

Sacred Heart College Miss Melba D. Dunn Weds

Elects New President

Sister Mary Michel Boulus, R.S.M., has been elected President of Sacred Heart College.

"Sister Michel is no stranger to the College or the community," said Walter Lineberger, Chairman of the Board of Trustees. "While serving as acting president of Sacred Heart College she has been instrumental in the growth of the institution and the tremendous improvement in its fiscal stability. Sister was the unanimous decision of the Board of Trustees at their September meeting."

A native of North Carolina, Sister Michel was raised in Concord. She has attended UNC-Greensboro, North Carolina State, Columbia University and John Carroll University in Cleveland where she studied mathematics, guidance, and constitutional law.

In 1949, Sister Michel entered the Sisters of Mercy of Belmont, an order of Catholic religious nuns who conduct two hospitals, Sacred Heart College, Holy Angels Nursery, Charlotte Catholic High School and several elementary schools in North Carolina as well as schools in Florida and on the island of Guam.

Sister Michel has taught math and social science at Concord High School, O'Donoghue School, Charlotte Catholic High School, Asheville Catholic High School, and at Sacred Heart College as well as coached basketball. Sister serves as Treasurer-General of the Sisters of Mercy, a position she has held from 1963, and has been a member of the General Council of the Sisters of Mercy since 1972. She is a member of the Board of Directors of Mercy Hospital in Charlotte and St. Joseph's Hospital in Asheville.

"I believe the public has become increasingly aware in recent months of the commitment of Sacred Heart College. The improvement in the quality of all our academic programs, our efforts in Special Education, our work with exceptional children, our new program in management, and our concern for a broader Sister Mary Michel Boulus, ...New SHC president appreciation of other cultures through our international student program are some examples of that commitment. The hallmark of Sacred Heart's commitment is quality education, service to the community, and Christian witness," said Sister Michel.

The goal of ABWA is to help women in business advance through education, increased competence, and through upgrading of professional skills and business attitudes. This year Carrousel Chapter has honored a boss of this year, Chapter Woman of the Year, and acknowledged the month of June as Education Month by awarding a scholarship. Each month is filled with new projects, themes and speakers to help women attain the ABWA goal.

The association, founded in Kansas City, Missouri, in 1949, now has more than 83,000 members. Last year, ABWA chapters throughout the United States and Puerto Rico awarded more than $700,000 in scholarships to women students. In addition, the ABWA National Scholarship Fund, SBAEF, awarded another $150,000 in scholarships during that same period. This year Carrousel Chapter has awarded local scholarships and contributed the National Scholarship Fund.

Miss Melba D. Dunn, daughter of MSG and Mrs. Ecolia A. Dunn of Ft. Hood, Texas became the bride of Donald Ray Whitaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whitaker Sr., of Shreveport, La., at 1 p.m. Saturday in the 56th Street Chapel, Ft. Hood. Chaplain Paul Stewart was officiant for the single ring rites. Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Bobby Brewer, organist.

The church was decorated in a color theme of blue and white. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal gown, fashioned by her mother, of sheer chiffon over satin. The gown was designed with a low, round neckline, an empire waistline, and long sleeves. Her hooded cape train of chiffon was trimmed in lace. She carried a bridal bouquet of white orchids and blue carnations.

Miss Cheryl Dunn, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Michael Carlock, of Harker Heights, served as best man. Ushers were Michael Dunn, brother of the bride and William Fenty of Ft. Hood. The bride and groom greeted wedding guests at a reception at the Mini Dome.

The couple will live in Killeen. The groom attended Southern University and is stationed at Ft. Hood. The bride is a 1974 graduate of Killeen High School and has attended Central Piedmont Community College of Charlotte, N.C. and The Bryman School of Canoga Park, Ca.

Out-of-town wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whitaker, Sr., Shirley Lewis of Shreveport, La.; Mrs. Ola Ross and Mrs. Karen Black of Huntersville, N.C.; Mr. Has-

Business In The Black

Nice Guys Finish Last

By Charles E. Belle

The ability of the Jews to join together is astounding to some of my independent soul brothers. Over a year ago a number of volunteer organizations in the U.S., Europe and Israel got together to exchange views on the effects of the growth of Arab economic power on the world economy, and on freedom of trade as it related to Israel and to Jews everywhere.

In excess of 60 persons from eight countries responded to the invitation for the two-day meeting sponsored by The Research Project on Energy and Economic Policy of Washington, D.C., The Institute for Economic Co-Existence of Jerusalem and individual sponsors in the United Kingdom, Holland and France.

The results were to make moves to match what Arnold Forster called the Arabs tri-purpose boycott weapons—Mr. Forster saw the boycott as an economic, propaganda and political weapon.

An example of Arab propaganda given by Forster was the announcing that someone was on the boycott list who had never traded in Israel, in order to get from the company a denial that it would trade so that then the Arabs could announce a victory.

The three weapons need not be in harmony either, claims Forster. He firmly wanted the American government to crack down on the boycott, calling it blackmail. This simplistic song often fell on deaf ears in the U.S.

Professor Fred Singer, another conference attendee, points out accurately that perhaps only one and a half million barrels of oil per day comes from Arab countries to fulfill our need of 17 million barrels a day. Europe's consumption is 14 million barrels per day, so all of Europe consumes less oil than does the United States. Of course, practically all the European oil is imported. Japanese consumption is also imported.

There is no scarcity of oil in the world today, nor has there been a scarcity in the past, nor is there likely to be one in the next two decades. The proven reserves of oil are over 700 billion barrels, which amounts to about 50 years' supply at the present rate of consumption.

The current possible production, or production capacity exceeds actual production. That means that if called upon, the existing wells could produce more oil. The reason for the current price of oil is that it is set artificially by a cartel, the OPEC cartel, of which the Arab members are by no means the only component.

The professor poses a number of solutions to crack the cartel. First, entice Mexico or some new source of oil to sell on long term contracts. Second, store or stockpile a six months or more oil supply. Third, take advantage of the Alaska discovery to make America independent of Arab sources.
