

Druid Hill Garden Club Organizes Busy Girls Youth Garden Club

The Druid Hill Flower & Garden Club has done it again. Under the illustrious leadership of its president, Mrs. Eva J. Wiley, a youth club has been organized.

Mrs. Wiley has been selling the idea of beautification to different groups. Her efforts paid off when one group of young ladies expressed a desire to get in on the action.

On Friday, May 7, the youth met at the home of Marcella Miller 1127 Scottsdale Road for an organizational meeting. They were very anxious to get on with the work of gardening.

Mr. Wiley explained the purpose and duties of young gardeners and made very sure that all parents had given their permission to the girls. Mrs. Minnie Conner, chairperson of the Council of North Carolina, gave the girls a pep talk and installed the officers of the Busy Girls Youth Flower and Garden Club. Mrs. Conner also explained the duties of each officer and gave them words of encouragement.

The officers are: President-Marcella Miller, Vice Pres. Patricia Scott, Secretary-Chandra Harris, Assist. Sec. Michelle Watkins, Treasurer, Cheryl Jant, Chaplain-Tina Erwin. Other members are Dorothy Barringer, Alicia Roberts, Tina Harris and Rosalind Leake.

The Busy Girls Youth Garden Club is now affiliated with The State Federation of Garden Clubs of North Carolina. The local club will hold its monthly meetings on Friday evenings at 5 o'clock p.m.

The club has chosen The Rambler Rose as its club flower. The club song is in the process of being written and the motto will also be worked on.

Mrs. Wiley has her eyes on two additional prospects and hopes that finalizing these clubs is in the very near future.

She is serving her second term, as president of her club, which expires in August of this year. The senior club has plans for taking representatives, from the youth club, to the convention which will meet in Winston-Salem in August.

As of this writing Mr. Wiley reports that these girls are trying to influence two meetings per month instead of one. With the enthusiastic spirit of the new club members, their work is unlimited.

Red Cross Offers

Free Classes

The local Red Cross offers free classes each month in both the Expectant Parents course and the Home Nursing course.

The Expectant Parents course teaches both prenatal care and how to care for the new infant. Aspects of the course show how to avoid problems with the baby and also how to cope with certain problems should they arise. Expectant fathers are urged to attend. Classes are held at the Red Cross building, 2425 Park Road and are taught by Red Cross volunteer nurses.

The Home Nursing course teaches how to care for a sick person in the home. Individuals may enroll in these classes, also held at the Red Cross, either to gain expertise in caring for a sick family member or to acquire additional skills as an employed sitter. Following completion of the course, students are certified.

For more information regarding these classes, call the Red Cross, 376-1661, extension 232.
