Floyd McKissick

Is YMCA 40th

Dinner Speaker

by Sidney Moore Jr.
Post Staff Writer

The 40th annual dinner meeting of the Board of Managers of McCrorey Branch Young Men's Christian Association (YMCA) will be held Monday, April 5, at 7 p.m. in the YMCA gymnasium. Tickets may be reserved by telephoning 394-2356. Admission is $6 per person.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Soul City developer and founder Floyd McKissick. He is a graduate of N.C. Central University and earned a law degree from the University of North Carolina. His specialty is Constitutional Law.

As founder of Soul City, McKissick worked untriflingly against overwhelming odds to get former N.C. Governor Robert Scott, former Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Secretary George Romney and other government and private groups to agree to a $14 million guarantee for Soul City bonds. The first step in the growth of black economic equality as advocated by McKissick. The project is the first guarantee ever for a new town primarily sponsored by black enterprise and the first "free standing" new town guarantee by HUD.

McKissick is also an author and a sought after public speaker. His book, "Three Fifths of a Man," is in its second printing by publisher McMillan.

He is a former national chairman of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

As the senior partner of the law firm of McKissick and Berry of Durham and later as the senior partner of McKissick and Burt, his involvement in civil rights cases established him as an authority in that area. He successfully represented record numbers of individuals of all races as well as the business community, unions and industry. During this period he directed the affairs of the Durham Chapter of CORE. He was the state advisor of the NAACP Youth Group and led the Durham Business League and Professional Chain.
