and will close with a brief service of rededication to the cause of freedom for those attending. A free-will offering will benefit the social outreach work of Christ The King Center.

Christ The King Center, established in 1968, is an inner-city ministry sponsored by the Episcopal Diocese of North Carolina. The Rev. James H. B. Kenyon is priest-director.

side. Once there, he became involved in similar effort in keeping the lone remaining all black West Charlotte High open.

Blevins can be identified with a wide range of grass-roots community efforts. He is best remembered for his organizing efforts to stop the widening of LaSalle Street.

If the transfer of Blevins is upheld, he contends that his agency will effectively "muzzle" him as a community organizer. Before the change in assignment, Blevins had a free range in community organizing, but if he is moved, he will have to get prior approval to distribute leaflets and prior approval to select issues on which he will work in his community group sessions.
